Tensions Easing on New Paltz Campus

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

Tension that has been mounting on the State University College campus at New Paltz appeared to be easing today after yesterday's mass demonstrations, ostensibly, over the college's refusal to rehire an insructor in area studies.

Still Discussion

A spokesman for the college said the issue of student responsibility in college administration was still under heavy discussion but in much smaller groups. Classes are on normal schedule except for an annual event called "senior sneak."

This is observed every year by seniors near the end of the term who join faculty members in a series of off-campus parties.

The professor of area studies, Roger Knapp, locked himself in a conference room at the college two days ago in protest to the college's not rehiring him. He has refused food, however, water is available to him in the conference room.

Action at the campus yesterday included an open discussion of grievances between some 500 students and members of the faculty and the administration at the Elting gymnasium, and a two and one-half hour faculty meeting at the main building auditorium in which student demands were explored.

Started Last Thursday

Trouble started last Thursday when, as a result of a student government election, a popular student leader was disqualified from being included on the ballot.

Unrest was intensified by the refusal of the university administration to rehire Professor Knapp. Knapp subsequently circulated a petition, signed by nearly 1,000 students, stating that the students themselves have a voice in the hiring and retaining of instructors.

The picture became colored further by the creation of the Free Student Government and the election of the previously disqualified student leader, Eric Margolis, a senior from New Rochelle, as president of the group.

Another complication was the organizing of the Ad Hoc Committee to reconsider the case of Roger Knapp under the leadership of Gerard Kelly, a sophomore from Bayside, L. I.

Three Resolutions

Following the student meeting at the Elting gymnasium, more than 100 faculty members gathered in the auditorium of the main building and, after listening to student leaders, passed three resolutions:

- College President John H. Jacobson take into consideration views of students on those decisions concerning reappointment of faculty members which had not been acted upon;
- Supporting in principle that students have an effective vote in retention of faculty members and that in order to negotiate an agreement to bring this about, that a committee be formed of five faculty members and five students to be elected by the entire student body;
- The entire case of Roger Knapp be reconsidered from top to bottom.

Students who spoke at the faculty meeting were Margolis, Kelly, and Alan Brady, the newly elected, and contested, president of the Student Government Association.

Professor Knapp, speaking to a friend from behind the door of the conference room he locked himself into, said, in effect, that the faculty meeting had not solved the issue of active student participation in college affairs and that he would remain in the room to "precipitate tension."

The view of the Free Student Government regarding student administrative participation is that the student body have the preponderance of power in hiring and firing decision making.

Notes Ratio

As one student, speaking at the Elting gym, said, "The students have about 4,000 members. That's ten to one, and that's how the power breakdown should be."

Although the students, even those present at yesterday's talk-in, were by no means united on the issues, one of the more effective speakers at the meeting, judging by the applause, was Andrew Russo, a senior from New York City.

'Responsible Students'

It was Russo who said, "This is not an SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) meeting. It is a meeting of responsible students who want to see something done."

"We want the chance to help build a university here. We want the responsibility."

Russo declared that what the students wanted was the right to collective bargaining."

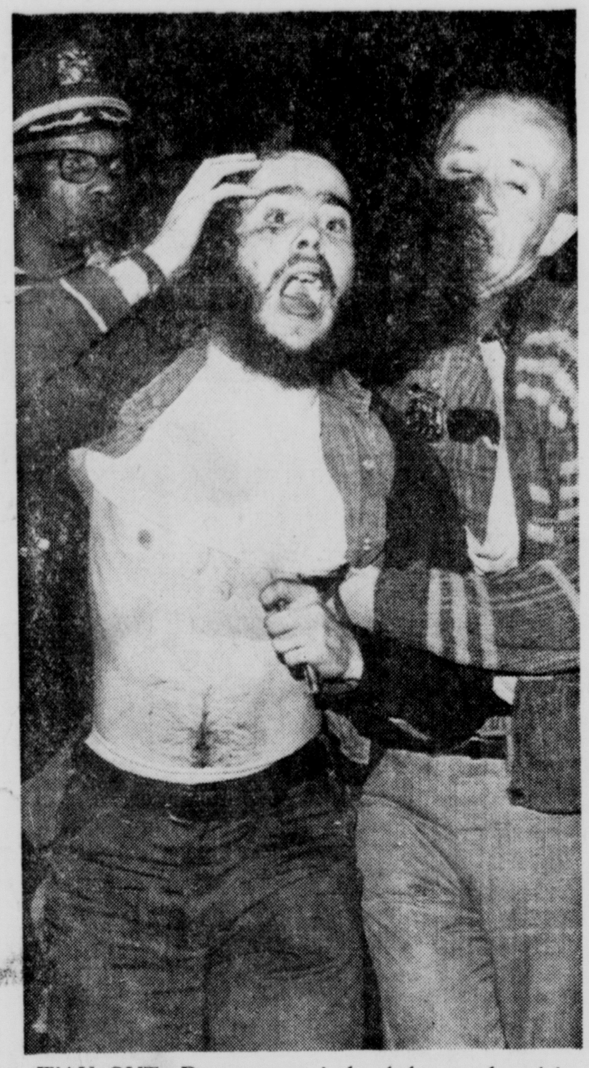
A professor claimed that one of the basic problems facing the American university was "the corporate structure," that conservatively-minded businessmen were on college and university boards of directors.

"The purpose of the university is to free the mind," the professor said, adding, "Once the students have a voice, they learn responsibility."

Student factionalism, regardless of how united the agreement on basic, perhaps philosophical issues, was much in evidence however, and The Freeman learned that the legally elected Student Government Association administration was going to ask for written recognition from the college and further, for a referendum from the student body backing SGA leadership.

If such a referendum comes to the fore, it will pit elected student leaders, under Brady, against the FSG and Margolis and Russo.

Chaos At Columbia



WAY OUT—Demonstrator is hustled away by plainclothes detectives after police were called in to evict students from an occupied Columbia University building. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

By JIM C. BARDEN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police flushed 150 rebel students from a barricaded building at Columbia University early today and then swept across the campus, forcibly clearing out 2,000 more students who milled about angrily denouncing the initial police action.

The police first surged through an underground tunnel and battered down doors barricaded by furniture to evict the student rebels from Hamilton Hall, which they seized Tuesday in protest against the suspension from the university of a leftist student leader. The student, Mark Rudd, had organized and led the student occupation of five Columbia buildings in another protest a month ago.

Police said Rudd would be charged with inciting to riot, rioting and criminal trespass. He was held at central police headquarters for arraignment.

Rudd, 20, a junior, is campus president of the militant left Students for a Democratic Society. He has used the militancy of the SDS to challenge the university and everything he calls "the establishment." As he wrote to university officials:

"If we win we will take control of your world, your corporation, your university and attempt to mould a world in which we and other people can live as human beings. Your power is directly threatened, since we will have to destroy that power before we take over."

In routing the rebels from the building they occupied, the police outflanked a band of student sympathizers who gathered in front of Hamilton Hall to frustrate a police assault. The police moved in through the underground tunnel and led the arrested students out by the same route.

The 150 students ejected from Hamilton Hall and charged with criminal trespass were hauled away without violence. Then the 2,000 other students, angered by the arrests, swarmed across the campus. They set small bonfires and broke dozens of windows in Low Memorial Library.

Nightstick-wielding police swept across the campus, forcing students into dormitories, clearing academic buildings and battling with demonstrators. At least 45 students were injured and 10 police were hurt.

Columbia University President Grayson Kirk warned the students to return to their dorms or face arrest, but only a few complied. Armed with nightsticks, the blue-helmeted police, about 1,000 strong, deployed in a wedge formation and ordered students over a bullhorn to "return to your dorms."

As tension mounted a group of about 30 plainclothes police, being taunted by a group of students in front of Livingston Hall, a mens' dorm, suddenly began racing across the campus screaming "Charge!"

They forced the students back into the hall and followed them in, swinging nightsticks. Three students were hurt in the melee, all apparently struck by billy clubs while they were inside the dorm.

One policeman chased a youth into the lounge of the dormitory, swinging at him repeatedly with the nightstick while the student ducked and dodged.

Students ringing the room screamed, "What are you cops doing in here?" and seconds later a ranking uniformed police officer stepped inside the door and shouted to the plainclothesmen—"Back outside, back outside!"

Several students tore down wooden fences and tossed them onto bonfires. Others heaved and shoved until they felled an iron gate. Still others tore out bricks from a sidewalk on campus and flung them on the pavement, breaking them into small pieces. Asked what they were doing, one student replied: replied:

"Restructuring the university."

French Revolt Growing, Censure Move May Fizzle

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's government appeared certain to defeat the censure motion in the National Assembly tonight, but the strike crisis smothering activity in city after city showed no sign of abating.

8 Million in Revolt

More than 2 million workers joined the strike Tuesday, bringing the number in revolt against the government to more than 8 million—about half the nation's work force. The strike even hit Les Halles, the capital's central food market, where fruit and vegetable workers went on a 24-hour warning walkout.

Most of France's major industries, transport and public services were idle. But electricity and gas were still being supplied, and telephones and telegraph were operating.

For the Parisian, the strike meant no banks open, huge piles of garbage in the streets, no public transportation, no mail, little commercial entertainment, and lineups for food and gasoline.

The situation was similar in Bordeaux, Brest, Clermont-Ferrand, Lille, Lyon, Marseille, Poitiers, Rennes and Toulouse .

Meanwhile, deputies in the National Assembly bogged down Tuesday in a discussion of technicalities of the French education system and which party has done the most to advance it. This postponed the vote on the censure motion at least until late tonight.

The debate continued today on the opposition motion accusing the government of refusing to deal effectively with the demands of students, workers, teachers and farmers. But it appeared certain that the anti-Gaullists would be unable to muster the necessary 244 votes, for Jacques Duhamel, leader of a key bloc of 42 centrist deputies, said in effect he would side with the president.

"We are in favor of change but not an adventure into the unknown," said Duhamel.

Term Expires in 1972

De Gaulle's term does not expire until 1972, and Parliament cannot turn him out of office. He maintained his Olympian silence, apparently playing for time until a broadcast he has scheduled for Friday. So far his only action has been a Cabinet amnesty for 44 students charged with violence during the student riots that were the springboard for the workers' rebellion.

De Gaulle's latitude for action to satisfy the workers is sharply restricted. Any major across-the-board wage increases would boost already high French prices only a few weeks before protective customs barriers disappear within the six-nation European Common Market.

French products would have even more difficulty competing. But refusing to meet the workers' demands could make the strike crisis still worse.

Most of Ports Closed

Striking dockworkers and seamen kept most of the country's ports closed—Bordeaux, Brest, Dunkerque, L'Orient, Le Havre, Marseille and Sete.

A few planes had flown into Le Bourget, Paris' No. 2 airport, after strikes closed Orly International Airport. Le Bourget closed Tuesday.

The big French nuclear plant at Marcoule was hit by a total strike and another one at Pierrelatte had a partial strike.

Customs guards along the Italian border stayed home, and travelers crossed freely back and forth.

With no sign of any labor retreat, officials began to take emergency measures to alleviate the spreading disruption of life.

The prefect of Paris appealed for volunteers to help clean up the streets, which are a mess.

He also appealed to the capital's housewives to stop panic buying of food, saying there are ample supplies. But with the vegetable section of Les Halles closed for 24 hours, the meat and other sections were mobbed by buyers and prices shot up.

PARIS FASHION—Traffic post is nearly engulfed by a massive wave of wooden crates and other rubbish in the Les Halles district of the French capital as the nationwide strike continues, wiping out most public services and touching almost every sector of the French economy. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

Aftermath of RV Vote: Stinging Criticism

By LYNN MULVANEY

Blame for the recent defeat of the 1968-69 Rondout Valley School budget oddly enough bounced back last night to a resentment of the whopping budget of the year before.

In what apparently seems to be a case of old wounds being unhealed, a number of residents told the school board last night that this year's budget was defeated because of anger over what occured the year before. At that time a 76 per cent increase was imposed in one fell swoop.

Agreeing, Dr. Ted T. Grenda, superintendent said he felt their reasoning was accurate because "during the entire budget controversy there has been no criticism of the school program. That's significant."

In what was at times stinging criticism of the school board, its president and Grenda, residents leveled charges of mistrust. Still others lauded them for "doing a marvelous job."

Dr. Charles Cullen of Stone Ridge was one who implored "Put the trust back." He said people had lost faith and wanted it renewed.

Dr. Cullen also defended somewhat the 76 per cent increase of the past year saying old bills had piled up and had to be paid.

Donald Ross, another critic of the administration of school affairs, angrily denounced the fact that several eighth and ninth grade teachers took classroom time to tell the children what would happen if the school budget didn't pass.

"Let the teachers come to the public hearing if they have something to say, he advised, instead of having them give their views to a captive audience of children.

"This is a dangerous situation."

Dr. Grenda said that when it was first called to his attention he tried to put a stop to it as he did when he found that eighth-grade youngsters had erected posters on display the day of polling which read "Vote Yes."

"I took them down myself and put them in the wastebasket," Grenda said.

Ross also took the board to task for having a "pink" sheet budget available the night of the public hearing and the day of voting. It was a second printing of the budget known as an austerity budget in which $77,000 was deleted.

Dr. Grenda said they were available in case anyone wished to know the difference between the proposed budget and an austerity budget.

"If we remained mute and said nothing about austerity," Grenda explained, "then you would be saying, 'Why didn't you tell us?'"

"I'm damned if I do and I'm damned if I don't," he repeated a number of times during the discussion which lasted more than three hours.

Richard Sheil, lame duck president, who was defeated at the polls, repeatedly asked what was wrong? and then suggested that perhaps it was a lack of communication.

"We didn't get the feed-back. There was a well organized campaign against the budget. There was none for it."

A poll of the school board members revealed that all felt the present proposed budget was a good one—one in which the tax rate would be down up to 10 per cent in spite of an increased budget.

Gladys Carle said Rondout teachers are now asking for recommendations . . . "they are thinking of going to another place . . . they feel the community is not behind them."

Three newly elected members of the school board who will take their seats in July, were also asked for their opinion. Importantly, two of three who campaigned, using criticism of the school's handling of financial affairs as a campaign vehicle, last night agreed that the present budget should be passed.

Approval of the budget was also given by the administrative staff in a letter to the board.

Dr. Grenda said he didn't read it because he didn't want to appeal to emotions or be accused of "blackmail."

15th Heart Transplant

HOUSTON (UPI) — A Long Island used car salesman, recipient of a new heart in the fourth transplant completed by Texas surgeons headed by Dr. Denton Cooley, was reported in "highly satisfactory" condition today.

Louis John Fierro, 54, of Elmont, N. Y., received the heart of a 17-year-old boy in the world's 15th heart transplant operation. The operation took place at St. Luke's Hospital.

Resnick Navy Inquiry Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N. Y., has gained the support of five other House members in his attempts to have the Navy convene a court of inquiry for Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter.

The six representatives Tuesday circulated a joint letter to their 428 House colleagues and to the 100 members of the Senate asking that they sign a petition urging Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius to convene the inquiry.

Two Israelis Killed

JERUSALEM (UPI)—An Israli civilian jeep struck a mine at a farm community near the Gaza Strip today, killing two persons and injuring five others, the Israeli government said.

The announcement in Jerusalem said the jeep hit the mine at the farm settlement of Nahal-Oz. Two persons were seriously injured and three others less seriously injured.

Committee to Approve $350 Raise for Firemen

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The Common Council's Finance, Ways and Means Committee is expected to approve Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's recommendations for a $350 across the board pay raise for the firemen at a meeting tonight in the city clerk's office.

The committee, chaired by Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward) will meet at 7:30 p. m. Mancuso told The Freeman today that he is in favor of the mayor's recommendations, forwarded to the Council at its April meeting. Another member of the Committee, John Naccarato (R-Third Ward) also said he would agree to the mayor's proposals. Garraghan's recommendations are exactly those incorporated into the budget at the Jan. 2nd meeting of the Council, that is, a $350 raise for all firemen and a clothing allowance from $75 per year to $150.

Studying Proposals

The third member of the committee, Joseph Conlin (D-11th Ward), told The Freeman today he is still studying the mayor's proposals. However, the signatures of Mancuso and Naccarato would be sufficient to bring the committee report out to a Common Council floor vote at the June 4 meeting.

Early this afternoon Mayor Garraghan was reported to be meeting with representatives of the State Public Employe Relations Board in his office at city hall.

Under the Taylor Law the legislative branch has the final word on negotiations and that word (approval of Garraghan's proposals) is expected at the June meeting. However, that may not be the end of the controversy that has been raging for more than five months. The firemen's attorney, S. James Matthews, commenting on the possibility of Council approval of Garraghan's recommendations, said the firemen could take their case to the courts.

Matthews said he could not state at this time on what grounds the firemen could seek court action. Matthews termed it "a sad state of affairs" if the Council approves Garraghan's recommendaions. He reiterated that the city's conduct in the dispute, while not a violation of the letter of the Taylor Law, was certainly a violation of the spirit of the law. He spoke of bad faith on the part of the city.

Supported Firemen

Prominent in the controversy between the firemen and the city has been the State Public Employment Relations Board. A fact-finder for that board supported the firemen in their stand for a $1,100 raise for the chief, $1,000 for each of four deputies and $400 for the firemen. In addition, PERB representative, John Hahn, has been to Kingston on several occasions trying to get the two sides together.

According to the PERB's attorney, Francis Higgins, if the Council approves Garraghan's recommendations, June 4, the PERB is out of the controversy.

The firemen gained widespread support in their conflict with the city. Several volunteer fire companies came out in support for them as well as an electrical union. Members of Uniformed Fire Fighters Association, of which Kingston is a member (local 461), came to Kingston from all over the state to picket with the Kingstonians in front of city hall.

One of the Council's main points has been that the fire commissioners, which the Council appointed as bargaining agents for the city, do not have the power to set terms binding on the Council.

Matthews recommends that in the future the Council, fire commissioners, firemen and the mayor sit in on all negotiating sessions thereby assuring that greements made between the principals will be final and binding.

Ross also took the board to task for having a "pink" sheet budget available the night of the public hearing and the day of voting. It was a second printing of the budget known as an austerity budget in which $77,000 was deleted.

Dr. Grenda said they were available in case anyone wished to know the difference between the proposed budget and an austerity budget.

"If we remained mute and said nothing about austerity," Grenda explained, "then you would be saying, 'Why didn't you tell us?'"

"I'm damned if I do and I'm damned if I don't," he repeated a number of times during the discussion which lasted more than three hours.

Richard Sheil, lame duck president, who was defeated at the polls, repeatedly asked what was wrong? and then suggested that perhaps it was a lack of communication.

"We didn't get the feed-back. There was a well organized campaign against the budget. There was none for it."

A poll of the school board members revealed that all felt the present proposed budget was a good one—one in which the tax rate would be down up to 10 per cent in spite of an increased budget.

Gladys Carle said Rondout teachers are now asking for recommendations . . . "they are thinking of going to another place . . . they feel the community is not behind them."

Three newly elected members of the school board who will take their seats in July, were also asked for their opinion. Importantly, two of three who campaigned, using criticism of the school's handling of financial affairs as a campaign vehicle, last night agreed that the present budget should be passed.

Approval of the budget was also given by the administrative staff in a letter to the board.

Dr. Grenda said he didn't read it because he didn't want to appeal to emotions or be accused of "blackmail."

Committee to Approve $350 Raise for Firemen

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The Common Council's Finance, Ways and Means Committee is expected to approve Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's recommendations for a $350 across the board pay raise for the firemen at a meeting tonight in the city clerk's office.

The committee, chaired by Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward) will meet at 7:30 p. m. Mancuso told The Freeman today that he is in favor of the mayor's recommendations, forwarded to the Council at its April meeting. Another member of the Committee, John Naccarato (R-Third Ward) also said he would agree to the mayor's proposals. Garraghan's recommendations are exactly those incorporated into the budget at the Jan. 2 meeting of the Council, that is, a $350 raise for all firemen and a clothing allowance from $75 per year to $150.

Studying Proposals

The third member of the committee, Joseph Conlin (D-11th Ward), told The Freeman today he is still studying the mayor's proposals. However, the signatures of Mancuso and Naccarato would be sufficient to bring the committee report out to a Common Council floor vote at the June 4 meeting.

Early this afternoon Mayor Garraghan was reported to be meeting with representatives of the State Public Employe Relations Board in his office at city hall.

Under the Taylor Law the legislative branch has the final word on negotiations and that word (approval of Garraghan's proposals) is expected at the June meeting. However, that may not be the end of the controversy that has been raging for more than five months. The firemen's attorney, S. James Matthews, commenting on the possibility of Council approval of Garraghan's recommendations, said the firemen could take their case to the courts.

Matthews said he could not state at this time on what grounds the firemen could seek court action. Matthews termed it "a sad state of affairs" if the Council approves Garraghan's recommendaions. He reiterated that the city's conduct in the dispute, while not a violation of the letter of the Taylor Law, was certainly a violation of the spirit of the law. He spoke of bad faith on the part of the city.

Supported Firemen

Prominent in the controversy between the firemen and the city has been the State Public Employment Relations Board. A fact-finder for that board supported the firemen in their stand for a $1,100 raise for the chief, $1,000 for each of four deputies and $400 for the firemen. In addition, PERB representative, John Hahn, has been to Kingston on several occasions trying to get the two sides together.

According to the PERB's attorney, Francis Higgins, if the Council approves Garraghan's recommendations, June 4, the PERB is out of the controversy.

The firemen gained widespread support in their conflict with the city. Several volunteer fire companies came out in support for them as well as an electrical union. Members of Uniformed Fire Fighters Association, of which Kingston is a member (local 461), came to Kingston from all over the state to picket with the Kingstonians in front of city hall.

One of the Council's main points has been that the fire commissioners, which the Council appointed as bargaining agents for the city, do not have the power to set terms binding on the Council.

Matthews recommends that in the future the Council, fire commissioners, firemen and the mayor sit in on all negotiating sessions thereby assuring that greements made between the principals will be final and binding.

Taps to Sound Keynote at Centennial Rites Memorial Day

By Arleen Abrahams

It never made the Hit Parade but over the past century its plaintive notes have been heard by Americans again and again. And on May 30, when most of the country will mark the 100th official anniversary of Memorial Day, the playing of "Taps," as usual, will sound the keynote of the observance.

'Melancholy Call'

"Taps," that melancholy bugle call which signals both the close of a soldier's day and the end of his life, came out of the Civil War at about the same time as the first unofficial observance of a Decoration Day.

In July 1862, the Union Army of the Potomac was engaged in a series of exhausting battles near Harrison's Landing, a small Virginia town on the James River. One night, Capt. Robert Ellicombe, of the Union Army, was aroused by the moans of a wounded Confederate soldier in the no man's land separating the Union and Confederate forces. He decided to rescue the man.

Crawling cautiously, Ellicombe made his way to the wounded man and pulled him to the Union lines. But the trip was too much for that Johnny Reb. By the time Ellicombe completed his mission, he was dead.

Examining the body by the dim glow of a lantern, the captain suddenly went cold with shock—it was his own son! (Another version holds that it was his nephew.) The boy had been studying music in the South and without telling his father had enlisted.

Quickly Picked Up

The heartbroken father received permission to give him a military burial behind the Union lines. As a final gesture of farewell, Ellicombe had a bugler play a few bars of the handwritten music found on a piece of scrap paper in the boy's pocket. The music was the original notes for "Taps."

A few days later that piece of paper came into the possession of Gen. Daniel Butterfield, Ellicombe's commanding officer. Gen. Butterfield summoned a bugler named Oliver Morton and instructed him to arrange the notes for a new bugle call which would replace the old "Lights Out." That night "Taps" was heard for the first time as the official number heralding the close of day.

Final Gesture of Farewell

The call was quickly picked up by other units. By May 1868, when Gen. John A. Logan, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued the first official proclamation setting forth May 30 as a day "for strewing with flowers the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country in the late rebellion," "Taps" was the official military bugle call.

Known as Decoration Day until 1882, Memorial Day now marks the tribute paid in the United States to the dead of all its wars. Observances include military and civic parades, decorating with flowers the graves of American servicemen in foreign cemeteries, water servics for those who died at sea and ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unkown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. Fittingly these official observances close with the playing of "Taps."

RFK Advisers Urge A Different Course

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's top advisers are urging him to attack Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy as a stalking horse for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

This development represents a considerable turnaround in the three-way race for the Democratic presidential nomination. After McCarthy announced his candidacy last winter he was tagged by political detractors as a stalking horse for Kennedy.

It had been Kennedy's earlier hope that once he had chalked up victories over McCarthy in the primaries—as he did in Indiana and Nebraska and now expects to do in Oregon and California—the Minnesota senator would throw his support behind him at the Chicago convention.

Consequently he has taken pains to avoid any other than pin-prick attacks on McCarthy. But McCarthy has rejected Kennedy's repeated invitations to join forces with him against Johnson administration polices.

Kennedy strategsts have surveyed the 164 delegates counted in McCarthy's column from New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and some other states. They have concluded a majority of them will turn to Kennedy when the chips are down.

They contend many of these delegates linked themselves to McCarthy when he offered the only alternative to President Johnson's re-election and remain more anti-Johnson than pro-McCarthy.

For all practical purposes the Kennedy lieutenants are counting McCarthy out of the running for the nomination.

They are convinced that when the final accounting comes, McCarthy will spurn Kennedy and turn to his old political associate Humphrey, despite differences with the vice president on Johnson policies.

McCarthy, campaigning in Oregon Tuesday, hinted he might end up supporting Humphrey but also said he is waiting to see whether the vice president changes his view of Vietnam war policy.

Humphrey, of course, has vigorously backed Johnson's war decisions.

Kennedy's advisers are telling the New York senator he ought to pound away on the campaign theme that a vote for McCarthy is really a vote for Humphrey.

This effort to pin a Humphrey label on McCarthy apparently would be calculated to provide a ready explanation for the Kennedy camp if their candidate fails to collect a majority of the Democratic vote in either the Oregon or California primaries. He could say that he was fighting two active candidates instead of the one on the ballot.

President Johnson's name remains on the Oregon ballot despite his withdrawal from contention. A former Johnson delegate slate is running uncommitted in California. Humphrey has avoided 'giving this group his blessng.

Premier Moro Near the End?

ROME (UPI)—The heaviest Communist gains in Italian election history confronted Premier Aldo Moro today with a delicate political situation that could cost him his job.

Political observers said rival elements in the faction ridden Christian Democratic party were almost certain to demand Moros's resignation because his center-left coalition failed to cut into the Communist vote as promised.

Final returns Tuesday from national elections showed the coalition of Moro's Christian Democrats, Socialists and left-wing Republicans gained another five-year term in office with a slightly increased majority in parliament.

But the Communists and pro-Chinese Proleterian Socialists teamed up to win more than 30 per cent of the vote. The Communists' gains were largely at the expense of the Socialists allied with Moro.

The strength of the Socialist party fell by a fourth. Political observers said the Socialists would blame their defeat on the Christian Democrats for delaying social reforms that the center-left promised but failed to deliver.

The crucial test for Moro, observers said, was whether he would buck conservative opposition in his own party to try to go ahead with reforms.

DELEGATION SPEAKS — A delegation from the Poor People's Campaign went to Capitol Hill to open the public demonstration phase of the march. A crowd of 50,000 was on hand to greet him. Rocky Seeks Measures To Help Economic Ills

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, stepping up his bid for the Republican presidential nomination, called today for a temporary income tax increase and for a halt in "the habitual rise in public spending," and proposed other measures for dealing with the country's economic ills.

He made the proposals in a speech prepared for delivery at the Economic Club of Detroit.

The New York governor charged the Johnson administration with "grave failures in leadership" in not seeking a tax increase in 1965—to accompany the increased Vietnam war effort and the launching of the war on poverty—to stem growing inflation.

"The final result," Rockefeller asserted, "is the inflation now endangering the economic gains and hopes of our people—and the worldwide financial structure."

Four Upstaters Viet Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) —Four more upstate New York servicemen have died in the Vietnam war.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that Army Spec. 4 Peter M. Guennette of Troy had been killed in action. He leaves a widow, Susan.

Marine Lance Cpl. Gene A. Labounty of Plattsburgh died of wounds suffered in combat, the department said. He was the son of Mrs. Rosanne Labounty.

Two Western New York soldiers who previously had been listed as missing also have died, the department said.

They were identified as Army Spec 4s Leonard J. Bell of Buffalo and John A. Anderson of Williamsville.

Bell was the son of Charles B. Bell and Anderson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Anderson.

Campaign Leaders Consider New Route

By HENRY P. LIEFERMANN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Poor People's March keeps up the pressure by sitting in on Capitol Hill proceedings today. But campaign leaders are considering an alternate route to a victory through President Johnson some time in June.

The sound of "soul power" is to ring in the halls of Capitol Hill for weeks to come, according to a top planner in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy and his aides believe Congress will not grant the campaigners' demands for more jobs or a guaranteed annual income.

However, the campaign would consider a victory of sorts any executive action by the President to free surplus foods in Agriculture Department warehouses, make federal food surplus stamp programs cost-free to the poor, or liberalize the interpretation of existing Social Security and welfare programs.

The Rev. Bernard Lee, Abernathy's personal assistant who held the same position for the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., explained consideration of the alternate goals in an interview.

The campaign would continue to pressure Congress for major economic programs to significantly increase what the SCLC considers a lagging "war on poverty" by the Johnson administration.

But, Lee explained, at some point in the weeks to come the Poor People's campaign must reach a conclusion in Washington. Action by the President that would not need congressional approval could be the interim victory the campaign needs before shutting down "Resurrection City, USA" and going home, he said.

Lee added, however, that with no meaningful changes in the present administration of poverty programs or action by Congress to meet campaign demands, the march could remain in Washington indefinitely.

Also under consideration, in the event of no response at all from Congress or the President, is a plan to send bus caravans from the campsite to the Democratic and Republican national conventions in August.

While we are still engaged in an illegal and immoral war, while our president has stated that we have de-escalated our military program, yet more American boys died last week than in any other week of this horrible conflict; five brave, good people are being persecuted by our government for trying to bring these facts to the American public.

The strength of the Socialist party fell by a fourth. Political observers said the Socialists would blame their defeat on the Christian Democrats for delaying social reforms that the center-left promised but failed to deliver.

The crucial test for Moro, observers said, was whether he would buck conservative opposition in his own party to try to go ahead with reforms.

Campaign Leaders Consider New Route

By HENRY P. LIEFERMANN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Poor People's March keeps up the pressure by sitting in on Capitol Hill proceedings today. But campaign leaders are considering an alternate route to a victory through President Johnson some time in June.

The sound of "soul power" is to ring in the halls of Capitol Hill for weeks to come, according to a top planner in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy and his aides believe Congress will not grant the campaigners' demands for more jobs or a guaranteed annual income.

However, the campaign would consider a victory of sorts any executive action by the President to free surplus foods in Agriculture Department warehouses, make federal food surplus stamp programs cost-free to the poor, or liberalize the interpretation of existing Social Security and welfare programs.

The Rev. Bernard Lee, Abernathy's personal assistant who held the same position for the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., explained consideration of the alternate goals in an interview.

The campaign would continue to pressure Congress for major economic programs to significantly increase what the SCLC considers a lagging "war on poverty" by the Johnson administration.

But, Lee explained, at some point in the weeks to come the Poor People's campaign must reach a conclusion in Washington. Action by the President that would not need congressional approval could be the interim victory the campaign needs before shutting down "Resurrection City, USA" and going home, he said.

Lee added, however, that with no meaningful changes in the present administration of poverty programs or action by Congress to meet campaign demands, the march could remain in Washington indefinitely.

Also under consideration, in the event of no response at all from Congress or the President, is a plan to send bus caravans from the campsite to the Democratic and Republican national conventions in August.

Rocky Seeks Measures To Help Economic Ills

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, stepping up his bid for the Republican presidential nomination, called today for a temporary income tax increase and for a halt in "the habitual rise in public spending," and proposed other measures for dealing with the country's economic ills.

He made the proposals in a speech prepared for delivery at the Economic Club of Detroit.

The New York governor charged the Johnson administration with "grave failures in leadership" in not seeking a tax increase in 1965—to accompany the increased Vietnam war effort and the launching of the war on poverty—to stem growing inflation.

"The final result," Rockefeller asserted, "is the inflation now endangering the economic gains and hopes of our people—and the worldwide financial structure."

Four Upstaters Viet Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) —Four more upstate New York servicemen have died in the Vietnam war.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that Army Spec. 4 Peter M. Guennette of Troy had been killed in action. He leaves a widow, Susan.

Marine Lance Cpl. Gene A. Labounty of Plattsburgh died of wounds suffered in combat, the department said. He was the son of Mrs. Rosanne Labounty.

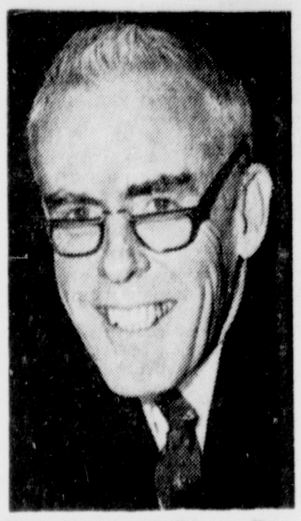
Two Western New York soldiers who previously had been listed as missing also have died, the department said.

They were identified as Army Spec 4s Leonard J. Bell of Buffalo and John A. Anderson of Williamsville.

Bell was the son of Charles B. Bell and Anderson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Anderson.

Queens Youth Killed

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Jamie Lotz, 18, of Flushing, Queens, was killed Tuesday night when his automobile and another car collided on Route 29 in the Town of Milton, near this Saratoga County city.



FDA HEAD QUITS — Dr. James L. Goddard has resigned as Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. Goddard said he was leaving the government for personal reasons. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

While we are still engaged in an illegal and immoral war, while our president has stated that we have de-escalated our military program, yet more American boys died last week than in any other week of this horrible conflict; five brave, good people are being persecuted by our government for trying to bring these facts to the American public.

New U.S. Communities

Where will the 100 million more Americans who are expected to inhabit this country in the next 25 years live? Will they eke out a miserable existence in overcrowded slums in the centers of big cities? Or will they be located in new cities, new towns and new villages in green spaces throughout the land?

While the emphasis is on the immediate problems of relieving our troubled cities, official consideration is also being given to charting the best locations for new communities to enable the next 100 million inhabitants to help ease current pressures and forestall those of the future. There is little enough time to spare for such planning.

Secretary Orville Freeman of the Department of Agriculture is employing experts in his department to concentrate on locating and justifying the construction of these new communities. They would be separated from the megalopolis by green spaces but connected by high-speed transportation.

As Freeman points out, more than 140 million of the 200 million living in this country now are located on only two per cent of the land. As people desert the small family farms, cleared city and town sites are available for urban development. What is needed is pioneering spirit and confidence to lay out communities that will once more offer Americans clean fresh air and pleasant surroundings and places to work in new industries.

This is not a plan to found and locate 100 cities of a million inhabitants each, but much smaller places where life once more can be pleasant and fruitful without the slums that breed ghettos and all the other poisons of the cities.

Talking and Fighting

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko confirmed, if any confirmation was necessary, the fact that North Vietnam means to fight while its emissaries talk about peace in Paris. Gromyko said that the Soviet Union would continue military assistance to North Vietnam so long as it was needed.

The warning, issued at the start of the negotiations in Paris, should disillusion those who felt that endorsement of the negotiations by Moscow would be followed by a drop in military assistance no longer needed if North Vietnam was to reduce the flow of supplies south as a show of good faith. It is a part of President Johnson's expectations that North Vietnam would reduce its efforts in exchange for his stopping the bombing above the 20th latitude.

Soviet military assistance to North Vietnam has reached the level of $1 billion a year, it is estimated. That is a lot of death-dealing war materials that can be shot at American boys at the front while diplomats talk.

Disability Pay Boost

There are 89,451 veterans who suffered service-connected diseases or injuries. They now draw $300 a month for 100 per cent disability compensation. The House Veterans Affairs Committee recommended that they be raised to $400 a month effective July 1.

Also, 1.7 million veterans with below 100 per cent disability now draw, whose compensation varies according to the disability, would be raised eight per cent each.

The present $130 a month for 36 months provided to help educate children of servicemen killed on duty would be expanded to include education costs of widows and the wives of the men who are 100 per cent disabled. This provision has become necessary because there are so many young women widowed by war.

The bill for this entire program in service disability pay will increase the government's outlay for this purpose by $235 million a year. The money could not be spent to better advantage in the continuing payment by the government to those who made the supreme sacrifice for our security and their dependents.

It Loses a Little Something in the Translation

David Lawrence Says

Court Rulings Set Free Dangerous Criminals

WASHINGTON—The United States Senate has been considering a bill which would remove some of the technicalities in law-enforcement procedures that have permitted murderers and other criminals to escape punishment. Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas, one of the veteran members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has issued a memorandum explaining the proposal that would permit a trial judge to decide whether a confession has been made voluntarily. It would leave it to the jury to determine how much weight shall be given to a confession.

This attempt to correct Supreme Court decisions has been denounced by other Senators as an assault on the independence of the judiciary and on the Constitution itself.

But many of the critics either have not read the Constitution or have forgotten what it says about the power of Congress to limit the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. Article III of the Constitution reads as follows:

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consults, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to the law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

Congress has rarely utilized this power, but the crime crisis in America has focused attention on the part the courts have unwittingly played in giving freedom to criminals. Senator McClellan, in his latest memorandum, criticizes particularly three Supreme Court rulings—two of which were rendered by a five-to-four decision—and declares:

"These decisions have set free many dangerous criminals and are daily preventing the conviction of others who are guilty. How can the freeing of known, admitted, and confessed murderers, robbers, and rapists by the courts, not on the basis of innocence, but rather on the pretext of some alleged, minor, or dubious technicality be justified? . . .

"Gangsters, racketeers, and habitual criminals are increasingly defying the law and flaunting duly constituted authority and getting away with it. As a consequence, public confidence in the ability of the courts to administer justice is being destroyed. Until the courts, and particularly the United States Supreme Court, become cognizant of this damaging trend and begin to administer justice with greater emphasis on truth and a deeper concern for the protection of the public, the crime rate will continue its upward spiral and the quality of justice will further deteriorate."

The most momentous opinion by the Supreme Court was handed down on June 13, 1966, in what is known as the "Miranda" decision. In that case, by a five-to-four ruling, the court said that no confession, even if wholly voluntary in the traditional sense, could be admitted in evidence over the objection of a defendant in a state or federal proceeding unless the prosecution could show that certain warnings were given in advance. The prosecution also was required to prove that the suspect had voluntarily and "intelligently" waived his rights. In many instances, it was not possible to furnish such proof. This is why many Senators are in agreement with Justice John M. Harlan, who, in a dissenting opinion, said:

"We do know that some crimes cannot be solved without confessions, that ample expert testimony attests to their importance in crime control, and that the court is taking a real risk with society's welfare in imposing its new regime on the country. The social costs of crime are too great to call the new rules anything but a hazardous experimentation."

Thus many members of the Senate are reflecting the views expressed by the minority of the Supreme Court itself. Senator McClellan says:

"The Constitution has not changed. A misinterpretation of it by five judges has sought to change it."

When such a division of opinion appears, it is natural for Congress to raise the question of how the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court should be defined to cover a certain type of case. The purpose, of course, is to have the judge and jury decide the ultimate guilt or innocence in criminal cases, rather than to have flat rules made in advance that would paralyze the prosecuting process.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

He's the Quiet Man. Sometimes, in the late evening, he sits alone in a parked car inside the White House gate, watching people come and go. At other times, he is at Secret Service Headquarters at 1800 G Street, reading reports or issuing orders in that soft friendly tone. His name is James J. Rowley and he has just completed 30 years of government service.

He's a medium-sized man with a blue-eyed Irish kisser and white hair. He has two expressions: one is tight-lipped and grim, the other is a boyish grin. He's 70 per cent listen; 30 per cent talk. Chief Rowley has known all the Presidents from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Lyndon Johnson and he has known them well.

It was John F. Kennedy who appointed him Director of the United States Secret Service. That's the President they lost. The agents have lived with that fact since November 22, 1963, and it's a hard one. They have played all the infinitesimal events backwards and forwards many times, and they realize that there is no way in which they can challenge all the people at all the windows in a motorcade.

A large segment of the population thinks that the primary purpose of the Secret Service is to protect Presidents. It isn't. The SS is a subordinate arm of the Treasury Department. It was created in 1865 to suppress counterfeiting. In those days, one out of every three bills in circulation was spurious. In 1906, after Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley had been killed by assassins, Congress authorized the Secret Service to protect the American Chief of State.

Today, the agents protect the President and his family; the Vice President and his family; the next person in line of succession to the Presidency; former Presidents and their wives; and the widows and children of Presidents to a period of four years after they leave office, or die in office. Congress is now trying to enlarge the duties to include all candidates for President.

Sooner or later, all Presidents chafe under protection. When the light in the President's bedroom goes out, portable beep telephones carry the word to Secret Service agents at other stations that the President has retired. When he emerges in the morning, agents fall into step beside him. The word goes out that he has just left his bedroom.

Normally, Rowley has agents working with police departments three weeks before a Presidential visit to a city. They map out the safest route, station men on bridges and overpasses, study lists of persons who have made political threats and others who are mentally deranged and at large.

If danger presents itself, the duty of the agent is not to track the menace; he interposes himself between the President and such danger. The bullet intended for the Chief Executive should be stopped by the body of the agent. Two agents are supposed to ride the back bumper of the Presidential limousine. John F. Kennedy complained three times that he wanted the agents off those bumpers and away from the side of the car.

The President told me, three weeks before the trip to Dallas, that no one could protect him from a man with a rifle crouching in an upper window. He was right. Perfect protection is impossible. However, if an agent had been standing on the right rear bumper, it would have been difficult to hit the President.

Today the Secret Service is a large sprawling agency, with offices in many cities. The agents guard American gold and currency. They apprehend forgers of government checks and government bonds. Under Rowley, they have worked in closest cooperation with J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI. Rowley is a former FBI man.

He was born in the Bronx on October 14, 1908. His mother was Bridget McTigue Rowley. Rowley earned his master's degree at St. John's University. He will not entertain the application of any man for the Secret Service unless he has completed his college education. Even then, only a top few—mostly lawyers—are accepted. The pay scale (GS-5) is so low that a man has to be dedicated to government service to want it.

In 1940, Chief Rowley married Mabel Cluen. There are no potential agents in the family—Claudia, Linda and Donna. Any of them can bring that boyish grin to his face. The girls have enormous pride in their father because they know that he is the best law enforcement officer in the nation.

Rowley has a lot of strong years left. He works hard, but he makes it look easy.

Reagan Is Man to Watch In Oregon; Rocky Is Silent

WASHINGTON — One of Richard Nixon's most significant tests will come in Oregon on May 28, and it won't be with Nelson Rockefeller.

It will be with Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who not only has his name entered in Oregon but has been spending money as if he meant business. Reagan's Oregon campaign manager is Tom Hazen, former president of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, who has bought large blocks of radio and TV time and is pulling all the stops to elect his candidate.

Oregon is considered Rockefeller territory. In 1964 he ran in the primary against both Goldwater and Nixon, clobbering the former and leaving Nixon so far behind it was pathetic. On primary election night you could have shot a cannon through Nixon headquarters without hitting a soul.

But this time Rockefeller is strangely silent. Not many people know it, but he has 60,000 fresh signatures on an unused petition putting him in the race. The signers are out on a limb and a little unhappy about it because Rocky did not go through with his plans. But each one of them is a potential write-in voter—if the governor of New York merely says the word.

But while Rockefeller does not seem serious, Reagan is. He is spending money all-out for a showdown with Nixon.

Bobby vs. Hoffa

When Bobby Kennedy reached into a Louisiana prison to fish out Edward G. Partin as a star witness against Jimmy Hoffa, it created headlines around the nation. Recent developments have not caught up with the headlines.

The other day U. S. District Judge E. Gordon West accused Bobby Kennedy of "a payoff for testimony in the Hoffa case."

He excoriated the Justice Department for moving to dismiss charges against Partin.

"It is making a mockery of justice," the judge announced from the bench.

Judge West was indignant because, shortly after Partin was used as the star witness against Hoffa, the Justice Department slowed up in prosecution of its own star witness. Then last month it filed a motion to dismiss the 26-count indictment against Partin in which he was charged with 13 counts of embezzlement of union funds and 13 counts of making false entries in Teamsters' Union books.

The Justice Department told the judge that "no bargain was made," but obviously the judge did not believe it.

"Are the interests of justice to be served by the granting of lifetime immunity to this defendant because of the wishes of some previous Attorney General?" Judge West demanded, referring to Bobby Kennedy.

The judge's torrid words supported the vigorous dissent written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, who also denounced the former Attorney General's tactic of reaching into a prison to use as his star witness a man beholden to the Justice Department. The Chief Justice made it clear that under these circumstances the testimony of the witness should not be believed.

Who's Who?

Clyde Ellis, retired head of the Rural Electric Co-op Association, was dictating the other day on the subject of the outhouse, known to an earlier generation as the "Chic Sale."

"The young secretary who typed these remarks told me she had never heard the term 'Chic Sale,'" said Ellis. "She said it sounded psychedelic to her.

"I mentioned this to Orville Freeman, the Secretary of Agriculture. He was amazed that anyone wouldn't know what a Chic Sale was and then asked: 'What's psychedelic?'

"The next day when I told the young lady what Secretary Freeman had said, she asked: 'Who's Secretary Freeman?'"

Headlines and Footnotes

It may be denied, but organizers of the Poor People's March on Washington have secretly encouraged the marchers to violate local ordinances. The organizers are opposed to looting, burning and violence, but believe that sit-ins, traffic blockades and defiance of the police will dramatize their cause and achieve their goal with Congress. . . . Mrs. Martin Luther King, on the other hand, has been urging King's successors to continue his crusade for nonviolence. She has been using her influence inside the civil rights movement to avoid a repetition of the riots that followed his martyrdom. . . . The U.S. Air Force rushed tons of communications equipment to Paris for the truce talks. Telephone switchboards must be made tap-proof. . . . Arthur Goldberg has told intimates that, after he retires as U.S. ambassador, he intends to speak out on the issues. He will air his view that the Vietnam war has kept the U.S. in a diplomatic straightjacket and has prevented American initiative in other areas. . . . Hsia Shu-Chang, the deputy director of studies at Chungshan University, has been seized by the Red Guards and accused of treason. His crime is that he was once a Harvard classmate of the late President Kennedy.

Peace Prospects Are Brighter Under Van Huong Government

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
(Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PARIS — With the expected formation of a "more reasonable" cabinet under former Prime Minister Tran Van Houng in Saigon early this week the long-range prospects of a negotiated settlement in Vietnam seem to have brightened.

The news that this retired professor, who served as Prime Minister from November 1964, to January, 1965, had been invited to replace Nguyen Van Loc as head of the government over shadowed the so-called "Peace Talks" between the United States and North Vietnam here in Paris.

They appeared to be in a state of deadlock after a four-hour meeting Saturday which, like previous meetings on Monday and Wednesday, was devoted entirely to charges and countercharges mingled with flat demands from North Vietnam for unconditional cessation of American bombing.

Formation of a new government under Tran Van Huong should not mean the kind of a sellout to the Communist National Liberation front, which cynics have been charging.

He is opposed to the formation of a coalition government with NLF participation. But he is a moderate and reasonable man whose government would not be opposed to a peace settlement with Hanoi in the same way that Van Loc's cabinet has been while he would not favor open collaboration with the NLF or with Communist-backed "Alliance of National, Democratic and Peace Forces of Vietnam." He could cooperate with other moderate elements in giving the country a much more presentable government that it has had in recent past.

He is a protege of Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the president, while Van Loc was hand-picked by Gen. Nguyen Coa Ky. Ky was allowed to choose the Prime Minister in return for his agreement to play second fiddle to Thieu in the presidential race.

Here in Paris the first interpretation placed on the resignation of Van Loc was that it was the beginning of the end for Ky. If true, this should mean that it should be easier to talk business with Hanoi if it is prepared to settle for anything but the whole hog.

The first week of "negotiations" between the United States and the North Vietnamese has completely failed to answer the major questions surrounding them.

First—Are the Communists prepared to agree to cease military operations in South Vietnam both by the local Viet Cong and by 85,000 North Vietnamese regulars for anything less than a certainty of political control within a limited period of time?

There is absolutely no sign that they are. While they continue to clamor for an end to American bombing of targets in the southern part of North Vietnam they utterly refuse to discuss reduction in the infiltration or regular North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam. The senior American delegate W. Averell Harriman, ended his remarks at Saturday's meeting by saying almost plaintively:

"Regretfully I must repeat that all evidence at our disposal indicates that the flow into South Veitnam continues at an increasing pace."

Won't Consider Offer

The North Vietnamese have also refused to "bite" at the tempting offer of the Americans to cut the bombing if Hanoi would agree to respect the "Demilitarized Zone" astride the 17th Parallel. So far the only withdrawal they have been willing to discuss is the wholesale withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam.

The Demilitarized Zone is a strip six miles wide extending the entire length of the border between North and South Vietnam. It was established by the 1964 Geneva Conference as a buffer zone.

Hanoi's troops first violated it in October, 1954, when the 95th Regiment entered it. In May and June 1966 the entire 324B Division of the Regular North Vietnamese Army crossed the 17th Parallel. American forces first entered the Demilitarized Zone in May, 1967, to counter the Communist drive against Quang-Tri Province. But even then they did not cross the 17th Parallel. They kept to the 3-mile-wide southern half. After 3½ years of wholesale violations of the DMZ by the Communists, American forces are still not stationed there.

During the Paris talks this has not been made as clear by the American delegates as it should have been.

Second—Does either Hanoi or the United States regard the Paris performance as the start of a full peace conference which would bring real peace to Southeast Asia?

Since the North Vietnamese appear to be stepping up their military effort in South Vietnam the suspicion persists that they still hope to tip over the South Vietnamese Government by force.

Military experts fully expect one or two full-sized attacks to be made on Saigon and some other centers during the period of good weather due between June and the end of October. But they believe these will be hooked in with political pressure to win participation in the Saigon, Government.

They don't think the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have any real prospects of military victory in the field. They had 70,00 killed in the Tet offensive and their total losses in killed for 1968 now total 100,000.

Blunt Warning to Czechs

By DONALD SHANOR
(Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PRAGUE—The Soviet Communist Party news Pravda delivered a blunt warning to Czechoslovakia over the weekend not to invite chaos by permitting other political parties to weaken the Communists. The warning was timed to coincide with the visit of Soviet Prime Minister Alexiei Kosykin and Defense Minister A. A. Grechko, and thus, although it did not mention Czechoslovakia's liberalization specifically, it could not have been plainer.

Grechko came here for talks with the new Czech defense officials. Kosygin is in Karlovy Vary, the former Karlsbad, for what is described as a rest cure.

But before publication of the Pravda editorial he had conferred extensively with the new Prague leadership, including Reform Party Leader Alexander Dubeck, Premier Oldrich Cernik, and National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky, the leading theorist of the democratization.

Pravda made clear what Kosygin must have said: The Communist Party must retain its grip on every area of political life. Other parties can be tolerated but must not have any real power. If this 50-year-old axiom of Communist rule is violated, the result is chaos like the current situation in China.

Pravda might have used Hungary as a more accurate comparison to the Czechoslovak political picture. As soon as restrictions, were lifted there 12 years ago, the hatred of the Communists got out of control and civil war resulted. But Dubeck, Cernik, and Smrkovsky have no intention of giving up the leading role of the Communist Party in this nation. Whatever the freedoms permitted in the press and the reforms in government, it has always been clear that there is no question of risking genuinely free elections.

Timely Quotes

You can't condone it, but you must understand it. It is nothing but the plaintive cry of someone who is saying, "I don't know what else to do; you leave me no other choice."

There is little enough time to spare for such planning.

Secretary Orville Freeman of the Department of Agriculture is employing experts in his department to concentrate on locating and justifying the construction of these new communities. They would be separated from the megalopolis by green spaces but connected by high-speed transportation.

As Freeman points out, more than 140 million of the 200 million living in this country now are located on only two per cent of the land. As people desert the small family farms, cleared city and town sites are available for urban development. What is needed is pioneering spirit and confidence to lay out communities that will once more offer Americans clean fresh air and pleasant surroundings and places to work in new industries.

This is not a plan to found and locate 100 cities of a million inhabitants each, but much smaller places where life once more can be pleasant and fruitful without the slums that breed ghettos and all the other poisons of the cities.

Talking and Fighting

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko confirmed, if any confirmation was necessary, the fact that North Vietnam means to fight while its emissaries talk about peace in Paris. Gromyko said that the Soviet Union would continue military assistance to North Vietnam so long as it was needed.

The warning, issued at the start of the negotiations in Paris, should disillusion those who felt that endorsement of the negotiations by Moscow would be followed by a drop in military assistance no longer needed if North Vietnam was to reduce the flow of supplies south as a show of good faith. It is a part of President Johnson's expectations that North Vietnam would reduce its efforts in exchange for his stopping the bombing above the 20th latitude.

Soviet military assistance to North Vietnam has reached the level of $1 billion a year, it is estimated. That is a lot of death-dealing war materials that can be shot at American boys at the front while diplomats talk.

Disability Pay Boost

There are 89,451 veterans who suffered service-connected diseases or injuries. They now draw $300 a month for 100 per cent disability compensation. The House Veterans Affairs Committee recommended that they be raised to $400 a month effective July 1.

Also, 1.7 million veterans with below 100 per cent disability now draw, whose compensation varies according to the disability, would be raised eight per cent each.

The present $130 a month for 36 months provided to help educate children of servicemen killed on duty would be expanded to include education costs of widows and the wives of the men who are 100 per cent disabled. This provision has become necessary because there are so many young women widowed by war.

The bill for this entire program in service disability pay will increase the government's outlay for this purpose by $235 million a year. The money could not be spent to better advantage in the continuing payment by the government to those who made the supreme sacrifice for our security and their dependents.

Reagan Is Man to Watch In Oregon; Rocky Is Silent

WASHINGTON — One of Richard Nixon's most significant tests will come in Oregon on May 28, and it won't be with Nelson Rockefeller.

It will be with Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who not only has his name entered in Oregon but has been spending money as if he meant business. Reagan's Oregon campaign manager is Tom Hazen, former president of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, who has bought large blocks of radio and TV time and is pulling all the stops to elect his candidate.

Oregon is considered Rockefeller territory. In 1964 he ran in the primary against both Goldwater and Nixon, clobbering the former and leaving Nixon so far behind it was pathetic. On primary election night you could have shot a cannon through Nixon headquarters without hitting a soul.

But this time Rockefeller is strangely silent. Not many people know it, but he has 60,000 fresh signatures on an unused petition putting him in the race. The signers are out on a limb and a little unhappy about it because Rocky did not go through with his plans. But each one of them is a potential write-in voter —if the governor of New York merely says the word.

But while Rockefeller does not seem serious, Reagan is. He is spending money all-out for a showdown with Nixon.

Bobby vs. Hoffa

When Bobby Kennedy reached into a Louisiana prison to fish out Edward G. Partin as a star witness against Jimmy Hoffa, it created headlines around the nation. Recent developments have not caught up with the headlines.

The other day U. S. District Judge E. Gordon West accused Bobby Kennedy of "a payoff for testimony in the Hoffa case."

He excoriated the Justice Department for moving to dismiss charges against Partin.

"It is making a mockery of justice," the judge announced from the bench.

Judge West was indignant because, shortly after Partin was used as the star witness against Hoffa, the Justice Department slowed up in prosecution of its own star witness. Then last month it filed a motion to dismiss the 26-count indictment against Partin in which he was charged with 13 counts of embezzlement of union funds and 13 counts of making false entries in Teamsters' Union books.

The Justice Department told the judge that "no bargain was made," but obviously the judge did not believe it.

"Are the interests of justice to be served by the granting of lifetime immunity to this defendant because of the wishes of some previous Attorney General?" Judge West demanded, referring to Bobby Kennedy.

The judge's torrid words supported the vigorous dissent written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, who also denounced the former Attorney General's tactic of reaching into a prison to use as his star witness a man beholden to the Justice Department. The Chief Justice made it clear that under these circumstances the testimony of the witness should not be believed.

Who's Who?

Clyde Ellis, retired head of the Rural Electric Co-op Association, was dictating the other day on the subject of the outhouse, known to an earlier generation as the "Chic Sale."

"The young secretary who typed these remarks told me she had never heard the term 'Chic Sale,'" said Ellis. "She said it sounded psychedelic to her.

"I mentioned this to Orville Freeman, the Secretary of Agriculture. He was amazed that anyone wouldn't know what a Chic Sale was and then asked: 'What's psychedelic?'

"The next day when I told the young lady what Secretary Freeman had said, she asked: 'Who's Secretary Freeman?'"

Headlines and Footnotes

It may be denied, but organizers of the Poor People's March on Washington have secretly encouraged the marchers to violate local ordinances. The organizers are opposed to looting, burning and violence, but believe that sit-ins, traffic blockades and defiance of the police will dramatize their cause and achieve their goal with Congress. . . . Mrs. Martin Luther King, on the other hand, has been urging King's successors to continue his crusade for nonviolence. She has been using her influence inside the civil rights movement to avoid a repetition of the riots that followed his martyrdom. . . . The U.S. Air Force rushed tons of communications equipment to Paris for the truce talks. Telephone switchboards must be made tap-proof. . . . Arthur Goldberg has told intimates that, after he retires as U.S. ambassador, he intends to speak out on the issues. He will air his view that the Vietnam war has kept the U.S. in a diplomatic straightjacket and has prevented American initiative in other areas. . . . Hsia Shu-Chang, the deputy director of studies at Chungshan University, has been seized by the Red Guards and accused of treason. His crime is that he was once a Harvard classmate of the late President Kennedy.

David Lawrence Says

Court Rulings Set Free Dangerous Criminals

WASHINGTON — The United States Senate has been considering a bill which would remove some of the technicalities in law-enforcement procedures that have permitted murderers and other criminals to escape punishment. Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas, one of the veteran members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has issued a memorandum explaining the proposal that would permit a trial judge to decide whether a confession has been made voluntarily. It would leave it to the jury to determine how much weight shall be given to a confession.

This attempt to correct Supreme Court decisions has been denounced by other Senators as an assault on the independence of the judiciary and on the Constitution itself.

But many of the critics either have not read the Constitution or have forgotten what it says about the power of Congress to limit the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. Article III of the Constitution reads as follows:

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consults, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to the law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

Congress has rarely utilized this power, but the crime crisis in America has focused attention on the part the courts have unwittingly played in giving freedom to criminals. Senator McClellan, in his latest memorandum, criticizes particularly three Supreme Court rulings—two of which were rendered by a five-to-four decision—and declares:

"These decisions have set free many dangerous criminals and are daily preventing the conviction of others who are guilty. How can the freeing of known, admitted, and confessed murderers, robbers, and rapists by the courts, not on the basis of innocence, but rather on the pretext of some alleged, minor, or dubious technicality be justified? . . .

"Gangsters, racketeers, and habitual criminals are increasingly defying the law and flaunting duly constituted authority and getting away with it. As a consequence, public confidence in the ability of the courts to administer justice is being destroyed. Until the courts, and particularly the United States Supreme Court, become cognizant of this damaging trend and begin to administer justice with greater emphasis on truth and a deeper concern for the protection of the public, the crime rate will continue its upward spiral and the quality of justice will further deteriorate."

The most momentous opinion by the Supreme Court was handed down on June 13, 1966, in what is known as the "Miranda" decision. In that case, by a five-to-four ruling, the court said that no confession, even if wholly voluntary in the traditional sense, could be admitted in evidence over the objection of a defendant in a state or federal proceeding unless the prosecution could show that certain warnings were given in advance. The prosecution also was required to prove that the suspect had voluntarily and "intelligently" waived his rights. In many instances, it was not possible to furnish such proof. This is why many Senators are in agreement with Justice John M. Harlan, who, in a dissenting opinion, said:

"We do know that some crimes cannot be solved without confessions, that ample expert testimony attests to their importance in crime control, and that the court is taking a real risk with society's welfare in imposing its new regime on the country. The social costs of crime are too great to call the new rules anything but a hazardous experimentation."

Thus many members of the Senate are reflecting the views expressed by the minority of the Supreme Court itself. Senator McClellan says:

"The Constitution has not changed. A misinterpretation of it by five judges has sought to change it."

When such a division of opinion appears, it is natural for Congress to raise the question of how the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court should be defined to cover a certain type of case. The purpose, of course, is to have the judge and jury decide the ultimate guilt or innocence in criminal cases, rather than to have flat rules made in advance that would paralyze the prosecuting process.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

He's the Quiet Man. Sometimes, in the late evening, he sits alone in a parked car inside the White House gate, watching people come and go. At other times, he is at Secret Service Headquarters at 1800 G Street, reading reports or issuing orders in that soft friendly tone. His name is James J. Rowley and he has just completed 30 years of government service.

He's a medium-sized man with a blue-eyed Irish kisser and white hair. He has two expressions: one is tight-lipped and grim, the other is a boyish grin. He's 70 per cent listen; 30 per cent talk. Chief Rowley has known all the Presidents from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Lyndon Johnson and he has known them well.

It was John F. Kennedy who appointed him Director of the United States Secret Service. That's the President they lost. The agents have lived with that fact since November 22, 1963, and it's a hard one. They have played all the infinitesimal events backwards and forwards many times, and they realize that there is no way in which they can challenge all the people at all the windows in a motorcade.

A large segment of the population thinks that the primary purpose of the Secret Service is to protect Presidents. It isn't. The SS is a subordinate arm of the Treasury Department. It was created in 1865 to suppress counterfeiting. In those days, one out of every three bills in circulation was spurious. In 1906, after Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley had been killed by assassins, Congress authorized the Secret Service to protect the American Chief of State.

Today, the agents protect the President and his family; the Vice President and his family; the next person in line of succession to the Presidency; former Presidents and their wives; and the widows and children of Presidents to a period of four years after they leave office, or die in office. Congress is now trying to enlarge the duties to include all candidates for President.

Sooner or later, all Presidents chafe under protection. When the light in the President's bedroom goes out, portable beep telephones carry the word to Secret Service agents at other stations that the President has retired. When he emerges in the morning, agents fall into step beside him. The word goes out that he has just left his bedroom.

Normally, Rowley has agents working with police departments three weeks before a Presidential visit to a city. They map out the safest route, station men on bridges and overpasses, study lists of persons who have made political threats and others who are mentally deranged and at large.

If danger presents itself, the duty of the agent is not to track the menace; he interposes himself between the President and such danger. The bullet intended for the Chief Executive should be stopped by the body of the agent. Two agents are supposed to ride the back bumper of the Presidential limousine. John F. Kennedy complained three times that he wanted the agents off those bumpers and away from the side of the car.

The President told me, three weeks before the trip to Dallas, that no one could protect him from a man with a rifle crouching in an upper window. He was right. Perfect protection is impossible. However, if an agent had been standing on the right rear bumper, it would have been difficult to hit the President.

Today the Secret Service is a large sprawling agency, with offices in many cities. The agents guard American gold and currency. They apprehend forgers of government checks and government bonds. Under Rowley, they have worked in closest cooperation with J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI. Rowley is a former FBI man.

He was born in the Bronx on October 14, 1908. His mother was Bridget McTigue Rowley. Rowley earned his master's degree at St. John's University. He will not entertain the application of any man for the Secret Service unless he has completed his college education. Even then, only a top few—mostly lawyers—are accepted. The pay scale (GS-5) is so low that a man has to be dedicated to government service to want it.

In 1940, Chief Rowley married Mabel Cluen. There are no potential agents in the family — Claudia, Linda and Donna. Any of them can bring that boyish grin to his face. The girls have enormous pride in their father because they know that he is the best law enforcement officer in the nation.

Rowley has a lot of strong years left. He works hard, but he makes it look easy.

Peace Prospects Are Brighter Under Van Huong Government

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
(Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PARIS — With the expected formation of a "more reasonable" cabinet under former Prime Minister Tran Van Houng in Saigon early this week the long-range prospects of a negotiated settlement in Vietnam seem to have brightened.

The news that this retired professor, who served as Prime Minister from November 1964, to January, 1965, had been invited to replace Nguyen Van Loc as head of the government over shadowed the so-called "Peace Talks" between the United States and North Vietnam here in Paris.

They appeared to be in a state of deadlock after a four-hour meeting Saturday which, like previous meetings on Monday and Wednesday, was devoted entirely to charges and countercharges mingled with flat demands from North Vietnam for unconditional cessation of American bombing.

Formation of a new government under Tran Van Huong should not mean the kind of a sellout to the Communist National Liberation front, which cynics have been charging.

He is opposed to the formation of a coalition government with NLF participation. But he is a moderate and reasonable man whose government would not be opposed to a peace settlement with Hanoi in the same way that Van Loc's cabinet has been while he would not favor open collaboration with the NLF or with Communist-backed "Alliance of National, Democratic and Peace Forces of Vietnam." He could cooperate with other moderate elements in giving the country a much more presentable government that it has had in recent past.

He is a protege of Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the president, while Van Loc was hand-picked by Gen. Nguyen Coa Ky.

Ky was allowed to choose the Prime Minister in return for his agreement to play second fiddle to Thieu in the presidential race.

Here in Paris the first interpretation placed on the resignation of Van Loc was that it was the beginning of the end for Ky. If true, this should mean that it should be easier to talk business with Hanoi if it is prepared to settle for anything but the whole hog.

The first week of "negotiations" between the United States and the North Vietnamese has completely failed to answer the major questions surrounding them.

First—Are the Communists prepared to agree to cease military operations in South Vietnam both by the local Viet Cong and by 85,000 North Vietnamese regulars for anything less than a certainty of political control within a limited period of time?

There is absolutely no sign that they are. While they continue to clamor for an end to American bombing of targets in the southern part of North Vietnam they utterly refuse to discuss reduction in the infiltration or regular North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam. The senior American delegate W. Averell Harriman, ended his remarks at Saturday's meeting by saying almost plaintively:

"Regretfully I must repeat that all evidence at our disposal indicates that the flow into South Veitnam continues at an increasing pace."

Won't Consider Offer

The North Vietnamese have also refused to "bite" at the tempting offer of the Americans to cut the bombing if Hanoi would agree to respect the "Demilitarized Zone" astride the 17th Parallel. So far the only withdrawal they have been willing to discuss is the wholesale withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam.

The Demilitarized Zone is a strip six miles wide extending the entire length of the border between North and South Vietnam. It was established by the 1964 Geneva Conference as a buffer zone.

Hanoi's troops first violated it in October, 1954, when the 95th Regiment entered it. In May and June 1966 the entire 324B Division of the Regular North Vietnamese Army crossed the 17th Parallel. American forces first entered the Demilitarized Zone in May, 1967, to counter the Communist drive against Quang-Tri Province. But even then they did not cross the 17th Parallel. They kept to the 3-mile-wide southern half. After 3½ years of wholesale violations of the DMZ by the Communists, American forces are still not stationed there.

During the Paris talks this has not been made as clear by the American delegates as it should have been.

Second—Does either Hanoi or the United States regard the Paris performance as the start of a full peace conference which would bring real peace to Southeast Asia?

Since the North Vietnamese appear to be stepping up their military effort in South Vietnam the suspicion persists that they still hope to tip over the South Vietnamese Government by force.

Military experts fully expect one or two full-sized attacks to be made on Saigon and some other centers during the period of good weather due between June and the end of October. But they believe these will be hooked in with political pressure to win participation in the Saigon, Government.

They don't think the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have any real prospects of military victory in the field. They had 70,00 killed in the Tet offensive and their total losses in killed for 1968 now total 100,000.

Blunt Warning to Czechs

By DONALD SHANOR
(Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PRAGUE—The Soviet Communist Party news Pravda delivered a blunt warning to Czechoslovakia over the weekend not to invite chaos by permitting other political parties to weaken the Communists. The warning was timed to coincide with the visit of Soviet Prime Minister Alexiei Kosykin and Defense Minister A. A. Grechko, and thus, although it did not mention Czechoslovakia's liberalization specifically, it could not have been plainer.

Grechko came here for talks with the new Czech defense officials. Kosygin is in Karlovy Vary, the former Karlsbad, for what is described as a rest cure.

But before publication of the Pravda editorial he had conferred extensively with the new Prague leadership, including Reform Party Leader Alexander Dubeck, Premier Oldrich Cernik, and National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky, the leading theorist of the democratization.

Pravda made clear what Kosygin must have said: The Communist Party must retain its grip on every area of political life. Other parties can be tolerated but must not have any real power. If this 50-year-old axiom of Communist rule is violated, the result is chaos like the current situation in China.

Pravda might have used Hungary as a more accurate comparison to the Czechoslovak political picture. As soon as restrictions, were lifted there 12 years ago, the hatred of the Communists got out of control and civil war resulted. But Dubeck, Cernik, and Smrkovsky have no intention of giving up the leading role of the Communist Party in this nation. Whatever the freedoms permitted in the press and the reforms in government, it has always been clear that there is no question of risking genuinely free elections.

Taxpayers Rebellion

Editor, The Freeman:

It is no small satisfaction to the residents of the Rondout Valley School District, that the 1968 School Budget was voted down on Wednesday, May 15 with an overwhelming plurality of 502 votes, and to have two of their members, Bill Felsen and Burton Shoemaker, elected to the Board of Education. It is regretable that a few of the Rondout Valley School activities may have to be curtailed, but cutting of these few extras are of comparative unimportance as compared to the fact that the American people's voice is still the governing factor.

Rondout Valley has now joined the ever increasing ranks of the taxpayers rebellion.

Surrounding school districts have turned down their school budgets deliberately so that the Legislature and State Department of Education will be forced to realize that new sources of income must be found to run school districts.

The larger this growing wave of voter rejection becomes, the sooner it will be brought home to the Legislatures that others besides property owners must shoulder their fair share of the burden. The taxation of property owners is an unequitable situation.

Those who are not property owners only contribute a small percentage of their state tax towards the support of the school budgets when the State Aid is returned to the local districts.

Members of the Citizens Organization of Marbletown would like to commend their board members, Joseph Stein, Mrs. Coleen Forestire, Mrs. Mark Bryant, Matthew Hasbrouck, and Peter Forestire, for their splendid leadership during this battle of the budget.

This was a real example of the American people's determination to rise from their lethargy and truly act out, and work for their rights. It was due to the persistent requests of this organization to the Board of Education that the voting was conducted on a separate day to the budget hearing, thereby giving every citizens an opportunity to vote. It was due to the Marbletown Citizen's Organization that the school registration was enacted; that voting booths were installed for the election so that it ran smoothly and in an efficient manner. It was due to the excellent cooperation of the volunteer members of the Organization that the registration was conducted at the various registration centers; that the voting booths were poll watched, and the publicity throughout the area was covered with articles and letters in the local papers, radio announcements, poster and pamphlets distributed.

Such enthusiastic co-operation from all the members of the organization shows what can be accomplished when they are aroused. The time has come when citizens must protest against the never ending growth of government bureaucracy, and must strongly oppose the constant increase of taxation at all levels.

Voters all over the state are throwing back proposed tax increases. In our surrounding districts Schenectady refused to authorize increase in ceiling on school limits. Troy followed suit. We do not forget the statement made by Governor Rockefeller two years ago when he said that the property tax had reached saturation level, and some other form of school funds must be found. The public has too long been forgetful, uninformed and apathetic and easily duped.

The citizens are waking up, and banding together, using their American People's right to be their own Government.

With more and more children having to be educated, the present method of taxation has become intolerable, and the Board of Education members will continue to be harassed by local citizens until new legislation is passed to relieve the over burdened real estate owner.

Those in the surrounding districts who wish to organize a Citizen's group and are interested in forming a chain of "the Voice of the People" are very welcome to attend a meeting of the Marbletown Citizens Organization at the American Legion Hall in Stone Ridge any third Thursday in the month at 7:30 p.m.

Our members will be glad to assist in forming groups and speakers can be arranged to get them started.

Contact the Secretary, Mrs. Coleen Forestire, Stone Ridge. Phone 687-7348. Taxpayers, the time has come to make our voices heard.

Bowling Tournament

Editor, The Freeman:

This is an open letter to the businessmen of the Kingston area.

Last month we had the opportunity of serving on a committee which successfully bid to host a New York State Bowling Association tourament in our city in the spring of 1970. This tournament will be a tremendous economic boom to the area mostly in the second quarter of that year. It is estimated that approximately 1,000 bowlers plus many of their families will be spending the week end in our city over a 13 week end period. Personal experience indicates that on a week end with two nights of lodging one will spend approximately $50. A couple will spend approximately $75. On a one night stay this is reduced by approximately one-third. Most of the money will be spent in the Kingston area with the only exclusions being some gasoline, meals and Thruway tolls enroute. A close analysis brings us to the conclusion that a round figure of one-half million dollars is going to be dropped into the Kingston area during this tournament.

Certain businesses in the lodging, restaurant, entertaining and auto service fields will stand to gain more than anyone else. However, the employes in these retail and service firms will benefit through greater spending power. Other firms whom they will patronize will benefit indirectly. It will have the same effect a Christmas Club has on the economy in December.

Now that we have supplied the background material on this subject, we will get to the real purpose of this letter. The Kingston Bowling Association was the only organization who could entertain a bid to bring this lucrative business plum to our city. The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce knew this. They approached the bowling association board six years ago immediately following the conclusion of a very profitable New York State Women's Bowling Association Tournament. They have financed in whole or part the bid to host this now successfully acquired tournament. The combined cost over a four year period $1,000 not to mention the contribution of many hours of time by chamber of commerce officials and Kingston Bowling Association board personnel.

It must be agreed that the return will be well worth the investment. The only unfortunate part is the fact that too few of the local business establishments who profit by this kind of effort on the part of the local chamber are contributing their share toward a continual influx of conventions and other allied visiting groups.

Many complaining businessmen have expressed dissatisfaction with the Chamber of Commerce stating this body is not doing enough to promote business for the area. Therefore, they will not support the organization with their membership dues. Gentlemen, the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce deserves a great deal of credit for playing a prominent role in successfully bringing a half-million dollar venture to our city. They deserve your support.

In conclusion we ask, will you businessmen who will benefit by this state bowling tournament and other similar ventures come forward and join the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce to help them continue their work in this area? We understand they are hard pressed for funds. It is our contention that you have got to do your part by supporting them. The foregoing is indisputable evidence they have helped you. Let's convert our one-way-street thinking to two-way traffic. You only get out of anything what you put into it. That has been our philosophy on life. We understand the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is starting its annual membership drive soon.

I might add that this letter was unsolicited. It is an expression our own true sentiments on this subject.

Very Truly Yours,
Albert O. Sonnenberg

Effective Police Work

Editor, The Freeman:

Too often, we hear about police protection problems, and the fruitless efforts that are made in our behalf by the law enforcement officials.

I wish to acknowledge the extremely effective job recently done by the Detective Division of the Kingston Police Department in two recent problems we had here.

One, a holdup, was thoroughly and promptly investigated, and resulted in an out-of-state capture; the other, an inkeeper defrauding circumstance, again resulted in an immediate apprehension.

Both of these matters were handled extremely ably and promptly by the officers, which included six or seven men from the Division.

Sincerely,
Paul Coon, manager,

Shuck Illusions About Ho; He's Not Viet Nationalist

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

UDORN, Thailand (NEA) — There are reports in U. S. papers that a number of American "experts" believe Ho Chi Minh and his people are more nationalist than Communist.

These reports bring to mind what some "authorities" were saying about Mao Tse-tung and his Communist associates in China in World War II.

The following are excerpts from a U. S. embassy report in 1944 by a U. S. diplomat then considered as one of the top political experts on Communist China. This report said:

"The Chinese Communists, are backsliders. They still acclaim the infallibility of Marxist dogma and call themselves Communist. But they have become indulgent of human frailty and confess that China's Communist salvation can be attained only through prolonged evolutionary rather than immediate revolutionary conversion. Like that other eminent backslider, Ramsey McDonald (leader of the British Labor party and three-time British prime minister), they have come to accept the inevitability of gradualness.

"Yenan is no Marxist New Jerusalem. The saints and prophets of Chinese Communism, living in the austere comfort of caves scooped out of loose cliffs, lust after the strange gods of class compromise and party coalition, rather shamefacedly worship the golden calf of foreign investment and yearn to be considered respectable by wordly standards. . . .

There are several reasons for the moderation of the Communists.

"1—They are Chinese. Being Chinese, they are, for all of their early excesses, temperamentally inclined to compromise and harmony in human relationships.

"2—They are realists. They recognize that . . . not until China has developed through several generations will it be ready for communism, that the immediate program must . . . be agrarian reform and the introduction of political democracy.

"3—They are nationalists. In more than seven years of bitter fighting against a foreign enemy the primary emotional and intellectual emphasis has shifted from internal social revolution to nationalism.

"4 — They have begun to come into power. As has been the experience in virtually all successful revolutionary movements, accession to power is bringiing a sobering realization of responsibility and a desire to move cautiously and moderately."

In the 24 years since 1944, it is clear how badly that embassy "expert" failed in his estimate of the Chinese Communists.

This reporter was in Yenan, the "capital" of Communist China, when that embassy report was written. The "authority" who wrote it dashed hurriedly in and out of Yenan as an "expert." He made no attempt to understand what actually was going on. He was told what the Chinese Communists wished him to believe. He was given a show; he accepted it. But his "expertise" was accepted in some very high places. There is danger that we will make the same optimistic misjudgments today in our eagerness to end this most difficult war in Vietnam.

Since the United States is going to deal with Ho Chi Minh and his counselors, we had better know precisely what we are dealing with. We must not have any illusions.

Taxpayers Rebellion

Editor, The Freeman:

It is no small satisfaction to the residents of the Rondout Valley School District, that the 1968 School Budget was voted down on Wednesday, May 15 with an overwhelming plurality of 502 votes, and to have two of their members, Bill Felsen and Burton Shoemaker, elected to the Board of Education. It is regretable that a few of the Rondout Valley School activities may have to be curtailed, but cutting of these few extras are of comparative unimportance as compared to the fact that the American people's voice is still the governing factor.

Rondout Valley has now joined the ever increasing ranks of the taxpayers rebellion.

Surrounding school districts have turned down their school budgets deliberately so that the Legislature and State Department of Education will be forced to realize that new sources of income must be found to run school districts.

The larger this growing wave of voter rejection becomes, the sooner it will be brought home to the Legislatures that others besides property owners must shoulder their fair share of the burden. The taxation of property owners is an unequitable situation.

Those who are not property owners only contribute a small percentage of their state tax towards the support of the school budgets when the State Aid is returned to the local districts.

Members of the Citizens Organization of Marbletown would like to commend their board members, Joseph Stein, Mrs. Coleen Forestire, Mrs. Mark Bryant, Matthew Hasbrouck, and Peter Forestire, for their splendid leadership during this battle of the budget.

This was a real example of the American people's determination to rise from their lethargy and truly act out, and work for their rights. It was due to the persistent requests of this organization to the Board of Education that the voting was conducted on a separate day to the budget hearing, thereby giving every citizens an opportunity to vote. It was due to the Marbletown Citizen's Organization that the school registration was enacted; that voting booths were installed for the election so that it ran smoothly and in an efficient manner. It was due to the excellent cooperation of the volunteer members of the Organization that the registration was conducted at the various registration centers; that the voting booths were poll watched, and the publicity throughout the area was covered with articles and letters in the local papers, radio announcements, poster and pamphlets distributed.

Such enthusiastic co-operation from all the members of the organization shows what can be accomplished when they are aroused. The time has come when citizens must protest against the never ending growth of government bureaucracy, and must strongly oppose the constant increase of taxation at all levels.

Voters all over the state are throwing back proposed tax increases. In our surrounding districts Schenectady refused to authorize increase in ceiling on school limits. Troy followed suit. We do not forget the statement made by Governor Rockefeller two years ago when he said that the property tax had reached saturation level, and some other form of school funds must be found. The public has too long been forgetful, uninformed and apathetic and easily duped.

The citizens are waking up, and banding together, using their American People's right to be their own Government.

With more and more children having to be educated, the present method of taxation has become intolerable, and the Board of Education members will continue to be harassed by local citizens until new legislation is passed to relieve the over burdened real estate owner.

Those in the surrounding districts who wish to organize a Citizen's group and are interested in forming a chain of "the Voice of the People" are very welcome to attend a meeting of the Marbletown Citizens Organization at the American Legion Hall in Stone Ridge any third Thursday in the month at 7:30 p.m.

Our members will be glad to assist in forming groups and speakers can be arranged to get them started.

Contact the Secretary, Mrs. Coleen Forestire, Stone Ridge. Phone 687-7348. Taxpayers, the time has come to make our voices heard.

Bowling Tournament

Editor, The Freeman:

This is an open letter to the businessmen of the Kingston area.

Last month we had the opportunity of serving on a committee which successfully bid to host a New York State Bowling Association tourament in our city in the spring of 1970. This tournament will be a tremendous economic boom to the area mostly in the second quarter of that year. It is estimated that approximately 1,000 bowlers plus many of their families will be spending the week end in our city over a 13 week end period. Personal experience indicates that on a week end with two nights of lodging one will spend approximately $50. A couple will spend approximately $75. On a one night stay this is reduced by approximately one-third. Most of the money will be spent in the Kingston area with the only exclusions being some gasoline, meals and Thruway tolls enroute. A close analysis brings us to the conclusion that a round figure of one-half million dollars is going to be dropped into the Kingston area during this tournament.

Certain businesses in the lodging, restaurant, entertaining and auto service fields will stand to gain more than anyone else. However, the employes in these retail and service firms will benefit through greater spending power. Other firms whom they will patronize will benefit indirectly. It will have the same effect a Christmas Club has on the economy in December.

Now that we have supplied the background material on this subject, we will get to the real purpose of this letter. The Kingston Bowling Association was the only organization who could entertain a bid to bring this lucrative business plum to our city. The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce knew this. They approached the bowling association board six years ago immediately following the conclusion of a very profitable New York State Women's Bowling Association Tournament. They have financed in whole or part the bid to host this now successfully acquired tournament. The combined cost over a four year period $1,000 not to mention the contribution of many hours of time by chamber of commerce officials and Kingston Bowling Association board personnel.

It must be agreed that the return will be well worth the investment. The only unfortunate part is the fact that too few of the local business establishments who profit by this kind of effort on the part of the local chamber are contributing their share toward a continual influx of conventions and other allied visiting groups.

Many complaining businessmen have expressed dissatisfaction with the Chamber of Commerce stating this body is not doing enough to promote business for the area. Therefore, they will not support the organization with their membership dues. Gentlemen, the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce deserves a great deal of credit for playing a prominent role in successfully bringing a half-million dollar venture to our city. They deserve your support.

In conclusion we ask, will you businessmen who will benefit by this state bowling tournament and other similar ventures come forward and join the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce to help them continue their work in this area? We understand they are hard pressed for funds. It is our contention that you have got to do your part by supporting them. The foregoing is indisputable evidence they have helped you. Let's convert our one-way-street thinking to two-way traffic. You only get out of anything what you put into it. That has been our philosophy on life. We understand the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is starting its annual membership drive soon.

I might add that this letter was unsolicited. It is an expression our own true sentiments on this subject.

Very Truly Yours,
Albert O. Sonnenberg
President

Effective Police Work

Editor, The Freeman:

Too often, we hear about police protection problems, and the fruitless efforts that are made in our behalf by the law enforcement officials.

I wish to acknowledge the extremely effective job recently done by the Detective Division of the Kingston Police Department in two recent problems we had here.

One, a holdup, was thoroughly and promptly investigated, and resulted in an out-of-state capture; the other, an inkeeper defrauding circumstance, again resulted in an immediate apprehension.

Both of these matters were handled extremely ably and promptly by the officers, which included six or seven men from the Division.

Sincerely,
Paul Coon, manager,
The Governor Clinton

Shuck Illusions About Ho; He's Not Viet Nationalist

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

UDORN, Thailand (NEA) — There are reports in U. S. papers that a number of American "experts" believe Ho Chi Minh and his people are more nationalist than Communist.

These reports bring to mind what some "authorities" were saying about Mao Tse-tung and his Communist associates in China in World War II.

The following are excerpts from a U. S. embassy report in 1944 by a U. S. diplomat then considered as one of the top political experts on Communist China. This report said:

"The Chinese Communists, are backsliders. They still acclaim the infallibility of Marxist dogma and call themselves Communist. But they have become indulgent of human frailty and confess that China's Communist salvation can be attained only through prolonged evolutionary rather than immediate revolutionary conversion. Like that other eminent backslider, Ramsey McDonald (leader of the British Labor party and three-time British prime minister), they have come to accept the inevitability of gradualness.

"Yenan is no Marxist New Jerusalem. The saints and prophets of Chinese Communism, living in the austere comfort of caves scooped out of loose cliffs, lust after the strange gods of class compromise and party coalition, rather shamefacedly worship the golden calf of foreign investment and yearn to be considered respectable by wordly standards. . . .

There are several reasons for the moderation of the Communists.

"1—They are Chinese. Being Chinese, they are, for all of their early excesses, temperamentally inclined to compromise and harmony in human relationships.

"2—They are realists. They recognize that . . . not until China has developed through several generations will it be ready for communism, that the immediate program must . . . be agrarian reform and the introduction of political democracy.

"3—They are nationalists. In more than seven years of bitter fighting against a foreign enemy the primary emotional and intellectual emphasis has shifted from internal social revolution to nationalism.

"4 — They have begun to come into power. As has been the experience in virtually all successful revolutionary movements, accession to power is bringiing a sobering realization of responsibility and a desire to move cautiously and moderately."

In the 24 years since 1944, it is clear how badly that embassy "expert" failed in his estimate of the Chinese Communists.

This reporter was in Yenan, the "capital" of Communist China, when that embassy report was written. The "authority" who wrote it dashed hurriedly in and out of Yenan as an "expert." He made no attempt to understand what actually was going on. He was told what the Chinese Communists wished him to believe. He was given a show; he accepted it. But his "expertise" was accepted in some very high places. There is danger that we will make the same optimistic misjudgments today in our eagerness to end this most difficult war in Vietnam.

Since the United States is going to deal with Ho Chi Minh and his counselors, we had better know precisely what we are dealing with. We must not have any illusions.

Woodstock LWV Raps Hughes' Judicial Bill

The League of Women Voters today denounced a proposal for the establishment of committees on judicial qualifications as a partisan political measure and urged the Legislature to defeat it.

Mrs. George Ames, president of the statewide organization, stated "Undoubtedly Senator Hughes bill (S-4593-A) will be labelled a 'reform' in judicial selection. It is exactly the opposite. It would increase considerably the partisan political commitments which candidates for judicial office must undertake. If this measure becomes a law our future judges will be indebted to state legislators and local government officials as well as political leaders."

The bill would establish three categories of committees to screen prospective candidates for judicial office. The determinations of these committees, each composed of a judge, a specified number of legislators or local government officials and a bar association designee, would be advisory only and would be available for public inspection.

"Anyone who wished to run for judicial office would have to seek the approval of one of these highly partisan committees," Mrs. Ames said, "then scramble for his political party's designation and then campaign.

The league did not support nor oppose the creation of new judgeships as recommended by the administrative board of Judicial Conference. "We have stated," she said, "that the decision should be made on the basis of the need of the courts and without regard to political deals. We do believe the Legislature should make a solemn commitment to remove partisan politics from judicial selection. Senator Hughes' bill would achieve exactly the opposite."

Broad Crime-Curb Bill Amendments Slated Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to undo Supreme Court restrictions on admissibility of confessions and eyewitness testimony in criminal trials—landmark high court rulings that have greatly strengthened defendants' rights.

But in a series of votes Tuesday the Senate voted against a proposal to curb the Supreme Court's jurisdiction to review convictions in state courts.

The voting came in connection with a broad crime-control bill that ranges from profound constitutional questions to providing more federal funds to local police departments.

On today's agenda was an amendment to provide for the right of counsel at draft board hearings, to be followed by action on a section that would authorize police wiretapping under court orders.

Two Lead Fight

Sens. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., led the fight to keep intact the section limiting the Supreme Court's review powers and to overturn decisions they contended have hampered law enforcement.

They said there is nothing in the Constitution to provide for what they termed "a judicial oligarchy."

"The Supreme Court has set a low tone in law enforcement, and we are reaping the whirlwind," said McClellan, floor manager of the bill.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., who spearheaded forces opposing a lessening in Supreme Court powers, said the court's rulings were designed to protect the innocent, the ignorant and the oppressed.

He said there was no factual support for arguments that the decisions accounted for increased lawlessness.

The Senate voted 55 to 29 to let stand a provision in the bill making admissible as evidence in any federal criminal prosecuton a confession voluntarily given. Trial judges would decide if the confessions were voluntary.

Similarly, the Senate rejected 58 to 27 an amendment to knock out a provision on confessions. This amendment provides that confessions shall not be inadmissible in federal trials just because of a delay in a suspect's arraignment after his arrest.

But later the Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., modifying this by providing a confession would not be inadmissible because of an arraignment delay if it were made within six hours of a suspect's arrest.

Modifies Action

By a 63-21 vote the Senate rejected an amendment to eliminate a provision making identification of a defendant by an eyewitness to a crime admissible as evidence in federal court.

This is aimed at a Supreme Court decision last year barring such identifications if the eyewitness first had identified the defendant at a police line-up when the suspect did not have a lawyer.

Defeated 52 to 32 was a provision that would have barred the Supreme Court and other federal courts from reviewing or reversing a state court ruling admitting a confession in evidence as voluntarily given, if the ruling had been upheld by the state's highest court.

On a 51 to 30 vote, the Senate wiped out a provision that would have denied federal courts authority to review or reverse the admission of eyewitness identifications in state trials.

Eliminated 54-27 was another provsion that would have stripped the federal courts of jurisdiction to hear habeas corpus petitions by state prisoners who contended they had been convicted in violation of their constitutional rights.

Negro Admission To All-White College Looms

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Admission of Negroes to the all - white Girard College appeared set for the fall today after the president of the school's board of trustees said they would begin procedures to comply with a Federal Court order upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court.

John Diemand, head of the trustees of the 120 - year - old school for fatherless boys, said the board would meet at its earliest convenience "to discuss the steps to be taken to comply" with a 1967 order by U. S. District Judge Joseph S. Lord III.

The Supreme Court on Monday rejected an appeal by the trustees from Lord's order of July 5, 1967 to integrate the school set up in 1848 by the will of colonial merchant Stephen Girard.

The will had stipulated admission to the school be limited to "poor, white male orphans" but Lord held this violated the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

Lord had acted on a suit filed by the city, the state and on behalf of seven Negro boys after the school was the scene of mass demonstrations in 1965.

Diemand issued a statement Tuesday saying, "Counsel has advised me that the federal litigation has been completed. Arrangements are being made for a meeting of the trustees at their earliest convenience to discuss the steps to be taken to comply with the provisions of the judge's decree and order."

Escapes Injury

While driving his 1964 station wagon on the highway leading westerly from the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Highland at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Rudolph Kaiser, 44, of Route 1, Woodstock, barely escaped serious injury when a tree fell on the top of the vehicle crushing the roof.

Kaiser was driving toward Highland after leaving the bridge when he suddenly felt something hit his car. He pulled off the road and stopped and discovered the roof of the station wagon had been considerably damaged. Luckily, the tree described as about 35 feet or more tall, didn't land on the hood of the vehicle, it was reported.

The crushed roof of the car came within a few inches of hitting Kaiser's head, according to reports.

A workman employed by a Highland contractor had sawed the tree in a clearance project and Kaiser said he had no warning that the tree was falling until it hit the vehicle. He said he was "shaken" by the incident but did not require medical attention. Highland State Police and Bridge Authority employees investigated the mishap.

Spock Delighted, Witness Relates

BOSTON (AP) — The federal government's first witness says Dr. Benjamin Spock told FBI agents he would be "delighted" to be prosecuted for antidraft activities.

The 65-year-old pediatrician and four others are on trial in federal court for "unlawfully, knowingly and willfully" conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

On trial with Spock are Yale University Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard; Mitchell Goodman, 44, of New York and Temple, Maine, and author and teacher; and Marcus Raskin, codirector of the Institute for Political Studies in Washington. If convicted, each man faces five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

FBI Agent on Stand

The first witness for the prosecution was Lawrence Miller, an FBI agent who attended an Oct. 2, 1967 news conference in New York, where the government contends Spock and several other defendants urged participation in a nationwide week of antidraft activities.

Miller testified Tuesday in the second day of the tral that he entered the news conference room unchallenged without identifying himself, took notes of what Spock and others said and collected pamphlets and literature passed around to newsmen.

The tall, blond agent testified under examination by John Wall, assistant U.S. attorney, that Spock said President Johnson was trying to "save face" by continuing the war in Vietnam.

Wall said the government has filmed excerpts of the meeting made by the American Broadcasting Co.

Nothing Secretive

In cross examination, Miller conceded that there was nothing secretive about the news conference since notice of the gathering was published well in advance by New York newspapers.

Wall's opening remarks to the all-male jury depicted Spock as baiting the federal government to prosecute him for his activities. The defense openings will be made at the conclusion of the government's testimony.

Wall quoted Spock as telling FBI agents before his indictment last January: "If the government wishes to prosecute me, I'd be delighted."

Spock also was quoted as saying his purpose in joining the antidraft movement was "to do as much as possible to frustrate and obstruct the raising of troops by the United States for the war in Vietnam."

Lindsay Ready For Rocky Pitch

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York says he will begin campaigning actively for the Republican Presidential nomination of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He committed himself Tuesday to a last-hour effort in Oregon on Friday to campaign for the governor in that state's May 28 primary.

Rockefeller himself has no personal appearances scheduled in Oregon where his name is not on the ballot.

Lindsay was in Pittsburgh Tuesday to attend a $100-a-plate fund-rasing dinner sponsored by the Allegheny County Republican Committee. More than 1,400 persons attanded at the Hilton Hotel.

Earlier in the day Lindsay addressed an estimated 1,300 persons at Duquesne University, and told them that 2,000 students working in the New Hampshire primary made major changes in this country's Vietnam policies.

Lindsay said when the primary was over the student political workers "had convinced enough Democratic and Republican voters to come within a few hundred votes of defeating an incumbent President and they did it alone."

"Before New Hampshire," Lindsay said, "the administration was considering a request that 200,000 more troops he sent to Vietnam. After New Hampshire, the figure was cut down to 25,000 troops.

"Before New Hampshire, Gen. William Westmoreland maintained the enemy had suffered a psychological defeat during the Tet offensive. Now, Gen. Westmoreland is no longer in command in Vietnam.

"Before New Hampshire, administration spokesmen implied that active dissent from our policy in Vietnam was tantamount to disloyalty. After New Hampshire, the bombing of North Vietnam was curtailed, the President announced he would not seek re-election and preliminary peace talks are now under way in Paris."

Lindsay said all of this could be traced to the students who "got a haircut, shaved, put on a tie and went into politics."

Veteran Stewardes.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Mary Ellen O'Connor, who pioneered as an airline stewardess, is returning to nursing at St. Francis Hospital.

From the time she graduated from the hospital's school of nursing in 1932, she has been on the go. She became known as the "flyingest woman in the world," and at one time was the "dean of stewardesses."

She retired from United Airlines in December 1968. Meanwhile, she is assisting in the hospital's emergency department on Saturdays and Sundays.

"I don't mind working at the hospital without a day off," she said, "because the work in the emergency room is so different from my full-time job. I couldn't stand to be inactive after the busy pace I've kept up all my life."

Sea Lane Safety

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Coast Guard has outlined three sets of divided sea lanes to reduce the chance of ship collisions on the approaches to San Francisco Bay.

Veteran Stewardes.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Mary Ellen O'Connor, who pioneered as an airline stewardess, is returning to nursing at St. Francis Hospital.

From the time she graduated from the hospital's school of nursing in 1932, she has been on the go. She became known as the "flyingest woman in the world," and at one time was the "dean of stewardesses."

She retires from United Airlines in December 1968. Meanwhile, she is assisting in the hospital's emergency department on Saturdays and Sundays.

"I don't mind working at the hospital volunteer staff," she said, "because the work in the emergency room is so different from my full-time job. I couldn't stand to be inactive after the busy pace I've kept up all my life."

Sea Lane Safety

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Coast Guard has outlined three sets of divided sea lanes to reduce the chance of ship collisions on the approaches to San Francisco Bay.

Similar to ones already established for New York and Delaware Bay, the San Francisco system will be put into operation in June. Much like a divided highway for road traffic, these sea lanes are two one-way lanes separated by a "buffer zone."

Youth Is Apprehended As Hurley Fire Suspect

An 18-year-old Hurley youth apprehended by Sheriff William B. Martin Tuesday has admitted setting several fires in the Hurley area including the blaze that destroyed the Jack Gill barn Wednesday night.

Due to extenuating circumstances and results pending examinations the subject has not been arraigned in court. However, the matter will be submitted to the county grand jury when the investigation is completed, Sheriff Martin said.

The youth has been placed under the supervision of his guardians pending the outcome of his examinations.

Kingston Patrolman Thomas Coffey, while off-duty assisted sheriff Martin in the investigation.

The fire Wednesday leveled a large frame barn on the property of Jack Gill on Route 209 southwest of Hurley. Gill is a corn grower.

The fire was discovered by Sheriff Martin, who was passing the farm shortly before 8:30 p. m. He sounded the alarm answered by Hurley Fire Department under the command of Chief Kenneth Cudney and Deputy Chief, the Rev. Harold F. Schadewald.

When the firemen arrived the barn was completely enveloped and mutual aid was called for assistance. Marbletown and Spring Lake volunteer companies responded and assisted in drafting water from nearby sources.

The barn contained nearly 100,000 wooden corn crates, a filled corn crib and two baby steers and a pony which were removed.

Mrs. Gill told The Freeman that Scoutmaster Robert Lawton Jr., of Hurley and her son, John Gill, 12 were mowing grass not far from the farm when they saw the flames. Both raced to the flaming barn and removed the steers and a pony to safety.

The youth also admitted to Sheriff Martin that he had started several brush fires in the area.

Slight Injury In 209 Mishap

A 25 year-old driver narrowly escaped serious injury at 5:40 a. m. today when a tractor trailer loaded with sheet metal went out of control on Route 209 about four miles south of Kingston and overturned on its side.

Kingston State Police investigated the mishap and reported that Charles Spickler of 137 Grimm Way, Wierton, W. Va., escaped with only a scratch on his head.

According to a report of Trooper R. G. Bergin who went to the scene after the mishap was reported to the Kingston substation, Spickler was dirving the tractor-trailer south on Routee 209 near Hurley when a a tire blew out on the tractor causing him to lose control.

The vehicle veered off the right side of the highway and entered a culvert where the load apparently shifted causing the tractor-trailer to overturn, spilling part of the load of sheet metal. It was reported that the driver was pinned in the vehicle for a while until a passing truck driver, not identified, stopped and went to his aid.

Three truck-wreckers were dispatched to the scene of the mishap from area garages and wrecking crews worked together for hours before the overturned tractor-trailer was righted and the load removed.

It was reported that traffic was slowed during the process of getting the tractor-trailer from the culvert area.

Passing motorists stopped at the scene to view the accident, and then continued on after learning no one was seriously injured.

Young Student Wants to Help Working Mother

Q—I am 15 and have inherited $1,000. My mother bought a few shares of American Tel. & Tel., Union Carbide, Reynolds Tobacco, American Hoist & Derrick, and Tenneco for my college fund. I'd like to help my mother who has to support us. I'm interested in growth and dividends.—S.D.

A—Your desire to help with family finances is commendable and soon you should be able to supplement your mother's efforts with an after-school job. Although in most situations a young man should be primarily concerned with growth, you're justified in seeking some income.

Reynolds Tobacco is an income holding but diversification into non-tobacco areas might change this image. American Hoist and Tenneco, Inc. should be held for growth. I also favor American Telephone for its stake in the telecommunications industry. Union Carbide, however, could be switched into better-performing Cook Coffee, a food retailer and discount department store operator.

Q—I have been considering taking about $2,000 from each of my children's savings to buy them growth stocks. My broker suggested Continental Telephone, G. C. Computer, and Ramada Inns. I feel these are a little too risky for our purpose. Do you agree?—M. M.

A—A basic Wall Street truism is that all stocks fluctuate. Thus, if you are not emotionally oriented to assuming some risk, you should not consider investing. If this hurdle can be comfortably surmounted, I recommend the purchase of stocks as the best introduction a youngster can have to the stock market.

Your broker has made three good selections. My only observation is that companies with familiar products are sometimes more interesting to a beginner.

Continental Telephone has a history of uptrending earnings and another record year is looked for in 1958. G. C. Computer, despite obsolescence of equipment, has reported year-to-year gains since 1963. Ramada Inns, operator of motor hotels, stands to benefit from the ever-spiralling number of automobiles on our highways.

Haitian Rebels Flee

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — "Papa Doc" Duvalier's Haitian government declared Tuesday night it has put a 35-man rebel invasion force to flight and captured the two B25 bombers that landed the invaders.

Government sources said 10 of the 35 invaders were killed in a 20-minute battle at Camp Haitien Tuesday and the rest fled to the hills with government troops in hot pursuit.

In Washington, Haitian Ambassador Arthur Bonhomme told a news conference that all the dead were Haitians.

The invasion Monday was preceded by a bombing attack on the capital in which one person was reported killed and several others injured. One bomb landed several hundred yards from President Francois Duvalier's palace, but neither he nor any of his family were hurt. One newspaper said the president was reading in bed at the time.

Government and diplomatic sources in Port au Prince said the instigators of the attack were Haitian exiles based in the United States. Government spokesmen claimed they were supporters of Paul Magloire, a former president, and members of the New York-based Haitian Coalition.

Duvalier told the newspaper Nouveau Monde that the invaders could have come from the United States, Jamaica, Cuba or the Bahamas. Both the Dominican and Jamaican governments denied their territory had been the springboard. The Cuban press and radio reported the bombing attack without comment and said "some Western agencies" reported the landing force might have come from Cuba. Some observers in Havana said the prompt publication of this speculation indicated Cuba was not involved.

Judge Slated To Charge Jury In Brown Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Final arguments were heard Tuesday night in the trial of H. Rap Brown, charged with transporting a gun across state lines.

The c[illegible] goes to the jury after Judge Lansing L. Mitchell of U.S. District Court delivers his charge, an outline of the law involved.

Attorney William M. Kunstler told the biracial jury that the case against Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was an effort to "silence a black man."

U.S. Atty. Louis LaCour argued that, "If this nation is to survive, we must have obedience to the laws."

Brown, 24, was charged on two counts under a section of the National Firearms Act forbidding anyone under a felony indictment to transport a gun across state lines.

Brown was indicted, but not officially notified, Aug. 14, 1966 in Dorchester County, Md., on charges of arson and inciting to riot. The government says he flew to New Orleans Aug. 16 with an M1 carbine in his luggage and flew back to New York with the same weapon Aug. 18. He was arrested Aug. 19.

We're Not Alone

CHICAGO (AP) — Taxes are hitting Canadians as hard as they are Americans.

Commerce Clearing House, a tax law authority, said in eight of Canada's 10 provinces tax increases across the Dominion involved income, sales, gasoline and diesel fuel, tobacco, liquor and motor vehicles.

Quebec assessed a 6 per cent surtax on the income tax of individuals, and Newfoundland upped its corporation income tax rate again, the third time in two years.

Seven provinces raised their gasoline tax rates from one to three cents per gallon, except in Newfoundland where a five-cent-a-gallon boost gives that province the distinction of levying the highest gasoline tax in Canada or the United States—25 cents per gallon.

We're Not Alone

CHICAGO (AP) — Taxes are hitting Canadians as hard as they are Americans.

Commerce Clearing House, a tax law authority, said in eight of Canada's 10 provinces tax increases across the Dominion involved income, sales, gasoline and diesel fuel, tobacco, liquor and motor vehicles.

Quebec assessed a 6 per cent surtax on the income tax of individuals, and Newfoundland upped its corporation income tax rate again, the third time in two years.

Seven provinces raised their gasoline tax rates from one to three cents per gallon, except in Newfoundland where a five-cent-a-gallon boost gives that province the distinction of levying the highest gasoline tax in Canada or the United States—25 cents per gallon.

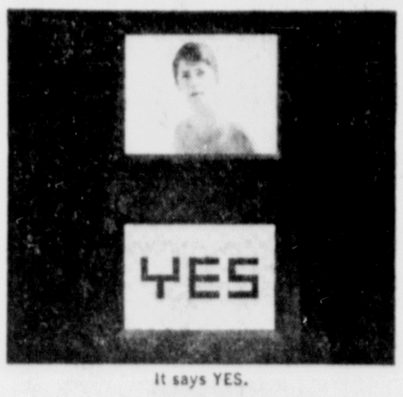
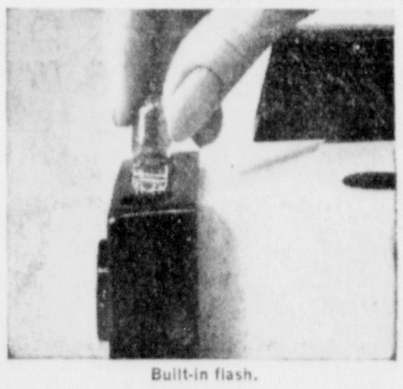
MEET THE SWINGER

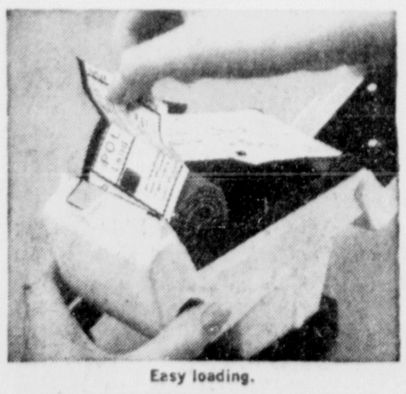
Black and white picture in seconds.



it says YES.



Built-in flash.



Easy loading.

This is the Polaroid Land camera everybody wants. It produces finished black and white pictures in just seconds. There has never been a camera with one-half the value packed into it for this price. It's the camera for a whole new generation.

First of all, it "talks" to you. An ingenious built-in photometer reads YES when the exposure is perfect — right in the viewfinder. Its fast shutter freezes action, indoors or out. The Swinger takes only seconds to load; the film drops right into the camera. No threading or winding. You never have to focus. Pictures in bright sunlight are sharp close-up and far away. Even the flash is special. To shoot flash pictures, you drop a bulb into the camera. The face plate of the camera itself serves as the flash shield.

ALFRED M. KACZMAREK

Viet Volunteer Speaker

County Red Cross Chapter Dinner Set June 12

The annual dinner meeting of the American Red Cross, Ulster County Chapter, will be held at the Hedges, West Park, Wednesday night, June 12 at 6:45 p.m. Speaker will be Sergeant Major Alfred M. Kaczmarek, currently the Command Sergeant Major of the United States Military Academy and the military post of West Point.

Sgt. Major Kaczmarek entered the service from Buffalo in 1948. His service has included assignments with the United States Constabulary and the Seventh United States Army in Europe; the Military District of Washington, Washington, D. C.; the Southern European Task Force in Northern Italy; the First Infantry Division at Fort Riley, Kansas; the Fifth United States Army in Chicago and with Allied Land Forces, Southeastern Europe in Izmir, Turkey.

In the latter three assignments he served as the principal noncommissioned officer. A Vietnam volunteer, he completed his service with II Field Force Vietnam in the III Corps Tactical Zone in August 1967 and assumed his responsibilities at West Point last September.

Promoted to the grade of sergeant major in 1963, Sgt. Kaczmarek was recently among the first of his grade to be nominated and accepted in the Army's Command Sergeant Major program. This program identifies the best qualified noncommissioned officers selected to serve as senior enlisted advisors to commanders of units at battalion level and above.

Sgt. Major Kaczmarek holds the Bronze Star Medal, The Army Commendation Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Good Conduct Medal with three loops, the Army Occupational Medal (Germany), the National Defense Service Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Vietnam Service Medal with two campaign stars, the Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Meritorious Unit Citation.

Sgt. Kaczmarek resides at West Point with his wife, Elaine, his daughter, Debbie, age 10, and his son, Kevin, age 7.

The meeting is open to the public and reservations may be made through the Ulster County Chapter on or before June 7.

Meanwhile Christmas 1968 is coming several months ahead of time to the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

For the third consecutive year, the Red Cross Chapter with headquarters in Kingston is joining with other chapters throughout the United States in a nationwide project to make and fill gift bags to be distributed to U. S. servicemen and servicewomen who are stationed in Vietnam at Christmastime.

This year the chapter has been asked by the national organization to make and fill 1,000 bags, an increase of 500 over previous years quota. The bags are made of sturdy cotton material so they will be serviceable to their owners even after the original contents are used.

"Red Cross Shop Early—Vietnam 1968" is intended to be a "tangible way for Americans to say we care about our troops in Vietnam no matter what we feel about the conflict itself," Zale Liese, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, said.

ALFRED M. KACZMAREK

County Red Cross Chapter Dinner Set June 12

The annual dinner meeting of the American Red Cross, Ulster County Chapter, will be held at the Hedges, West Park, Wednesday night, June 12 at 6:45 p.m. Speaker will be Sergeant Major Alfred M. Kaczmarek, currently the Command Sergeant Major of the United States Military Academy and the military post of West Point.

Sgt. Major Kaczmarek entered the service from Buffalo in 1948. His service has included assignments with the United States Constabulary and the Seventh United States Army in Europe; the Military District of Washington, Washington, D. C.; the Southern European Task Force in Northern Italy; the First Infantry Division at Fort Riley, Kansas; the Fifth United States Army in Chicago and with Allied Land Forces, Southeastern Europe in Izmir, Turkey.

In the latter three assignments he served as the principal noncommissioned officer. A Vietnam volunteer, he completed his service with II Field Force Vietnam in the III Corps Tactical Zone in August 1967 and assumed his responsibilities at West Point last September.

Promoted to the grade of sergeant major in 1963, Sgt. Kaczmarek was recently among the first of his grade to be nominated and accepted in the Army's Command Sergeant Major program. This program identifies the best qualified noncommissioned officers selected to serve as senior enlisted advisors to commanders of units at battalion level and above.

Sgt. Major Kaczmarek holds the Bronze Star Medal, The Army Commendation Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Good Conduct Medal with three loops, the Army Occupational Medal (Germany), the National Defense Service Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Vietnam Service Medal with two campaign stars, the Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Meritorious Unit Citation.

Sgt. Kaczmarek resides at West Point with his wife, Elaine, his daughter, Debbie, age 10, and his son, Kevin, age 7.

The meeting is open to the public and reservations may be made through the Ulster County Chapter on or before June 7.

Meanwhile Christmas 1968 is coming several months ahead of time to the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

For the third consecutive year, the Red Cross Chapter with headquarters in Kingston is joining with other chapters throughout the United States in a nationwide project to make and fill gift bags to be distributed to U. S. servicemen and servicewomen who are stationed in Vietnam at Christmastime.

This year the chapter has been asked by the national organization to make and fill 1,000 bags, an increase of 500 over previous years quota. The bags are made of sturdy cotton material so they will be serviceable to their owners even after the original contents are used.

"Red Cross Shop Early—Vietnam 1968" is intended to be a "tangible way for Americans to say we care about our troops in Vietnam no matter what we feel about the conflict itself," Zale Liese, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, said.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, May 22, the 143rd day of 1968. There are 223 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1819, the first steamship to cross the Atlantic, the Savannah, set out from Savannah, Ga., for Liverpool, England.

On this date—

In 1802, Martha Washington died.

In 1807, former Vice President Aaron Burr went on trial for treason in Richmond, Va. He was acquitted the following August.

In 1918, German planes raided Paris during World War I.

In 1924, Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb were arrested and charged with murdering a 13-year-old Chicago boy, Bobby Franks.

In 1943, Moscow announced that the Communist International—designed to promote world revolution—had been dissolved.

In 1947, the so-called "Truman Doctrine" became effective as the U.S. Congress appropriated $400 million for the aid to Greece and Turkey.

Ten years ago — Six servicemen and four civilians were killed in the explosion of eight Nike missiles at Leonardo, N.J.

Five years ago — A federal court ordered reinstatement of suspended Negro school children who had been arrested during demonstrations in Birmingham, Ala.

One year ago—Some 200 persons were reported missing and 13 were known dead in a department store fire in Brussels, Belgium.

Holmes Given 5-Year Term In Dixie Court

Arthur W. Holmes, 30, formerly of Hunter Street, this city, found guilty of auto theft was sentenced to five years in jail in county court at Aiken, S. C., it was reported to Ulster County Sheriff's Office on Monday.

Information from Aiken indicated that Holmes still faces another charge.

Holmes was indicted by the Ulster County Grand Jury in March and faces charges in this county including burglary, third degree; criminal trespass, second; petit larceny and criminal mischief, third. Holmes was accused of burglarizing Chic's Rendezous, Broadway, on February 5 by the March Grand Jury.

After intensive investigation by Kingston detectives, Holmes was arrested and police said the safe, cigarette vending machine and juke box were rifled.

While awaiting trial in South Carolina, Holmes was interrogated by County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of the Sheriff's Office and State Police Senior Investigator Charles Teelon of the BCI. At that time Holmes signed a statement admitting to 36 burglaries, including two post offices and one holdup, covering six neighboring counties and Bennington, Vt.

Repairs Needed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A survey of state-maintained bridges in Kentucky has revealed that about 150 are in need of repair. No large river spans are in this category.

NOT YET—Dong Jo Kim, South Korean Ambassador to the United States, told a press conference in Los Angeles he believed the North Koreans would release the USS Pueblo and its crew when its purpose had been served, not before. He said he doubts it will be in the immediate future. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Hospital TV Set

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Groote Schuur Hospital, where the first human heart transplant was performed in December, is to install closed circuit color television this year. The system will be used in the main operating room and for diagnostic work. There is no public television in South Africa.

$ Million Trust Is Announced By Vassar Head

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Vassar College President Alan Simpson annonnced today an anonymous donor had set up a $1-million trust fund which will ultimately be used to establish a Vassar history professorship.

The professorship will be named for Miss Evalyn A. Clark, who retires next month after 29 years as a member of the Vassar history department, Simpson said.

He said the donor wished to remain anonymous so the existence of the chair will emphasize Professor Clark's outstanding teaching career.

Miss Clark, a native of Canandaigua, N.Y., joined the Vassar faculty in 1939.

Treasure Sought

HONOLULU (AP) — A former Honolulu man now living in Tahiti plans a second voyage to a South Pacific island to seek a buried treasure.

Ralph Varady will sail to a coral reef off the island of Mopelia, where Felix, Count von Luckner, hid gold bullion and jewels in August 1917.

The treasure is in a water tight ammunition box. In addition to the gold and jewels are important ship's papers and the ship logs which von Luckner stowed in the box. The papers are of value to collectors and may exceed the tangible treasure in monetary value.

Von Luckner, "the old sea pirate," pillaged the gold and jewels from eleven Allied vessels he captured during World War I.

Four Full Tuition Scholarships Are Planned by Ulster Academy

Ulster Academy, Kingston's new independent secondary school, plans to award up to four full tuition scholarships for 1968-69 to worthy and qualifying students.

The scholarships, one each for grades seven through 10, will have a dollar value of $1,300 a year and are renewable each year subject to the recipient's satisfactory performance as a student and a citizen. Scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis taking the following four factors into account:

The student's performance on the scholarship examinations; financial need; school record to date and a brief written statement to be submitted by the student candidate.

The exam will be given at the Benedictine School of Nursing 10 a.m. June 1.

One of the objectives of the competitive scholarship program is to enable capable students in the community who otherwise could not, to consider admission to the academy. Ulster Academy's catalogue states that the school "welcomes the sons and daughters of families without regard to their creed or color and insofar as its own resources permit, without regard to their financial need."

The full tuition competitive scholarship program is part of the academy's total scholarship aid which follows the regulations of the School Scholarship Service of the National Association of Independent Schools.

The academy held the first sitting for the scholarship exam April 6.

The candidates from that date will be considered with the candidates of the June 1, exam. Decisions on awards are expected by July 1.

The exam is exactly the same scholastic ability test as used by the academy in its regular admissions process and is prepared and scored by the Education Records Bureau of New York City.

Because it serves a scholarship purpose, Academy Headmaster Raymond A. Nelson said the academy is waiving the regular admissions procedure fee. Any family interested in having a student take the exam and apply for the full tuition award may contact the academy office, 17 Pearl Street, by telephone or in writing.

The exam will be limited to the first 25 students who reserve a place. The headmaster disclosed the academy is working through all cooperating clergy and social agencies to secure the broadest community participation among candidates.

Plea Not Keeping Many People Home

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's proposals to curtail travel outside the Western Hemisphere and his urging that Americans see their own country first apparently are not keeping many people home.

A survey of major airlines the sale of tickets has taken up and travel agencies shows that the slack caused by initial announcement of the proposals three months ago and that sales are now as good or better than last year.

Asked how business was, one travel agency executive answered: "I'm looking for help right now, that's how good it is."

The executive, Josephine Arria of American International Travel Service, said, "It's far superior to last year. This being an election year I wouldn't worry too much about the possibility of a travel tax."

A key feature of the proposals is a tax on all travel expenditures above $7 a day outside the Western Hemisphere. The measure passed the House April 4 and is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

An airlines spokesman said what the proposed restrictions did was decrease the projected step-up in overseas travel preparations under way before the President's announcement in February.

One effect which has continued to the present, he said, has been the appreciable cancellation of group flights by American business firms.

It is believed that industry executives, who use such trips in their incentive programs, reacted both patriotically and with an eye on a possible government check of promotional and entertainment items on income tax returns.

These cancellations made a dent in travel figure projections, but the gap apparently is being filled by Americans who are not taking the restrictions seriously and by a big step-up in the drive to get foreign visitors to come to the United States.

Trans World Airlines reported that it has increased bookings for overseas flights and "anticipates a further upswing this summer."

Travel also is on the increase to and from Hawaii, California, the Virgin Islands, Canada and South America, the airlines report.

Braniff International Airways, which serves South America, said its travel has picked up 30 per cent over last year.

In another development, both Pan American and Trans World Airlines announced Monday they temporarily had suspended flights to and from France because of the widespread strike in that country.

African Study Demands; Paltz Course Since '57

While major universities around the country are facing students demands for undergraduate course work about African history and culture, the State University of New York College at New Paltz is completing its tenth year of making African course work a required subject.

And while most colleges have few or no faculty members who are experts on Africa, the former Teachers College turned Liberal Arts backs up its undergraduate major in African Studies with 14 faculty members, eight of them Ph.D.'s. Everyone of the 14 was either born and educated in Africa or lived there for periods ranging up to 10 years.

New Paltz offers more than 30 courses on African history, Geography, sociology, literature, art, institutions, economics, and cultures. It also gives credit work in Swahili and Arabic.

There seems to be no doubt among educators that the New Paltz undergraduate African Studies program—now three years old—is the strongest on any U. S. campus.

But out of 400 upperclassmen taking straight Liberal Arts courses, that is, juniors and seniors who are not planning to become teachers, fewer than 10 —all white—are majoring in African studies.

Studies Still New

Peter Wright, chairman of the Division of Area Studies, says there is a variety of reasons why so few students are majoring in African Studies.

"First, it's a new field, and the academic world is not known for prompt acceptance of new fields, particularly those which are interdisciplinary. So students going to graduate school prefer to major in an accepted discipline such as history, sociology, geography, economics, political science and international relations.

"Second, because it's a new field, the students themselves are not too quick to accept it. Perhaps they consider it a passing fad—which it isn't, of course.

"Third, there has been no nation-wide clamor until this year for African Studies majors at other campuses. When our own students recognize that New Paltz is not the only college that insists that the major is important in today's world, we think more will be looking for it.

"Fourth, employers have to be educated on what an African Studies program means. A lot of students are still looking for a major that will land them a job where they can become 'involved' and still be reasonably well-paid.

"Fifth, our Afro-American student population is still rather small—about 1 per cent—and as it grows we expect there might be more interest from those students in the program."

African Studies Major

Wright, a Britisher, came to New Paltz in 1965, after more than 25 years of work with higher education in India, Kenya, Ghana, Nigeria, and Jamaica, West Indies.

He pointed out that the number of African Studies majors doesn't reflect the real participation among students in African courses. Many majors at the New Paltz college require work in non-Western courses—primarily Asian or African; history, economics, political science, and geography majors will be found taking appropriate African courses, Wright said.

The student majoring in Africa is required to take general introductory courses in sociology, economic or physical geography, comparative government, economics and anthropology. He must also take four of the following six courses: History of Sub-Sahara Africa to 1885, or from 1885, Geography of Africa, Social Change in Africa, Systems of Government in Sub-Sahara Africa, and Peoples and Cultures of Africa. An additional eight courses focusing on a specific discipline and dealing with Africa—with the approval of the advisor—are also required for a total of 45 semester credits.

Within the next two years, the 1,500 New Paltz freshmen entering this fall will also take the required general studies course, "Africa and the Near East." The course has been required at New Paltz for all students since 1957.

Sky Diving to Feature High Falls Rally May 25

Sky diving will be a feature of the rally to be held Saturday at High Falls for the benefit of the Marbletown First Aid Squad.

The rally is being sponsored by the ladies of the Marbletown First District from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the firehall with sky diving slated to take place during the afternoon at Carlton Beach's field. Events at the firehouse will include music by the Rondout Valley High School Band, refreshments and a bake sale.

The rally is the final fund raising activity of the seven auxiliaries in the district. Donations will be tallied and recorded on the thermometer at the park in High Falls.

A committee from the auxiliaries will make a collection in the audience at that time.

The First Aid Squad serves the district with prompt, efficient service and all donations will go toward continuing the squad.

Four Full Tuition Scholarships Are Planned by Ulster Academy

Ulster Academy, Kingston's new independent secondary school, plans to award up to four full tuition scholarships for 1968-69 to worthy and qualifying students.

The scholarships, one each for grades seven through 10, will have a dollar value of $1,300 a year and are renewable each year subject to the recipient's satisfactory performance as a student and a citizen. Scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis taking the following four factors into account:

The student's performance on the scholarship examinations; financial need; school record to date and a brief written statement to be submitted by the student candidate.

The exam will be given at the Benedictine School of Nursing 10 a.m. June 1.

One of the objectives of the competitive scholarship program is to enable capable students in the community who otherwise could not, to consider admission to the academy. Ulster Academy's catalogue states that the school "welcomes the sons and daughters of families without regard to their creed or color and insofar as its own resources permit, without regard to their financial need."

The full tuition competitive scholarship program is part of the academy's total scholarship aid which follows the regulations of the School Scholarship Service of the National Association of Independent Schools.

The academy held the first sitting for the scholarship exam April 6.

The candidates from that date will be considered with the candidates of the June 1, exam. Decisions on awards are expected by July 1.

The exam is exactly the same scholastic ability test as used by the academy in its regular admissions process and is prepared and scored by the Education Records Bureau of New York City.

Because it serves a scholarship purpose, Academy Headmaster Raymond A. Nelson said the academy is waiving the regular admissions procedure fee. Any family interested in having a student take the exam and apply for the full tuition award may contact the academy office, 17 Pearl Street, by telephone or in writing.

The exam will be limited to the first 25 students who reserve a place. The headmaster disclosed the academy is working through all cooperating clergy and social agencies to secure the broadest community participation among candidates.

Plea Not Keeping Many People Home

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's proposals to curtail travel outside the Western Hemisphere and his urging that Americans see their own country first apparently are not keeping many people home.

A survey of major airlines the sale of tickets has taken up and travel agencies shows that the slack caused by initial announcement of the proposals three months ago and that sales are now as good or better than last year.

Asked how business was, one travel agency executive answered: "I'm looking for help right now, that's how good it is."

The executive, Josephine Arria of American International Travel Service, said, "It's far superior to last year. This being an election year I wouldn't worry too much about the possibility of a travel tax."

A key feature of the proposals is a tax on all travel expenditures above $7 a day outside the Western Hemisphere. The measure passed the House April 4 and is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

An airlines spokesman said what the proposed restrictions did was decrease the projected step-up in overseas travel preparations under way before the President's announcement in February.

One effect which has continued to the present, he said, has been the appreciable cancellation of group flights by American business firms.

It is believed that industry executives, who use such trips in their incentive programs, reacted both patriotically and with an eye on a possible government check of promotional and entertainment items on income tax returns.

These cancellations made a dent in travel figure projections, but the gap apparently is being filled by Americans who are not taking the restrictions seriously and by a big step-up in the drive to get foreign visitors to come to the United States.

Trans World Airlines reported that it has increased bookings for overseas flights and "anticipates a further upswing this summer."

Travel also is on the increase to and from Hawaii, California, the Virgin Islands, Canada and South America, the airlines report.

Braniff International Airways, which serves South America, said its travel has picked up 30 per cent over last year.

In another development, both Pan American and Trans World Airlines announced Monday they temporarily had suspended flights to and from France because of the widespread strike in that country.

African Study Demands; Paltz Course Since '57

While major universities around the country are facing students demands for undergraduate course work about African history and culture, the State University of New York College at New Paltz is completing its tenth year of making African course work a required subject.

And while most colleges have few or no faculty members who are experts on Africa, the former Teachers College turned-Liberal-Arts backs up its undergraduate major in African Studies with 14 faculty members, eight of them Ph.D.'s. Everyone of the 14 was either born and educated in Africa or lived there for periods ranging up to 10 years.

New Paltz offers more than 30 courses on African history, Geography, sociology, literature, art, institutions, economics, and cultures. It also gives credit work in Swahili and Arabic.

There seems to be no doubt among educators that the New Paltz undergraduate African Studies program—now three years old—is the strongest on any U. S. campus.

But out of 400 upperclassmen taking straight Liberal Arts courses, that is, juniors and seniors who are not planning to become teachers, fewer than 10—all white—are majoring in African studies.

Studies Still New

Peter Wright, chairman of the Division of Area Studies, says there is a variety of reasons why so few students are majoring in African Studies.

"First, it's a new field, and the academic world is not known for prompt acceptance of new fields, particularly those which are interdisciplinary. So students going to graduate school prefer to major in an accepted discipline such as history, sociology, geography, economics, political science and international relations.

"Second, because it's a new field, the students themselves are not too quick to accept it. Perhaps they consider it a passing fad—which it isn't, of course.

"Third, there has been no nation-wide clamor until this year for African Studies majors at other campuses. When our own students recognize that New Paltz is not the only college that insists that the major is important in today's world, we think more will be looking for it.

"Fourth, employers have to be educated on what an African Studies program means. A lot of students are still looking for a major that will land them a job where they can become 'involved' and still be reasonably well-paid.

"Fifth, our Afro-American student population is still rather small—about 1 per cent—and as it grows we expect there might be more interest from those students in the program."

African Studies Major

Wright, a Britisher, came to New Paltz in 1965, after more than 25 years of work with higher education in India, Kenya, Ghana, Nigeria, and Jamaica, West Indies.

He pointed out that the number of African Studies majors doesn't reflect the real participation among students in African courses. Many majors at the New Paltz college require work in non-Western courses—primarily Asian or African; history, economics, political science, and geography majors will be found taking appropriate African courses, Wright said.

The student majoring in Africa is required to take general introductory courses in sociology, economic or physical geography, comparative government, economics and anthropology. He must also take four of the following six courses: History of Sub-Sahara Africa to 1885, or from 1885, Geography of Africa, Social Change in Africa, Systems of Government in Sub-Sahara Africa, and Peoples and Cultures of Africa. An additional eight courses focusing on a specific discipline and dealing with Africa—with the approval of the advisor—are also required for a total of 45 semester credits.

Within the next two years, the 1,500 New Paltz freshmen entering this fall will also take the required general studies course, "Africa and the Near East." The course has been required at New Paltz for all students since 1957.

Sky Diving to Feature High Falls Rally May 25

Sky diving will be a feature of the rally to be held Saturday at High Falls for the benefit of the Marbletown First Aid Squad.

The rally is being sponsored by the ladies of the Marbletown First District from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the firehall with sky diving slated to take place during the afternoon at Carlton Beach's field. Events at the firehouse will include music by the Rondout Valley High School Band, refreshments and a bake sale.

The rally is the final fund raising activity of the seven auxiliaries in the district. Donations will be tallied and recorded on the thermometer at the park in High Falls.

A committee from the auxiliaries will make a collection in the audience at that time.

The First Aid Squad serves the district with prompt, efficient service and all donations will go toward continuing the squad.

Gateway Introduces Educators To Work Study Program Details

ON TOUR — Margaret Simmons and Lucille Russo watch as workmen tools pick holders for nut bowls at Gateway. Twenty five educators from area school systems learned about the work study program in a tour and discussion session this week. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Work study in action was the order of the day Monday at Gateway Industries.

Twenty-five educators from Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services, Kingston, Marlboro, Onteora, New Paltz, Rondout Valley, Saugerties and Wallkill School Systems toured the facilities at Field Court and later conferred with John Sullivan, Gateway exexutive director as to the finer workings of the program at the center.

The work study program is designed to prepare special class and other handicapped students for early entrance into the work world after school graduation by offering them a "gateway" between school and actual work experience.

Participants spend a half day in school and a half day at Gateway where they take part in a regular work situation such as might be found in competitive business and industry. They are paid for all work performed. At the same time as they are receiving vocational direction, the work-study students receive supporting services such as group and individual counseling, social and psychological guidance and other assistance from the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and the professional staff at Gateway.

In 4th Year

The program, now in its fourth year, has seventeen students participating. Each year of existance has seen increase in enrollment. It is anticipated that all area schools will be tied in with the program in the near future.

During the visit, Gateway staff members and representatives of the New York State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation acquainted the school principals, guidance counselors, special class teachers and nurses with the facilities available through the local DVR office. District supervisor Miss Catherine Grace and Raymond Swannon, rehabilitations counselor were on hand for the sessions.

Sullivan said that some of the students who participated in the programs have demonstrated that they possess the ability to learn both academic and vocational work on a higher level than is usually provided for the retarded. Some have learned to function in skilled and semi skilled work and are now in good paying jobs. He stressed that, in all cases, close cooperation between Gateway, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and school officials is necessary to make the program meaningful and effective.

The touring educators were favorably impressed with the Gateway appraoch and noted particularly the ability to simulate the real work experience a situation impossible to create in the classroom.

Through such real work experience as punching a time clock, earning money and learning to accept supervision and responsiblity of a job well done the student learns to adjust to the work enviornment. Field trips to business and industry create an increased awareness of vocational interest pointed toward successful adjustment in the working world.

Nor are work habits the only aims of the work study program. Personal habits are part of the training too as students receive training in hygiene, demeanor and getting along with others.

Similar tours of the Gateway facilities and explanations of its many programs are planned. Other interested groups may contact Sullivan and make arrangements. Gateway is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Valley Project Cited

Barthly L. Beach, New York State Director for the Farmers Home Administration, has received the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Superior Service Award from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman at ceremonies in Washington, D. C.

Beach, a longtime upstate dairyman, has headed USDA's rural credit agency in the Empire State sicne 1962. In those six years, the volume of FHA loan activity has increased sevenfold, to $33 million in 1967, and the number of rural citizens benefiting from the agency's services has multiplied by 500 per cent, to more than 56,000.

The award cited Beach's "distinctive leadership in directing programs to fight poverty in rural New York and for effectively demonstrating through the Mid-Hudson Pilot Project the impact of a concerted rural development effort."

In the Mid-Hudson Project, four counties—Greene, Orange, Sullivan and Ulster—were recommended by Beach for a demonstration of rural areas development. An economic study was made, and Secretary Freeman approved the project in October, 1966.

Since then, nearly $9 million has been loaned to upgrade housing, to build community facilities such as water and sewer systems, and to assist low-income families finance business or farming enterprises to increase their income.

Church School Needs Theme of Classis Parley

A consultation on Christian Education was the theme of the Classis of Mid Hudson of the Reformed Church last week as representatives of 38 member churches met at the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

The program was sponsored by the Christian Education committee under the chairmanship of the Rev. Eltje Brunemeyer, pastor of the Gardiner Reformed Church. Chairmen for the evening were the Rev. Carleton Burrell of New Paltz, the Rev. Johannes Meester of Poughkeepsie, the Rev. Robert Hess of Flatbush Reformed; Mrs. William Babinsky of Wappingers Falls and the Rev. Daniel Ogden, host pastor.

The relationship between church and the church school; the need for resources for teachers and related problems of the church and church school in the present mobile society were discussed. Guest speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilin Tobey of the Presbyterian Church.

The Sunday school teachers of the Port Ewen Reformed Church served refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Wells.

Assails Matthews, Charges Ignorance

John S. Dyson, Democratic candidate for Congress has assailed S. James Matthews for a "shocking display of ignorance about the present situation in Congress." Matthews, a Kingston attorney, was recently named chairman of the Hamilton Fish Jr.-to-Congress Committee.

Dyson made the charge in speeches at the recent Greene County Lady Bird Luncheon, the Schoharie County Kennedy Day Dinner and at the opening of his Poughkeepsie Headquarters, 8 New Market Street.

Dyson said Matthews has displayed a flagrant brand of hypocrisy to the voters of the 28th congressional District. He blames inaction in Congress on Southern Democratic congressmen. He calls for the election of his candidate to restore Republican congressional leadership. Their record, which Matthews supports, is one of slashing and opposing every needed program. Their negative approach is the reason Congress has not been effective this session, as it was during the 89th Congress in 1965 and 1966.

"The greatest domestic problem we face today" said Dyson is the crisis in the cities. Yet, the GOP leadership Matthews praises so highly, voted to send the bill appropriating money for the Department of Housing and Urban Devleopment back to committee, thus effectively killing it. The Republican leadership of Gerald Ford, minority leader, Leslie Arends, minority whip, and Melvin Laird, chairman of the Republican Policy committee all voted to effectively kill this crucial legislation for our cities."

Always Being Shot At

Military Policemen in Saigon Have Hazardous Jobs

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP)—If it's not street fighting, snipers or hand grenades, it's drunks and traffic.

"It does get monotonous sometimes," says a young military policemen riding the darkened streets of Saigon."

The low-key appraisal of possibly the world's most hazardous police beat came from smooth-cheeked, 20-year-old Spec. 4 Jimmie Keech, a volunteer from Norwalk, Calif., who has spent 16 months patrolling South Vietnam's capital.

When the war moved into South Vietnam's cities jan. 31 the Army's military policemen moved into the front lines of the war. They have been there ever since.

Different Situation

"When I got here about eight months ago there were guys rotating home that had never been shot at," said Keech's patrolmate, Pfc. Thomas Blunt of Los Angeles. "Not now. It's hard to find an MP who hasn't been shot at."

Blunt, a 23-year-old former telephone company lineman who ended up in the MPs for reasons mysterious to him, gives his job the same professional approach as Keech, who hopes to go into police work after leaving the Army.

Packing a .45-caliber pistol and an M16 carbine and wearing flak vests, they average about 72 hours a week on patrol in Saigon. When they aren't on patrol they are on alert.

It has been this way for the 716th Military Police Battalion since the Tet offensive.

The battalion has one of the biggest MP beats in the U.S. Army—a sprawling city of perhaps three million people, nobody really knows how many. The streets are narrow and jumbled, with low overhanging balconies and countless dark hideaways ideal for street fighting. The MPs have grown almost casual about odd sniper rounds.

Expect Nothing Unusual

On this night, cruising gingerly along the darkened streets, Keech and Blunt expected nothing unusual by their standards.

Like cops everywhere, they discussed their jobs— how the rest of the GIs feel about the MPs.

After the Tet offensive, when the MPs fought outstandingly in Saigon and other cities, the average GI sharply upgraded his opinion of the MP.

The MPs took sharp casualties, and they have been continuing. Early this month six MPs were wounded and one killed in a nasty ambush inside the city, and there have been other fights. A grenade missed Keech's Jeep by only 10 fet.

"We still get some guys who think we are just out to harass them, but there aren't many of them now," Blunt said. "We still get our share of drunks despite the curfew. They just seem to do more drinking in less time."

One MP concern has dropped sharply—the handful of deserters who used to get a girl and hide out in Saigon. When the Viet Cong offensive started the deserters sought protection.

"One just walked up to me on the street, when I was off duty, and surrendered," said the somewhat bemused Keech. "I don't think they find it too comfortable living in the back streets nowadays."

Always Being Shot At

Military Policemen in Saigon Have Hazardous Jobs

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP)—It it's not street fighting, snipers or hand grenades, it's drunks and traffic.

"It does get monotonous sometimes," says a young military policemen riding the darkened streets of Saigon."

The low-key appraisal of possibly the world's most hazardous police beat came from smooth-cheeked, 20-year-old Spec. 4 Jimmie Keech, a volunteer from Norwalk, Calif., who has spent 16 months patrolling South Vietnam's capital.

When the war moved into South Vietnam's cities jan. 31 the Army's military policemen moved into the front lines of the war. They have been there ever since.

Different Situation

"When I got here about eight months ago there were guys rotating home that had never been shot at," said Keech's patrolmate, Pfc. Thomas Blunt of Los Angeles. "Not now. It's hard to find an MP who hasn't been shot at."

Blunt, a 23-year-old former telephone company lineman who ended up in the MPs for reasons mysterious to him, gives his job the same professional approach as Keech, who hopes to go into police work after leaving the Army.

Packing a .45-caliber pistol and an M16 carbine and wearing flak vests, they average about 72 hours a week on patrol in Saigon. When they aren't on patrol they are on alert.

It has been this way for the 716th Military Police Battalion since the Tet offensive.

The battalion has one of the biggest MP beats in the U.S. Army—a sprawling city of perhaps three million people, nobody really knows how many. The streets are narrow and jumbled, with low overhanging balconies and countless dark hideaways ideal for street fighting. The MPs have grown almost casual about odd sniper rounds.

Expect Nothing Unusual

On this night, cruising gingerly along the darkened streets, Keech and Blunt expected nothing unusual by their standards.

Like cops everywhere, they discussed their jobs— how the rest of the GIs feel about the MPs.

After the Tet offensive, when the MPs fought outstandingly in Saigon and other cities, the average GI sharply upgraded his opinion of the MP.

The MPs took sharp casualties, and they have been continuing. Early this month six MPs were wounded and one killed in a nasty ambush inside the city, and there have been other fights. A grenade missed Keech's Jeep by only 10 fet.

"We still get some guys who think we are just out to harass them, but there aren't many of them now," Blunt said. "We still get our share of drunks despite the curfew. They just seem to do more drinking in less time."

One MP concern has dropped sharply—the handful of deserters who used to get a girl and hide out in Saigon. When the Viet Cong offensive started the deserters sought protection.

"One just walked up to me on the street, when I was off duty, and surrendered." said the somewhat bemused Keech. "I don't think they find it too comfortable living in the back streets nowadays."

There's no limit to how far you can go on Renault's new warranty for 1968 models.

Renault will cover you for 12 months and as many miles as your speedometer reads.

As is the case for all makes of cars, you're responsible for having your Renault serviced according to the schedule in our Warranty Book. (We even make the first 1000 mile inspection free.)

And naturally, the warranty doesn't cover parts or components subject to normal wear and tear.

Other car warranties put a limit on how many miles you can go.

Top Economy Matter On Debate Agenda

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Soon after the House Ways and Means Committee decides whether the nation will have a tax increase it will begin hearings on an issue as controversial and important.

This is the debate over free trade versus protectionism, a matter as critical to the course of the American economy as the tax battle, and capable of producing as many sharp divisions, antagonisms and costly stalemates.

Both issues are similar in their enormous long-range effects and in the fact that in both debates the attitudes are polarized and stubbornly defended. In the tax matter the basic issue is whether the country will be served best by a tax increase or a cut in spending or both. The intention is to halt inflation and to help correct the American balance of payments deficit, which is worsened by inflated prices.

In the coming battle on trade, the issue is whether the American economy will benefit most by protecting American goods from foreign competition, which risks retaliation, or by maintaining a lberal, free trade position.

The administration is committed to antiprotectionism, as expressed this week by C. R. Smith, the new secretary of commerce.

Speaking at a World Trade Day luncheon, Smith stated: "The United States is not an island in the sea of world trade. Our economic welfare is inseparable from that of our own trading partners, as their own is intimately tied to ours."

The administration sees the issue as a choice between freedom to trade, with resulting prosperity, or "the dismal road to trade barriers," which antiprotection advocates claim leads to recessions.

The pressure from protectionists has been building for several years, but it surfaced with power and publicity within the past year. Steel, textiles, dairy products, oil, foods, electronic components are among the industries which have indicated support for restrictive quotas or tariffs.

Stewart Cort, president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., recently expressed the fears of the steel industry, which has undertaken a strong, well planned lobbying and publicity campaign against imports.

"As things now stand," he said, "expectations are for little or no growth in shipments by domestic steel companies because of a continuing rapid increase in imports."

The steel industry's campaign, which is led primarily by the American Iron & Steel Institute, seeks broad support. Recognizing that protectionists have been termed selfish, its publicity is aimed at proving imports are a threat to national security.

As expressed by Cort and other steelmen, the security of the United States already is endangered. If it must share the domestic market with foreign nations, the steelmen say, how can the industry grow large enough to meet emergencies in time of war?

"... if the general limited war on which the Office of Emergency Planning has based its estimates occurred tomorrow," said Cort, "the domestic steel industry would find it hard to supply all military and civilian requirements."

Again, as in the tax argument, the balance of payments is a critical issue in the debate. Protectionists claim that the shrinking American trade balance must get mmediate assistance from import restrictions.

While Washington prepares for the battle, scheduled to begin June 4, action at the state level already is taking place. Efforts are being made in several states to write restrictions into contracts against imported steel.

Lobbying efforts are especially strong in steel producing areas, such as Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, but new or stronger restrictions are being considered in other states as well.

More Money, Authority Asked for Feeding Poor

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman says Congress must come up with more money and grant added authority if his department is to expand programs for feeding poor Americans.

"Right now we are stretched to the very limit of our budget, our available manpower and our legal authority to carry on these programs," he told the House Education and Labor Committee.

His remarks were prepared for a hearing today.

Some committee members said Tuesday they intended to question Freeman sharply about improving the school-lunch program.

The committee is considering a resolution calling for a presidential commission to study malnutrition and report by Jan. 1.

Before about 35 persons from the Poor People's Campaign attending Tuesday's hearing, Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., contended immediate action—not further study—was needed.

"These people sitting in this room don't want to wait," he said. "They're here in Washington now because they want action now.

"We can't tell them there'll be more studies. We've had enough studies."

Freeman endorsed the resolution for a study.

And on the eve of the testimony, the Agriculture Department issued a warning to 53 counties in eight states it will step in unless they participate in federal food programs for the poor. A spokesman sad the department "is determined to get the hungry fed by the end of the year."

"If we are to close the nutrition gap," Freeman told the committee, "we must continue to knock down the walls of public indifference, to gain widespread public recognition of the full range of needs and priorities of the poor.

"We must obtain more funds and additional legislation to meet the needs and priorities which cannot presently be met.

"We have requested additional funds, and are seeking new authority to reach out to those people who cannot be reached today," he said.

Etiquette for Young People

Going Steady--Pros and Cons

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(This is the eleventh of a series of 12 articles excerpted from "The Emily Post Book of Etiquette for Young People," by Elizabeth L. Post, published by Funk & Wagnalls).

From an etiquette point of view, there is no objection to going steady, but it does limit your experience in learning how to get along with a number and a variety of people. Very often a freer relationship which allows you to see other people and be independent survives far better than the closeness of going steady.

Reactions were mixed in answer to a questionnaire I sent out on the subject of going steady. In general, boys approved of it more than girls, but that might be because they have less difficulty than girls in breaking up and getting back into circulation. A number of girls said they didn't approve of it but went steady anyway—because "everyone does it" and they were afraid they wouldn't have any dates if they didn't. Finally, about 90 percent of those who did approve qualified their answers. Because I'm sure you'll be interested to know what other teen-agers think about the whole subject, I'm listing some of the statements they made:

FOR GOING STEADY — UNQUALIFIED

Affords security.
A beautiful relationship — enriches life.
You can feel at ease.
Sex problems can be talked out.
You never have to worry about dates.
You get to know a boy better.
A good way to prove feelings for each other.
Everybody my age (sixteen) does.
Usually you can trust the boy more.

AGAINST GOING STEADY

It ties you down.
It's too serious.
Just a way of being "in."
More fun to play the field.
Plenty of time for that later.
Can be monotonous.
Leads to immorality.
It's unsure and immature.
A "steady" takes advantage of you.
You get too involved.
You get out of circulation.
You can't develop socially and emotionally.

THOSE WHO SAID "YES, IF . . ."

You've dated enough to be sure.
You are mature enough.
You're not too serious.
It's not too binding.
You're sincere — not doing it just to have dates.
Sexual relations don't occur.
You don't mind being tied down.
Neither is too possessive.

OTHERS SAID "YES, BUT . . ."

It's too restricting — can be a prison.
Can cause heartaches.
It's silly just for security.
Only if the couple is serious enough.
If you want to have fun, don't do it!

BREAKING UP

This is very difficult; breaking up is almost never by mutual consent, and someone is usually hurt. It may happen without an explosion, but sometimes it is necessary for the girl or the boy to pick a fight in order to bring things to a head. He may gradually stop calling so often, and then she may hear he's been asking questions about that new girl in his class. What does the girl do? She has two choices. She can call him and ask him to come over and talk it out, and accept the results of that talk. Or she can call on every bit of pride she has and show him she doesn't care by getting back into circulation herself — first. She takes off his ring or any outward sign of the relationship, but she doesn't return it immediately, she can wait until she's able to face him without falling apart.

If the shoe's on the other foot, and the girl decides it's time to break up, she must stick to her guns. Always make the break face to face. Notes or phone calls are the easy, cheap way to avoid looking someone in the eye. Girls have told me that it has taken them months to end a relationship they're really sick of only because, after a few dateless weekends, they've given in and resumed going steady.

After a breakup, you'll perhaps go through a spell of pure, unadulterated hatred. That's perfectly natural, but do your best not to let it show, and get over it as soon as possible. After all, the guy must be pretty nice if you spent all that time and effort on him, and also he may have friends you'd like to know better. An ex-steady can be one of the best friends in the world if you both face the fact that the romance is over.

GOING "STEADILY"

When you have an understanding with a boy that you like him best, that he has first call on your attentions, and that you will both go out with other people when you're not together, you're going "steadily." This is a new interpretaion of going steady, and in my opinion a sensible one. It avoids all the pitfalls — the too-constant togetherness, the restrictions on your friendships, the overemphasis on being "serious" — and it allows you to meet and know other boys and to stay in circulation. At the same time, you still have the security of an "understanding" and a reasonable assurance of dates with someone you care about.

STEADY EXPENSES

Since most boys in their teens have limited funds, steady girl friends should share the expenses some of the time. The boy pays for all tickets to events to which he asks her, and of course, he pays when he invites her out to lunch or dinner. But it it's just a stop at a soda fountain, or an afternoon when someone suggests, for instance, that the gang all go to the circus, Sally will help out a great deal if she pays her own way. She can also help by asking the boy to meals at her house, and by getting tickets and inviting him to a show or a game once in a while.

LOVE IN PUBLIC

The subject is so openly discussed and pictured in movies, in books, or on radio and TV today that much of the reticence about making a public spectacle of affection has disappeared.

Simple hand holding on the street, or in the movies, isn't objectionable. But a city street is no place for walking with arms twined around each other. Real kisses — not just good-night pecks — should be reserved for when you're alone.

Sprawling over your date on the beach or in the park, ardent kissing on the dance floor, and making out in movies or theaters are taboo because these things are, believe me, offensive to the people around you. When you're in public, especially with adults around, to make everyone feel comfortable keep it cool!

Helpful Hints

Cleaning Stainless

Brownish stains on stainless steel indicate that too high heat has been used; mild scouring powder will remove it.

Brighten Aluminum

Two teaspoons of cream of tartar to a quart of water will brighten aluminum.

Washing Pewter

Wash and dry pewter by hand. Pewter left standing in water will tarnish. Use a silver or pewter polish on it. Never warm pewter serving dishes in the oven or leave them standing on top of a range. Pewter is soft metal with no heat resistance.

Artichokes

Halve artichokes, trim off tips of leaves and remove choke for quicker cooking. Serve one-half to each person.

Frozen Juices

Transfer frozen orange juice to refrigerator the night before it is needed. In the morning it'll be easier to mix.

Twirlybirds to March In Local Parade

LOVE IN PUBLIC

The subject is so openly discussed and pictured in movies, in books, or on radio and TV today that much of the reticence about making a public spectacle of affection has disappeared.

Simple hand holding on the street, or in the movies, isn't objectionable. But a city street is no place for walking with arms twined around each other. Real kisses — not just good-night pecks — should be reserved for when you're alone.

Sprawling over your date on the beach or in the park, ardent kissing on the dance floor, and making out in movies or theaters are taboo because these things are, believe me, offensive to the people around you. When you're in public, especially with adults around, to make everyone feel comfortable keep it cool!

Helpful Hints

Cleaning Stainless

Brownish stains on stainless steel indicate that too high heat has been used; mild scouring powder will remove it.

Brighten Aluminum

Two teaspoons of cream of tartar to a quart of water will brighten aluminum.

Washing Pewter

Wash and dry pewter by hand. Pewter left standing in water will tarnish. Use a silver or pewter polish on it. Never warm pewter serving dishes in the oven or leave them standing on top of a range. Pewter is soft metal with no heat resistance.

Artichokes

Halve artichokes, trim off tips of leaves and remove choke for quicker cooking. Serve one-half to each person.

Frozen Juices

Transfer frozen orange juice to refrigerator the night before it is needed. In the morning it'll be easier to mix.

Rondout, New Paltz, Highland Pick Up UCAL Victories

By MIKE HELFNER
(Freeman Sports Staff)

The UCAL baseball standings went through a minor shakeup yesterday as league-leading Marlboro was upset by next-to-last place Rondout Valley, 4-2.

Marlboro, who was riding the crest of a full game lead, had that margin cut in half as the Dukes dropped their third contest in 10 outings.

New Paltz moved into a tie for second place with Onteora (who was playing a non-league game), by knocking off Pine Bush's bid, 3-1, and Highland, still in the running, blanked Wallkill, 6-0.

New Paltz and Onteora both hold 6-3 records while Highland is foutrh at 5-4. Pine Bush still is in fifth at 4-6, but the gap is narrowing as Rondout upped its charting to 3-6 while the loss put Wallkill firmly in the cellar at 2-8.

Marlboro took the early lead with a pair of unearned runs in the second. It started when Rich Passante was safe on an error. Frank Salzano then worked RV hurler, Tommy Williams for a walk, and on an attempted sacrifice, there was a wild throw, allowing the first run to score. A single by John Mandia sent Salzano home with the second tally.

Fifth Inning Explosion

Rondout trailed by the 2-0 margin until the fourth when the Ganders came up with four runs. A pair of singles by Jay Spiegel and Bob Wallack, sandwiched around a passed ball scored the first.

Tom Frazier then was safe on a fielder's choice play, Gary Heinitz doubled him in for the second, Keith Gorham singled Heinitz home, then stole second and closed out the scoring, coming across the plate on Larry Baney's single.

Williams allowed only two hits, both singles, and two walks while striking out five. Bill Giametta was the starter and loser for Marlboro. He lasted five frames, whiffing seven and giving up five walks before leaving in favor of Dale Sutton.

New Paltz, right in the thick of the pennant race, had to come up with a pair of runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the win over the determined Bushmen.

The Huguenots tallied their first run in the opening stanza, but had the game knotted in the fourth when Pine Bush matched the solo run.

In the bottom of the sixth, winning pitcher Ray Zappone began the rally with a single. He moved to second on a passed ball, took third on Bob Lynch's single and scored on an infifield safety by Dom Zaccheo.

Lynch, who by this time had managed to get to third, scored on a balk by loser Mike Alexander to chalk up the insurance run.

Lynch Goes 3-for-3

Lynch was the big bat for the Huguenots, pounding out three singles in as many at bats. Zappone had the other two hits for NP as Alexander fanned four and walked five. Zappone struck out seven, walked four.

In the final game, Highland, trying to keep its pennant hopes alive, had little trouble in turning away the Blue Devils.

Highland hurler John Galioto was in control throughout, giving Wallkill just four singles and a pair of walks. He fanned four and his teammates played flawless ball in the field.

Bailey and Basehits: New Dodger Formula

Roundup
By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Bob Bailey filed his application for a permanent position and produced the best credentials in the world.

Bailey, the stocky third baseman of the Los Angeles Dodgers, became the leading candidate—at least temporarily—for the full-time job Tuesday night when he drove in five runs with two singles and a homer in a 9-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The five RBIs doubled Bailey's total for the entire season.

"I'm fighting for a job," he explained. "I'm giving 100 per cent and a little more under normal conditions. I'm trying to stay in the lineup. Hitting hasn't been coming for me or for anybody."

Despite the loss, their fifth in the last six games, the Cards maintained their one-game National League lead as San Francisco moved into a tie with runnerup Atlanta with a 6-4 victory. Elsewhere, Houston clubbed Cincinnati 8-2 ND moved out of the cellar as Pittsburgh fell in by virtue of a 4-3, 17-inning loss to New York, and Chicago edged Philadelphia 6-5.

Singer Is Happy

The Dodgers, who have scored fewer runs than any team in the National League, pounded out 14 hits, their biggest single-game total of the season, in flattening the Cards. Willie Davis and Len Gabrielson also collected three hits each and Tom Haller drove in two runs with a ninth-inning triple.

"I love those runs," said winning pitcher Bill Singer, who raised his record to 4-5 with a 10-strikeout, seven-hit performance. "We've been in a bad slump. Tonight is the turning point. Those 14 hits have perked us up."

Jim Ray Hart's ninth homer of the season, a three-run blast in the first inning, tied him with teammate Willie McCovey for the league home run lead and sparked the Giants. Jim Britton, who began the game with a 16-inning scoreless string, suffered his first loss after two wins. Deron Johnson homered for the Braves off Ray Sadecki, who gained his sixth victory with the help of two relief pitchers.

Dierker Fans 12

The Astros pounded out 17 hits, including three apiece by Rusty Staub, Lee Thomas and Hector Torres, in crushing the Reds and snapping Cincinnati's four-game winning streak. Larry Dierker struck out 12 and yielded seven hits in posting his fourth victory in 10 decisions. Milt Pappas, the first of six Red pitchers, absorbed his fourth loss.

Billy Williams, who set a major league record for an outfielder by appearing in his 695th game, celebrated by scoring Chicago's winning run on a passed ball in the ninth inning. The passed ball was charged to Cookie Rojas, pressed into duty as a catcher after both Mike Ryan and Clay Dalrymple had been lifted for pinch hitters. Rojas had hit a three-run homer in the top of the ninth to spark a four-run Philadelphia rally against winner Rich Nye.

Mets Win In 17th

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Hiller, inserted at second base in the 17th inning for defensive purposes, threw wildly past first on a grounder by Ken Boswell, allowing Tommie Agee to score from second and enabling the New York Mets to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3, giving the Mets their first extra inning win of the year.

Agee, who stroked a two-run homer in the second and then went hitless in five at bats including four strikeouts, opened the bottom of the 17th by bouncing a single up the middle and moved to second on a sacrifice by Jerry Buchek.

Elroy Face, the fifth Pirate pitcher, had two outs and a 3 and 2 count when Boswell got an infield single between first and second. Hiller reached the ball but threw wildly into the Met dugout as Agee scored ending the four-hour and 25-minute marathon.

Tom Seaver started for the Mets and scattered seven hits over 11 innings, retiring 17 of the last 18 Pirate batters he faced, but manager Gil Hodges removed him as a precautionary measure after the righthander had thrown 140 pitches.

The five Pirate hurlers struck out 17 Mets in the contest, during which a total of eight pitchers held the two clubs scoreless from the sixth until the last of the 17th.

An animal killed along a highway in Fulton County this year has been definitely identified as an eastern gray wolf, or better known as a timber wolf. If the identification is accurate, this would be the first authenticiated report of a wolf in this state since 1899, according to Conservation Department officials.

It is the opinion of Ralph B. Colson, chief of the Bureau of Game, that it may have escaped from a zoo or game farm, or while in transit through the state. He noted it was unlikely the wolf may have migrated from Canada, because they were killed or driven out of the areas north of the border many years ago.

In recent years, coyotes or brush wolves have been reported in the Adirondack and Catskill regions. However, these animals average only 30 to 35 pounds.

Anyone having information which may explain the origin of the timber wolf killed near Caroga Lake is asked to notify the Conservation Department in Albany.

Distance is no problem for the avid fisherman, it seems. Take, for example, the trip to Cannonsville reservoir, near Walton, 91 miles away, for Jim Becker, Fred Markle, Em Mayes an Sonny Barnes.

This is a newly opened New York City supply and produces plenty of pickerel.

Litterbug Situation At Ashokan Reservoir

A local sporting goods dealer has again requested us to speak out against the litterbug situation at Ashokan reservoir weir.

Recently, bottles, beer cans and even unopened lunches cluttered the shore line. Reservoir employes have placed 50-gallon trash cans atop the bank and signs at the entrance asked for a cleanup of rubbish.

In our opinion, most of the trouble lies with local fishermen. It's about time some reservoir permits were confiscated and an end put to this unwanton deposit of garbage. We'd hate to see good sportsmen denied use of these waters, but don't be surprised if the City of New York moves the restricted lines far below and above the weir.

How about throwing all your trash in your landing net and dropping it in the litter cans next time? (An excellent tip from a good sportsman and a reader of this column).

The Move for Better Stocking Programs

Some interesting facts disclosed by William J. Meyer, past president of the Federated Sportsmen's Club of Ulster County and the monthly meeting of Trout Unlimited:

Efforts to obtain better stocking programs and of stream improvement by the federation were discussed.

Meyer urged closer cooperation between the two groups. Much more can be attained by continuing effort, he said. He noted that perhaps this year at many clubs the stocking of fish will have priority over game stocking. Others, he added, are expected to allocate funds for stream improvements.

Meyer suggested a concerted effort be made for a better stocking program and a wide distribution of fish. He also invited T-U to have representatives at the September meeting of the federation to present their aims and objectives. From where we sat it looked like the beginning of much closer ties between the two sportsmen's groups.

Incidentally, yours truly was voted honorary membership in Trout Unlimited. Thanks, fellas, for the honor. We hope this lowly worm dunker can merit the award.

Pitchers Holiday

Sounds Like Hockey In That Junior Loop

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The sport was baseball but the scores sounded more like hockey Tuesday nignt in the American League.

Pitchers have dominated things to such an extent this season that there are only five batters hitting over .300 in the league right now—but rarely has the situation been demonstrated better than in the six Tuesday night games.

A grand total of 19 runs were scored in the six games and both the winning and losing pitchers went the route in four of them.

The scores were 1-0, 2-0, 2-1, 2-1, 3-1 and 5-1.

The pitching was best illustrated in the doubleheader at Oakland as the Cleveland Indians sent two of their four aces, Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant, against the A's. McDowell won the opener 1-0 in 11 innings on Jose Cardenal's homer, besting the A's Chuck Dobson. Both McDowell and Dobson had four-hitters over the 11-inning route.

McDowell's shutout was the 12th this season for the Indians, who've won 21 games.

But in the second game, Tiant, who pitched four straight shutouts earlier this season, showed it almost takes a shutout to win these days. He suffered a 2-0 defeat at the hands of John (Blue Moon) Odom as Odom and Tiant both had seven hitters. One of the two runs off Tiant was unearned.

The pitchers were in control in the other four games, too. New York edged Washington 2-1, Chicago nipped Baltimore 2-1 in 12 innings, Minnesota edged Detroit 3-1 and California topped Boston 5-1.

McDowell struck out 12 and walked only three while boosting his record to 5-2 as the Indians won the first game from the A's in 11 innings. Dobson, who was tagged for Cardenals homer leading off the 11th, is now 2-4.

Odom gave up three singles to Cardenal in the second game but stopped the rest of the team on four singles while evening his record at 3-3. Tiant, who's only 5-4 this season even though he has four shutouts, gave up a run in the fourth inning on singles by John Donaldson, Danny Cater and Jim Gosegr and that was enough to beat him. It was Gosger's first RBI of the year. The second Oakland run in the eighth was let in by Max Alvis' throwing error.

Tiant was seeking a record fifth straight shutout last Friday night when Boog Powell tagged him for a three-run homer in the sixth inning to snap his scoreless inning streak 41 1-3 and enable the Orioles to beat him.

Jim Fregosi's two-run homer in the sixth snapped a 1-1 tie and carried California past Boston. Fregosi also singled in the winning run in the 11th inning to beat Boston. Jim McGlothlin pitched a seven-hitter to raise his record to 3-2 while Dick Ellsworth went the first seven and suffered the loss. He's 4-3.

Kosco HR Does It

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Andy Kosco homered leading off the ninth inning Tuesday night to give the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Kosco's blast into the Yankee bullpen at the 390-foot mark broke up a 1-1 pitching battle between Mel Stottlemyre and the Senators' Joe Coleman. It was Kosco's sixth homer of the season.

Stottlemyre gave up five hits and collected three hits himself and scored the first Yankee run.

Coleman struck out nine and gave up seven hits while suffering his third loss against two wins. Stottlemyre is 5-3.

Washington scored its run in the third when Horace Clarke booted Ed Stroud's grounder and Frank Howard and Mike Epstein followed with singles. It was Howard's only hit in the contest and was his fourth consecutive game without a homer after hitting 10 in the previous six games.

Rondout, New Paltz, Highland Pick Up UCAL Victories

By MIKE HELFNER
(Freeman Sports Staff)

The UCAL baseball standings went through a minor shakeup yesterday as league-leading Marlboro was upset by next-to-last place Rondout Valley, 4-2.

Marlboro, who was riding the crest of a full game lead, had that margin cut in half as the Dukes dropped their third contest in 10 outings.

New Paltz moved into a tie for second place with Onteora (who was playing a non-league game), by knocking off Pine Bush's bid, 3-1, and Highland, still in the running, blanked Wallkill, 6-0.

New Paltz and Onteora both hold 6-3 records while Highland is foutrh at 5-4. Pine Bush still is in fifth at 4-6, but the gap is narrowing as Rondout upped its charting to 3-6 while the loss put Wallkill firmly in the cellar at 2-8.

Marlboro took the early lead with a pair of unearned runs in the second. It started when Rich Passante was safe on an error. Frank Salzano then worked RV hurler, Tommy Williams for a walk, and on an attempted sacrifice, there was a wild throw, allowing the first run to score. A single by John Mandia sent Salzano home with the second tally.

Fifth Inning Explosion

Rondout trailed by the 2-0 margin until the fourth when the Ganders came up with four runs. A pair of singles by Jay Spiegel and Bob Wallack, sandwiched around a passed ball scored the first.

Tom Frazier then was safe on a fielder's choice play, Gary Heinitz doubled him in for the second, Keith Gorham singled Heinitz home, then stole second and closed out the scoring, coming across the plate on Larry Baney's single.

Williams allowed only two hits, both singles, and two walks while striking out five. Bill Giametta was the starter and loser for Marlboro. He lasted five frames, whiffing seven and giving up five walks before leaving in favor of Dale Sutton.

New Paltz, right in the thick of the pennant race, had to come up with a pair of runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the win over the determined Bushmen.

The Huguenots tallied their first run in the opening stanza, but had the game knotted in the fourth when Pine Bush matched the solo run.

In the bottom of the sixth, winning pitcher Ray Zappone began the rally with a single. He moved to second on a passed ball, took third on Bob Lynch's single and scored on an infifield safety by Dom Zaccheo.

Lynch, who by this time had managed to get to third, scored on a balk by loser Mike Alexander to chalk up the insurance run.

Lynch Goes 3-for-3

Lynch was the big bat for the Huguenots, pounding out three singles in as many at bats. Zappone had the other two hits for NP as Alexander fanned four and walked five. Zappone struck out seven, walked four.

In the final game, Highland, trying to keep its pennant hopes alive, had little trouble in turning away the Blue Devils.

Highland hurler John Galioto was in control throughout, giving Wallkill just four singles and a pair of walks. He fanned four and his teammates played flawless ball in the field.

Bailey and Basehits: New Dodger Formula

Roundup
By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Bob Bailey filed his application for a permanent position and produced the best credentials in the world.

Bailey, the stocky third baseman of the Los Angeles Dodgers, became the leading candidate—at least temporarily—for the full-time job Tuesday night when he drove in five runs with two singles and a homer in a 9-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The five RBIs doubled Bailey's total for the entire season.

"I'm fighting for a job," he explained. "I'm giving 100 per cent and a little more under normal conditions. I'm trying to stay in the lineup. Hitting hasn't been coming for me or for anybody."

Despite the loss, their fifth in the last six games, the Cards maintained their one-game National League lead as San Francisco moved into a tie with runnerup Atlanta with a 6-4 victory. Elsewhere, Houston clubbed Cincinnati 8-2 ND moved out of the cellar as Pittsburgh fell in by virtue of a 4-3, 17-inning loss to New York, and Chicago edged Philadelphia 6-5.

Singer Is Happy

The Dodgers, who have scored fewer runs than any team in the National League, pounded out 14 hits, their biggest single-game total of the season, in flattening the Cards. Willie Davis and Len Gabrielson also collected three hits each and Tom Haller drove in two runs with a ninth-inning triple.

"I love those runs," said winning pitcher Bill Singer, who raised his record to 4-5 with a 10-strikeout, seven-hit performance. "We've been in a bad slump. Tonight is the turning point. Those 14 hits have perked us up."

Jim Ray Hart's ninth homer of the season, a three-run blast in the first inning, tied him with teammate Willie McCovey for the league home run lead and sparked the Giants. Jim Britton, who began the game with a 16-inning scoreless string, suffered his first loss after two wins. Deron Johnson homered for the Braves off Ray Sadecki, who gained his sixth victory with the help of two relief pitchers.

Dierker Fans 12

The Astros pounded out 17 hits, including three apiece by Rusty Staub, Lee Thomas and Hector Torres, in crushing the Reds and snapping Cincinnati's four-game winning streak. Larry Dierker struck out 12 and yielded seven hits in posting his fourth victory in 10 decisions. Milt Pappas, the first of six Red pitchers, absorbed his fourth loss.

Billy Williams, who set a major league record for an outfielder by appearing in his 695th game, celebrated by scoring Chicago's winning run on a passed ball in the ninth inning. The passed ball was charged to Cookie Rojas, pressed into duty as a catcher after both Mike Ryan and Clay Dalrymple had been lifted for pinch hitters. Rojas had hit a three-run homer in the top of the ninth to spark a four-run Philadelphia rally against winner Rich Nye.

Mets Win In 17th

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Hiller, inserted at second base in the 17th inning for defensive purposes, threw wildly past first on a grounder by Ken Boswell, allowing Tommie Agee to score from second and enabling the New York Mets to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3, giving the Mets their first extra inning win of the year.

Agee, who stroked a two-run homer in the second and then went hitless in five at bats including four strikeouts, opened the bottom of the 17th by bouncing a single up the middle and moved to second on a sacrifice by Jerry Buchek.

Elroy Face, the fifth Pirate pitcher, had two outs and a 3 and 2 count when Boswell got an infield single between first and second. Hiller reached the ball but threw wildly into the Met dugout as Agee scored ending the four-hour and 25-minute marathon.

Tom Seaver started for the Mets and scattered seven hits over 11 innings, retiring 17 of the last 18 Pirate batters he faced, but manager Gil Hodges removed him as a precautionary measure after the righthander had thrown 140 pitches.

The five Pirate hurlers struck out 17 Mets in the contest, during which a total of eight pitchers held the two clubs scoreless from the sixth until the last of the 17th.

An animal killed along a highway in Fulton County this year has been definitely identified as an eastern gray wolf, or better known as a timber wolf. If the identification is accurate, this would be the first authenticiated report of a wolf in this state since 1899, according to Conservation Department officials.

It is the opinion of Ralph B. Colson, chief of the Bureau of Game, that it may have escaped from a zoo or game farm, or while in transit through the state. He noted it was unlikely the wolf may have migrated from Canada, because they were killed or driven out of the areas north of the border many years ago.

In recent years, coyotes or brush wolves have been reported in the Adirondack and Catskill regions. However, these animals average only 30 to 35 pounds.

Anyone having information which may explain the origin of the timber wolf killed near Caroga Lake is asked to notify the Conservation Department in Albany.

Distance is no problem for the avid fisherman, it seems. Take, for example, the trip to Cannonsville reservoir, near Walton, 91 miles away, for Jim Becker, Fred Markle, Em Mayes an Sonny Barnes.

This is a newly opened New York City supply and produces plenty of pickerel.

Litterbug Situation At Ashokan Reservoir

A local sporting goods dealer has again requested us to speak out against the litterbug situation at Ashokan reservoir weir.

Recently, bottles, beer cans and even unopened lunches cluttered the shore line. Reservoir employes have placed 50-gallon trash cans atop the bank and signs at the entrance asked for a cleanup of rubbish.

In our opinion, most of the trouble lies with local fishermen. It's about time some reservoir permits were confiscated and an end put to this unwanton deposit of garbage. We'd hate to see good sportsmen denied use of these waters, but don't be surprised if the City of New York moves the restricted lines far below and above the weir.

How about throwing all your trash in your landing net and dropping it in the litter cans next time? (An excellent tip from a good sportsman and a reader of this column).

The Move for Better Stocking Programs

Some interesting facts disclosed by William J. Meyer, past president of the Federated Sportsmen's Club of Ulster County and the monthly meeting of Trout Unlimited:

Efforts to obtain better stocking programs and of stream improvement by the federation were discussed.

Meyer urged closer cooperation between the two groups. Much more can be attained by continuing effort, he said. He noted that perhaps this year at many clubs the stocking of fish will have priority over game stocking. Others, he added, are expected to allocate funds for stream improvements.

Meyer suggested a concerted effort be made for a better stocking program and a wide distribution of fish. He also invited T-U to have representatives at the September meeting of the federation to present their aims and objectives. From where we sat it looked like the beginning of much closer ties between the two sportsmen's groups.

Incidentally, yours truly was voted honorary membership in Trout Unlimited. Thanks, fellas, for the honor. We hope this lowly worm dunker can merit the award.

Pitchers Holiday

Sounds Like Hockey In That Junior Loop

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The sport was baseball but the scores sounded more like hockey Tuesday nignt in the American League.

Pitchers have dominated things to such an extent this season that there are only five batters hitting over .300 in the league right now—but rarely has the situation been demonstrated better than in the six Tuesday night games.

A grand total of 19 runs were scored in the six games and both the winning and losing pitchers went the route in four of them.

The scores were 1-0, 2-0, 2-1, 2-1, 3-1 and 5-1.

The pitching was best illustrated in the doubleheader at Oakland as the Cleveland Indians sent two of their four aces, Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant, against the A's. McDowell won the opener 1-0 in 11 innings on Jose Cardenal's homer, besting the A's Chuck Dobson. Both McDowell and Dobson had four-hitters over the 11-inning route.

McDowell's shutout was the 12th this season for the Indians, who've won 21 games.

But in the second game, Tiant, who pitched four straight shutouts earlier this season, showed it almost takes a shutout to win these days. He suffered a 2-0 defeat at the hands of John (Blue Moon) Odom as Odom and Tiant both had seven hitters. One of the two runs off Tiant was unearned.

The pitchers were in control in the other four games, too. New York edged Washington 2-1, Chicago nipped Baltimore 2-1 in 12 innings, Minnesota edged Detroit 3-1 and California topped Boston 5-1.

McDowell struck out 12 and walked only three while boosting his record to 5-2 as the Indians won the first game from the A's in 11 innings. Dobson, who was tagged for Cardenals homer leading off the 11th, is now 2-4.

Odom gave up three singles to Cardenal in the second game but stopped the rest of the team on four singles while evening his record at 3-3. Tiant, who's only 5-4 this season even though he has four shutouts, gave up a run in the fourth inning on singles by John Donaldson, Danny Cater and Jim Gosegr and that was enough to beat him. It was Gosger's first RBI of the year. The second Oakland run in the eighth was let in by Max Alvis' throwing error.

Tiant was seeking a record fifth straight shutout last Friday night when Boog Powell tagged him for a three-run homer in the sixth inning to snap his scoreless inning streak 41 1-3 and enable the Orioles to beat him.

Jim Fregosi's two-run homer in the sixth snapped a 1-1 tie and carried California past Boston. Fregosi also singled in the winning run in the 11th inning to beat Boston. Jim McGlothlin pitched a seven-hitter to raise his record to 3-2 while Dick Ellsworth went the first seven and suffered the loss. He's 4-3.

Kosco HR Does It

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Andy Kosco homered leading off the ninth inning Tuesday night to give the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Kosco's blast into the Yankee bullpen at the 390-foot mark broke up a 1-1 pitching battle between Mel Stottlemyre and the Senators' Joe Coleman. It was Kosco's sixth homer of the season.

Stottlemyre gave up five hits and collected three hits himself and scored the first Yankee run.

Coleman struck out nine and gave up seven hits while suffering his third loss against two wins. Stottlemyre is 5-3.

Washington scored its run in the third when Horace Clarke booted Ed Stroud's grounder and Frank Howard and Mike Epstein followed with singles. It was Howard's only hit in the contest and was his fourth consecutive game without a homer after hitting 10 in the previous six games.

19th Straight Victory

Maroon Golfers Win DUSO League Title

Kingston High's undefeated golf squad crushed Middletown High, 10½ to 1½, to capture the 1968 DUSO League golf title.

The lopsided victory at The Twaalfskill Club was embellished by a double eagle 2 by Ed Byman on the par-5 seventh hole.

Byman eagled the uphill hole with a driver and 4-iron en route to a one-over-par 36-35-71.

All four of Coach Floyd McCormick's Maroons broke 80 for a 302 team aggregate.

The victory was the 19th straight for the Kingston team which placed all of its four members into the New York State championships in the hectic Section 9 meet Monday at Spring Valley.

The record books are hazy on the subject of successive Kingston High DUSO golf championships but appears to be at least four and possibly five.

Joe Bostic won two points with a 38-39-77, while Werner Kolln (40-38) and Arnie Shienvold (38-38) picked up 3-0 wins.

Byman surrendered a half point to Mike Stoltz of the Middies in the No. 1 match. Each had a one-over-par 36. Stoltz added 38 to pace the losers with 74. Byman's eagle came on the second round in which he matched par figures.

Ortleibs Spared That Long Trip

An alert, baseball-minded baby sitter saved Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ortleib of Morgan Hill a long trip to Shea Stadium for naught Tuesday afternoon.

The Ortleib's had two tickets for the Mets-Pirates game at Shea. Late in the day, they picked up their baby sitter and told her they were going to the ball game in New York.

"What game are you going to see?," asked the baby sitter.

"The Mets and Pirates," the Ortleibs answered in unison.

"I think they played this afternoon," replied the baby sitter. "It went 17 innings and the Mets won."

"Ohh . . . . . "

P.S.—Mrs. Ortleib, who is employed in The Freeman dispatch department, obviously doesn't read our sports pages.

In Ellenville Softball

Schrade Captures Opener

Charlie Holmes' sacrifice fly with the bases loaded enabled Schrade-Walden to edge Silver Grill 4-3 in Ellenville Softball League opener Tuesday night.

The long fly broke up a pitching duel between Bob Lasher, who allowed six hits and fanned 15 and John Heckmann, Jr., who lost it on five hits and 10 strikeouts.

Lasher helped his own cause with a solo homer in the fifth after Charlie Page hit one for Schrade's in the fourth.

Hohmann doubled and scored on two errors to tie the score at 3-3 at the end of six. In the Schrade seventh, Lasher fanned but the pitch got past the catcher. Whitey Zovistoski and Vern Darmstadter beat out successive bunts to load the bases, setting the stage for Holmes' fly.

Squeeze bunts accounted for Silver Grill tallies in the third and fourth innings. John Heckman Sr. singled in the third, advanced on an error and rode home on a squeeze.

In the fourth, Warne doubled, stole third and raced across on Heckman Jr.'s perfect squeeze bunt. Heckman Sr. doubled in the fifth and eventually came around on errors.

Ferraro in Rhubarb

Mike Ferraro played a big part in last night's 14th inning, 6-5, Syracuse Chiefs International League win.

Ferraro, although going 0-5, walked in the 14th, and stood on second when the bases were full and no outs.

Merritt Ranew, Chiefs' catcher, hit a high chopper to shortstop and Mike, running from second to third, ran into the shortstop trying to field the ball.

The shortstop, Bob Floyd, claimed Mike interfered with him. The umpires, right on top of the situation, ruled against Floyd and the losing Rochester Red Wings, and allowed the run to score, since Floyd had no chance at getting the runner heading home.

Ferraro is now 12-34 including two homers, and has a batting average of .353.

Bain Reins First Mighty M Winner

MONTICELLO—Bill Bain, a 55-year-old reinsman from New Egypt, N. J., registered his first win at Monticello Raceway last night by reining Phoenix Hanover to a three-length win in the featured $1,100 trot.

Bain, in his first season at the Mighty M, and winless in three starts so far, brought Phoenix Hanover from behind to win from front-running Luther, which wound up fifth.

The rest of the field was tightly bunched, with Mr. Gordon second by a nose over Armbro Extra and Speedy G, a pair that finished in a dead heat for third.

Phoenix Hanover, a six-year-old Brown gelding by Hoot Mon and Phyllis Mite, out of Volomite, left from the three hole and was third at the quarter behind Luther and Mr. Gordon. The time at the quarter was :32.3.

By the end of the first half mile, Phoenix Hanover had gained second from Mr. Gordon, but was outside and challinging Luther around the clubhouse turn the second time around.

Going down the backstretch, Bain had Phoenix Hanover racing neck and neck with Luther, and by the three-quarter pole, had overtaken the spent Luther. They hit the quarter mark in 1:37 2.

Coming through the turn, Phoenix Hanover had opened a length and a half lead, and widened it to three with a strong finish. The time for the mile was 2:09.1, a new yearly mark.

Phoenix Hanover returned a nifty $18.60, 7.20 and 3.60. Mr. Gordon paid off $4.20 and 2.80. Armbro Extra was $2.80 and Speedy G $3.00 in the show pool dead heat.

In the daily double Hakoah Duke the number six horse in the first race combined with new time, the three in the second half to form a $23.60 double.

KHS Ahead But Gets Rained Out

Kingston High's baseball team, trying to pick up a badly needed win after three straight defeats, held a 2-1 lead and was threatening in the fourth when a hard downfall of rain ended the game with no decision for either team.

The Maroons at that time looked as if they woud break out of their lengthy batting slump (five hits in the last three games) and at the same time, bust Poughkeepsie's 14-game win string.

The Maroons return to DUSO League action Thursday against Newburgh. The site is Deitz Stadium.

In a make up of a rain out from Monday, Fallsburgh upset Monticello in the DUSO Village League, 6-5, to throw that race back into a tie for first and a tie for third.

19th Straight Victory

Maroon Golfers Win DUSO League Title

Kingston High's undefeated golf squad crushed Middletown High, 10½ to 1½, to capture the 1968 DUSO League golf title.

The lopsided victory at The Twaalfskill Club was embellished by a double-eagle 2 by Ed Byman on the par-5 seventh hole.

Byman eagled the uphill hole with a driver and 4-iron en route to a one-over-par 36-35-71.

All four of Coach Floyd McCormick's Maroons broke 80 for a 302 team aggregate.

The victory was the 19th straight for the Kingston team which placed all of its four members into the New York State championships in the hectic Section 9 meet Monday at Spring Valley.

The record books are hazy on the subject of successive Kingston High DUSO golf championships but appears to be at least four and possibly five.

Joe Bostic won two points with a 38-39-77, while Werner Kolln (40-38) and Arnie Shienvold (38-38) picked up 3-0 wins.

Byman surrendered a half point to Mike Stoltz of the Middies in the No. 1 match. Each had a one-over-par 36. Stoltz added 38 to pace the losers with 74. Byman's eagle came on the second round in which he matched par figures.

Ortleibs Spared That Long Trip

An alert, baseball-minded baby sitter saved Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ortleib of Morgan Hill a long trip to Shea Stadium for naught Tuesday afternoon.

The Ortleib's had two tickets for the Mets-Pirates game at Shea. Late in the day, they picked up their baby sitter and told her they were going to the ball game in New York.

"What game are you going to see?," asked the baby sitter.

"The Mets and Pirates," the Ortleibs answered in unison.

"I think they played this afternoon," replied the baby sitter. "It went 17 innings and the Mets won."

"Ohh . . . . . ."

P.S.—Mrs. Ortleib, who is employed in The Freeman dispatch department, obviously doesn't read our sports pages.

Schrade Captures Opener

Charlie Hohaes' sacrifice fly with the bases loaded enabled Schrade-Walden to edge Silver Grill 4-3 in Ellenville Softball League opener Tuesday night.

The long fly broke up a pitching duel between Bob Lasher, who allowed six hits and fanned 15 and John Heckmann, Jr., who lost it on five hits and 10 strikeouts.

Lasher helped his own cause with a solo homer in the fifth after Charlie Page hit one for Schrade s in the fourth.

Hohmann doubled and scored on two errors to tie the score at 3-3 at the end of six. In the Schrade seventh, Lasher fanned but the pitch got past the catcher. Whitey Zovistoski and Vern Darmstadter beat out successive bunts to load the bases, setting the stage for Holmes' fly.

Squeeze bunts accounted for Silver Grill tallies in the third and fourth innings. John Heckman Sr. singled in the third, advanced on an error and rode home on a squeeze.

In the fourth, Warne doubled, stole third and raced across on Heckman Jr.'s perfect squeeze bunt. Heckman Sr. doubled in the fifth and eventually came around on errors.

Ferraro in Rhubarb

Mike Ferraro played a big part in last night's 14th inning, 6-5, Syracuse Chiefs International League win.

Ferraro, although going 0-5, walked in the 14th, and stood on second when the bases were full and no outs.

Merritt Ranew, Chiefs' catcher, hit a high chopper to shortstop and Mike, running from second to third, ran into the shortstop trying to field the ball.

The shortstop, Bob Floyd, claimed Mike interfered with him. The umpires, right on top of the situation, ruled against Floyd and the losing Rochester Red Wings, and allowed the run to score, since Floyd had no chance at getting the runner heading home.

Ferraro is now 12-34 including two homers, and has a batting average of .353.

Bain Reins First Mighty M Winner

MONTICELLO—Bill Bain, a 55-year-old reinsman from New Egypt, N. J., registered his first win at Monticello Raceway last night by reining Phoenix Hanover to a three-length win in the featured $1,100 trot.

Bain, in his first season at the Mighty M, and winless in three starts so far, brought Phoenix Hanover from behind to win from front-running Luther, which wound up fifth.

The rest of the field was tightly bunched, with Mr. Gordon second by a nose over Armbro Extra and Speedy G, a pair that finished in a dead heat for third.

Phoenix Hanover, a six-year-old Brown gelding by Hoot Mon and Phyllis Mite, out of Volomite, left from the three hole and was third at the quarter behind Luther and Mr. Gordon. The time at the quarter was :32.3.

By the end of the first half mile, Phoenix Hanover had gained second from Mr. Gordon, but was outside and challinging Luther around the clubhouse turn the second time around.

Going down the backstretch, Bain had Phoenix Hanover racing neck and neck with Luther, and by the three-quarter pole, had overtaken the spent Luther. They hit the quarter mark in 1:37.2.

Coming through the turn, Phoenix Hanover had opened a length and a half lead, and widened it to three with a strong finish. The time for the mile was 2:09.1, a new yearly mark.

Phoenix Hanover returned a nifty $18.60, 7.20 and 3.60. Mr. Gordon paid off $4.20 and 2.80. Armbro Extra was $2.80 and Speedy G $3.00 in the show pool dead heat.

In the daily double Hakoah Duke the number six horse in the first race combined with new time, the three in the second half to form a $23.60 double.

KHS Ahead But Gets Rained Out

Kingston High's baseball team, trying to pick up a badly needed win after three straight defeats, held a 2-1 lead and was threatening in the fourth when a hard downfall of rain ended the game with no decision for either team.

The Maroons at that time looked as if they woud break out of their lengthy batting slump (five hits in the last three games) and at the same time, bust Poughkeepsie's 14-game win string.

The Maroons return to DUSO League action Thursday against Newburgh. The site is Deitz Stadium.

In a make up of a rain out from Monday, Fallsburgh upset Monticello in the DUSO Village League, 6-5, to throw that race back into a tie for first and a tie for third.

Roberts Announces Retirement, July 1

A. W. (Pete) ROBERTS

Retirement has been a long time coming for "Pete" Roberts, 35 years to be exact.

Roberts, who's real name is Alfred W., but who has been known to atheltes, school administrators, etc., for 35 years as Pete, yesterday announced his retirement as Athletic Director of Ellenville High school, a post he held for 30 years.

He has geen associated with scholastic athletics for 35 years, serving as coach for 25 while athletic director all 35.

The 61-year-old Roberts spent three years as athletic director and coach at Narrowsburg, then two more years at Port Jervis before moving to Ellenville at age 31.

Down through the years he has coached football, basketball, baseball, soccer and track. He coached the latter four sports at Ellenville until his retirement from the sidelines in 1955.

While guiding the Blue Devils his team won seven straight soccer titles from 1947-55, six consecutive baseball crowns (1946-55) and had some outstanding basketball and track teams despite the lack of official league titles.

For 12 years, Roberts served as executive secretary of the DUSO and DUSO Village Leagues and was deeply involved in formation of the village circuit because of the great imbalance in size among DUSO schools.

Other posts include secretary-treasurer of the Hudson Valley Football Officials Association (13 years), the Section Nine Officials' Committee and currently heads Section Nine Baseball Committee. His favorite project, although unsuccessful, was serving as chairman of the Section Nine Realignment Committee.

He has pioneered the sport of football at Ellenville, along with golf, tennis, swimming, wrestling, cross-country and skiing.

A new item that came about under his tutelage is the DUSO league for skiing, the first area to organize the winter sport.

Active in junior high sports, he helped foster the big boom in that area and has been active in physical fitness for Boy Scouts.

Roberts plans to play all the golf he can, and it looks like he'll get plenty of opportunity in his winter home located in Ft. Myers, Fla. He also has a summer home in Belgrade Lake, Maine, and expects to spend the spring months in this area — coming north from Florida.

Many years ago, Roberts disclosed, offers came asking him to be a pro baseball scout. At that time, he had few hours to himself to pursue this. "I'm open to a scouts offer now that I have plenty of time. I'll also be watching the Pirates who train in Ft. Myers," he said.

Roberts' retirement becomes effective July 1. No date has been specified when a successor will be named.

H. M. S. Pinafore Receives Standing Ovation at OCS

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

In return for presenting one of the most polished, bright, witty and infectious productions of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, H.M.S. Pinafore last night in the Onteora Central School in Boiceville, 108 students received a standing ovation from five curtain calls from a capacity house. It was a great opening night for the director, Earl Proper, the principals, chorus and orchestra.

Cudos must be accorded first and foremost to the man behind the students, Earl Proper, director of vocal music at Onteora. It was his energy, imagination and dedication which produced the show. His direction and coaching left its recognizable stamp of quality on one of the finest productions ever presented on the stage of the Onteora School.

Pinafore, an acid travesty on English naval affairs and officialdom, stars lovely and talented Virginia Carle as Josephine, daughter of a ship's captain. Portraying her father is Jon Fox, who makes a very convincing officer. Fox has a definite flair for acting and a fine vocal quality.

Other talented principals include a gifted actress and singer Christina Kleine at Buttercup; Jennifer Elliot as Cousin Hebe; Jeffery Vredenburg as Ralph Rackstraw; Donald Park as the convincing Deadeye; Russely Holt, the boatswain's mate, and James Marcato as a carpenter's mate.

The great scene stealer in this production is Steven Bryant who portrays Sir Joseph Porter, the "Monarch of the Sea." His fluid comic relief style was exceptionally good and very entertaining.

The choral work was well coordinated, clear and possessed a completeness of expression in keeping with the mood of the operetta.

The orchestra, which had been trained by its director Fritz Wolff, capably provided the necessary tonal scenery.

Donald Jennings, director of art of OCS is reponsible for the faithful reproduction of a ship's deck and the delightful and colorful costuming is the end result of supervision by Elaine Fineran.

Repeat Performances

The two act operetta will be repeated tonight and Thursday with curtains at 8 p. m. Tickets will be available at the door.

I recommend this operetta highly. Anyone who is the slightest bit interested in music and in seeing the constructive work being accomplished these days by our youngsters, should see this presentation.

Gary School Boycott Called Off by Negroes

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Negro leaders in Gary have called off a seven-day school boycott in the face of a court injunction and a planned march on City Hall by whites.

Jesse S. Morris, 35, who directed the demonstration against alleged school segregation, said, "we squeezed as much out as we could. What we got is considered good. We've alerted parents to the issue, and it's up to the parents and adults to apply the screws to school officials in the future to see that what has begun is continued."

The boycott, which began May 13 and kept as many as 20,000 pupils out of Gary's 44 public schools, was called off Tuesday after Judge A. J. Stodola of Lake County Superior Court issued at the request of school officials an injunction prohibiting continuation of the boycott.

Three white groups representing about 1,000 persons announced a march to City Hall today to ask Mayor Richard G. Hatcher why he permitted the boycott to last so long.

"We object to children being used as pawns, as a solution to any grievance, by teaching them civil disobedience," said a joint statement by the groups.

Hatcher, first Negro mayor of this steel center of 182,800 population, more than 50 per cent Negro, agreed to meet with the white groups but termed their move "an act of provocation."

Hatcher said he had no authority to end the boycott but that he has been pressured to arrest idle pupils for truancy. "How can you put 20,000 parents or children in jail?" the mayor asked.

The list of absentees dropped gradually with about 8,000 reported Tuesday. The average daily total is 2,500, officials said.

Negroes also sought immediate removal of acting School Supt. Clarence E. Swingley, scheduled to retire June 30.

Morris said it was Swingley's "unwillingness to communicate that led up to the boycott." About a dozen Negroes stormed the Gary School Service Center Friday and held it until a meeting with school officials was arranged.

Two Hurt in Highland

Two persons were slightly injured at 4:50 p. m. Tuesday when their cars collided on Route 9W and 44-55 in the Town of Lloyd. Ronald Steinman, 27, of 48 Worrall Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was driving south on Route 9W and Carla Smith, 20, of Old Indian Road, Milton, was traveling north when the cars collided, according to State Police Sergeant D. B. Clarke, who said the Smith car was making a left turn to enter Route 44-55 when the crash occurred. Steinman complained of pains on his left side, and the other driver received contusions of the right knee, auhtorities said.

Vets Finding Jobs

CHICAGO (AP) — Returning servicemen are finding jobs faster these days.

Commerce Clearing House said last year they found them faster than in any previous year since 1958 when the present veterans jobless pay program began.

Their longest period of unemployment during 1967 averaged about 5.5 weeks. This compares with about 5.9 weeks the year before. In 1965 it was 7.1 weeks and 7.9 weeks in 1964.

More than 300,000 veterans were helped in finding work by the country's 2,000 public employment offices since last August when the administration intensified its effort to give returning vets full employment aid.

There are 37 refugees from Frelimo, three from Udenamo, 20 from the Pan African Congress, 30 from the African National Congress and three from the African Resistance Movement.

Ballot Lineup: Paul, Eugene, Joe

By LYNN MULVANEY

The name of Paul O'Dwyer, former New York City councilman, will appear at the top of the Democratic ballot for the U. S. Senate nomination in the state's June 18 Primary.

The 28th Congressional District's own Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick drew last place when ballot positions were determined by lot yesterday in Albany.

Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson's name will appear in the middle.

Political pros have long contended that the first spot was advantageous to the candidate in that voters, often confused by the myriad of names on the ballot, take the easy way out and vote the man on the top ine.

Bid Denied

A move to have Nickerson's name at the head of the ballot was made by his lawyer-wife Marie-Louise who appeared in person at the secretary of state's office. But the bid was denied by John Ghezi, deputy secretary of state.

Meanwhile in New York City, WABC-Radio cancelled a scheduled debate between the three candidates because of a disagreement over ground rules. The program was scheduled for broadcast Sunday at 10:30 p. m.

According to WABCs news director Ed Hardy, "Resnicks people told him the congressman did not want to discuss Vietnam and claimed that Nickerson agreed on a similar moratorium some time ago. The Nassaus County executives "people denied this.

In the Liberal Party primary for the senatorial designation, Murray Baron's name will be listed first followed by that of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, the Republican candidate. Javits was endorsed by the Liberal Party and Baron is contesting.

In the contest for the Republican Congressional nomination in the 28th District, G. Gordon Liddy got the first line over Hamilton Fish Jr.

Delegates Fare Better

Resnick fared better in the drawing for the Democratic presidential delegates position. The slate headed by Resnick and pledged to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will head the ballot followed by the slate pledged to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. McCarthy delegates drew last place.

Resnick's slate includes Thomas Quinn of Columbia and Roy Guerino of Dutchess County and himself.

Democratic delegates committed to Robert F. Kennedy are Roger Mabie of Esopus, George Whalen of Dutchess County and Hillary Master of Columbia.

Those committed to McCarthy include Mrs. Tobie Geertsema of Woodstock, Marshall Effron of Poughkeepsie and George H. Skau of Hyde Park.

New York will send 190 delegates, the largest contingent, to the Democratic convention in August. Of these, three will be elected by the state committee. The remaining two will be the national committeeman and committee woman.

Hair Is Chief Topic In Crimmins' Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The color and length of Alice Crimmins' hair in July, 1965, when her two children were found slain, was a chief topic of discussion Tuesday at her trial on a first-degree murder charge.

Mrs. Crimmins, 28, would face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment if convicted in the strangling of her 4-year-old daughter, Alice Marie "Missy" Crimmins.

To try to discredit a key prosecution witness, the defense concentrated Tuesday on the length and color of the mother's hair at the time the children disappeared the night of July 13-14, 1965.

The prosecution witness, Mrs. Sophie Earomirski, testified Monday that she saw Mrs. Crimmins at about 2 a.m. that July 14 carrying a bundle and leading her son, Edmund Jr., 5, to a car, accompanied by an unidentified man.

The state alleges the bundle was the body of Missy, found five blocks from her home in a vacant lot that same day. The decomposed body of the defendant's son was found five days later. The cause of his death never was determined and the death is not charged to Mrs. Crimmins.

Mrs. Earomirski testified she saw Mrs. Crimmins on the morning in question wearing a kerchief over what she described as shoulder-length, "dark" hair. The witness said she was peering from a window of her home as she observed the actions 50 feet away from her.

Tuesday, defense witnesses variously described Mrs. Crimmins hair at the time as "strawberry blonde," shorter than now, in a "bouffant bubble," and, by one witness—a man who said he saw her on the street walking her dog at about 2:30 a.m. July 14—as up in curlers.

Several witnesses commented about what they said was a lack of good lighting at the time outside the apartment project where Mrs. Crimmins lived in Kew Gardens Hills, Queens.

The attractive former cocktail waitress has worn dark red, almost chestnut-colored, hair in combination with a fall or long hairpiece, all during her trial, now in its 11th day.

Two photographs of Mrs. Crimmins taken by a news photographer on July 16, 1965, were offered into evidence Tuesday. In both pictures, her hair was shorter than it is now.

Another news photo showed an exterior shot of the casement window in the Crimmins children's bedroom. The defense alleges they were kidnaped out the window by one or more intruders, and slain.

"Does this picture show a lamp in the window?" defense counsel Martin Baron asked the news photographer, Thomas A. Gallagher. But State Supreme Court Justice Peter T. Farrell ordered the jurors to see for themselves. The picture, which Gallagher said he took about 10 a.m. July 14, 1965, plainly showed no lamp.

Detective Gerard Piering had testified that there was a lamp on a dresser directly in front of the window when he examined the room at 11 a.m. that day. He said the spot under the lamp was clean of dust, indicating it had not been moved.

The state has said Mrs. Crimmins killed her daughter rather than chance surrendering her in a custody fight to her then estranged, but now reconciled, husband, Edmund, 32, an airline mechanic.

PLAN LIONS DINNER — Jack Baker, ticket chairman, John Thornton, Rondout Valley Lions Club president and Milton Makowsky, general chairman discuss plans for the annual chicken dinner to be held Saturday at the Marbletown Elementary School, Stone Ridge. Serving will start 5 p. m. The club sponsors the annual dinner to raise funds for its many projects in the community. Tickets may be obtained from any club member or at the door.

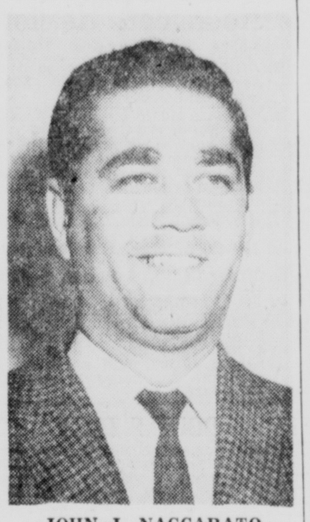
Name Naccarato Fish Coordinator

Hamilton Fish Jr. today named John J. Naccarato as Ulster County coordinator of his campaign organization.

Fish, the designated Republican candidate for Congress in the 28th District, said that he he is pleased to have a man of Naccarato's political knowledge as his Ulster County coordinator.

Naccarato, in accepting the appointment, cited Fish's stand on our nation's economy and his advocacy of local control, whenever possible, as major reasons for supporting his candidacy.

Naccarato, active in community and civic events, is past-president of the P-TA and the Central Businessmen's Association. The former Third Ward Alderman was chairman of the Urban Renewal committee, a member of the finance and traffic control committees. Due to re-districting, he is now an alderman in the 8th Ward.



JOHN J. NACCARATO

A member of the Knights of Columbus and American Legion, Naccarato resides with his wife and five childern in Kingston.

More Fruit

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Planting fruit trees in hedgerows promise to increase fruit production, a horticulturist says. Dean McCarty, University of California Agricultural Extension Service horticulturist at Riverside, says:

"Per-acre production is dependent up to a point upon the volume of fruit-producing foliage grown on each acre. Generally, the majority of fruit is borne in the outer periphery of the tree." McCarty says that although production per tree usually decreases with hedgerows, the total yield per acre should increase.

Is It Wise
TO BUY A HOUSE
At Today's Prices?

By 1971
It May Cost You
20% More

Is it smart to buy a home now? The man who pays $56 a month for his house, bought 20 years ago, is ahead of the game. His income is greater, his home almost paid for, its value zoomed but his payments the same.

You can beat the game, too. Today's mortgage can look as good 10-20 years from now as his does today.

Builders say material and labor rising costs add $1,000 each year to a $20,000 house. They forsee a $24,000 price on a $20,000 house in 4 years.

WAITING FOR INTEREST RATES TO COME DOWN?

Hikes in interest rates may bother you as much as house prices. But do you know how much higher interest rates cost? ½% rise adds 30c a month per $1,000 on a 25-year loan. That's $6 a month on $20,000.

You don't like to pay even this much more. Yet rates may go higher. Experts predict they will. Cover yourself against higher rates by buying now.

Tight money? It's always available for good mortgages. New homes can be bought for little down and long term loans. Not-so-new homes offer mortgages with less than prevailing interest rates.

Good buys can be found easily. There's a great selection listed in The Kingston Daily Freeman classified section by competent Realtors. They are the best buys in your preferred area. You can be advised on values, taxes, financing, schools and other matters. Check the listing — look them up. You find that now is the time to buy a home.

Ballot Lineup: Paul, Eugene, Joe

By LYNN MULVANEY

The name of Paul O'Dwyer, former New York City councilman, will appear at the top of the Democratic ballot for the U. S. Senate nomination in the state's June 18 Primary.

The 28th Congressional District's own Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick drew last place when ballot positions were determined by lot yesterday in Albany.

Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson's name will appear in the middle.

Political pros have long contended that the first spot was advantageous to the candidate in that voters, often confused by the myriad of names on the ballot, take the easy way out and vote the man on the top ine.

Bid Denied

A move to have Nickerson's name at the head of the ballot was made by his lawyer-wife Marie-Louise who appeared in person at the secretary of state's office. But the bid was denied by John Ghezi, deputy secretary of state.

Meanwhile in New York City, WABC-Radio cancelled a scheduled debate between the three candidates because of a disagreement over ground rules. The program was scheduled for broadcast Sunday at 10:30 p. m.

According to WABCs news director Ed Hardy, "Resnicks people told him the congressman did not want to discuss Vietnam and claimed that Nickerson agreed on a similar moratorium some time ago. The Nassaus County executives "people denied this.

In the Liberal Party primary for the senatorial designation, Murray Baron's name will be listed first followed by that of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, the Republican candidate. Javits was endorsed by the Liberal Party and Baron is contesting.

In the contest for the Republican Congressional nomination in the 28th District, G. Gordon Liddy got the first line over Hamilton Fish Jr.

Delegates Fare Better

Resnick fared better in the drawing for the Democratic presidential delegates position. The slate headed by Resnick and pledged to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will head the ballot followed by the slate pledged to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. McCarthy delegates drew last place.

Resnick's slate includes Thomas Quinn of Columbia and Roy Guerino of Dutchess County and himself.

Democratic delegates committed to Robert F. Kennedy are Roger Mabie of Esopus, George Whalen of Dutchess County and Hillary Master of Columbia.

Those committed to McCarthy include Mrs. Tobie Geertsema of Woodstock, Marshall Effron of Poughkeepsie and George H. Skau of Hyde Park.

New York will send 190 delegates, the largest contingent, to the Democratic convention in August. Of these, three will be elected by the state committee. The remaining two will be the national committeeman and committee woman.

Hair Is Chief Topic In Crimmins' Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The color and length of Alice Crimmins' hair in July, 1965, when her two children were found slain, was a chief topic of discussion Tuesday at her trial on a first-degree murder charge.

Mrs. Crimmins, 28, would face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment if convicted in the strangling of her 4-year-old daughter, Alice Marie "Missy" Crimmins.

To try to discredit a key prosecution witness, the defense concentrated Tuesday on the length and color of the mother's hair at the time the children disappeared the night of July 13-14, 1965.

The prosecution witness, Mrs. Sophie Earomirski, testified Monday that she saw Mrs. Crimmins at about 2 a.m. that July 14 carrying a bundle and leading her son, Edmund Jr., 5, to a car, accompanied by an unidentified man.

The state alleges the bundle was the body of Missy, found five blocks from her home in a vacant lot that same day. The decomposed body of the defendant's son was found five days later. The cause of his death never was determined and the death is not charged to Mrs. Crimmins.

Mrs. Earomirski testified she saw Mrs. Crimmins on the morning in question wearing a kerchief over what she described as shoulder-length, "dark" hair. The witness said she was peering from a window of her home as she observed the actions 50 feet away from her.

Tuesday, defense witnesses variously described Mrs. Crimmins hair at the time as "strawberry blonde," shorter than now, in a "bouffant bubble," and, by one witness—a man who said he saw her on the street walking her dog at about 2:30 a.m. July 14—as up in curlers.

Several witnesses commented about what they said was a lack of good lighting at the time outside the apartment project where Mrs. Crimmins lived in Kew Gardens Hills, Queens.

The attractive former cocktail waitress has worn dark red, almost chestnut-colored, hair in combination with a fall or long hairpiece, all during her trial, now in its 11th day.

Two photographs of Mrs. Crimmins taken by a news photographer on July 16, 1965, were offered into evidence Tuesday. In both pictures, her hair was shorter than it is now.

Another news photo showed an exterior shot of the casement window in the Crimmins children's bedroom. The defense alleges they were kidnaped out the window by one or more intruders, and slain.

"Does this picture show a lamp in the window?" defense counsel Martin Baron asked the news photographer, Thomas A. Gallagher. But State Supreme Court Justice Peter T. Farrell ordered the jurors to see for themselves. The picture, which Gallagher said he took about 10 a.m. July 14, 1965, plainly showed no lamp.

Detective Gerard Piering had testified that there was a lamp on a dresser directly in front of the window when he examined the room at 11 a.m. that day. He said the spot under the lamp was clean of dust, indicating it had not been moved.

The state has said Mrs. Crimmins killed her daughter rather than chance surrendering her in a custody fight to her then estranged, but now reconciled, husband, Edmund, 32, an airline mechanic.

Name Naccarato Fish Coordinator

Hamilton Fish Jr. today named John J. Naccarato as Ulster County coordinator of his campaign organization.

Fish, the designated Republican candidate for Congress in the 28th District, said that he he is pleased to have a man of Naccarato's political knowledge as his Ulster County coordinator.

Naccarato, in accepting the appointment, cited Fish's stand on our nation's economy and his advocacy of local control, whenever possible, as major reasons for supporting his candidacy.

Naccarato, active in community and civic events, is past-president of the P-TA and the Central Businessmen's Association. The former Third Ward Alderman was chairman of the Urban Renewal committee, a member of the finance and traffic control committees. Due to re-districting, he is now an alderman in the 8th Ward.

JOHN J. NACCARATO

A member of the Knights of Columbus and American Legion, Naccarato resides with his wife and five childern in Kingston.

More Fruit

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Planting fruit trees in hedgerows promise to increase fruit production, a horticuiturist says. Dean McCarty, University of California Agricultural Extension Service horticulturist at Riverside, says:

"Per-acre production is dependent up to a point upon the volume of fruit-producing foliage grown on each acre. Generally, the majority of fruit is borne in the outer periphery of the tree." McCarty says that although production per tree usually decreases with hedgerows, the total yield per acre should increase.

Is It Wise
TO BUY A HOUSE
At Today's Prices?

By 1971
It May Cost You
20% More

Is it smart to buy a home now? The man who pays $56 a month for his house, bought 20 years ago, is ahead of the game. His income is greater, his home almost paid for, its value zoomed but his payments the same.

You can beat the game, too. Today's mortgage can look as good 10-20 years from now as his does today.

Builders say material and labor rising costs add $1,000 each year to a $20,000 house. They forsee a $24,000 price on a $20,000 house in 4 years.

WAITING FOR INTEREST RATES TO COME DOWN?

Hikes in interest rates may bother you as much as house prices. But do you know how much higher interest rates cost? ½% rise adds 30c a month per $1,000 on a 25-year loan. That's $6 a month on $20,000.

You don't like to pay even this much more. Yet rates may go higher. Experts predict they will. Cover yourself against higher rates by buying now.

Tight money? It's always available for good mortgages. New homes can be bought for little down and long term loans. Not-so-new homes offer mortgages with less than prevailing interest rates.

Good buys can be found easily. There's a great selection listed in The Kingston Daily Freeman classified section by competent Realtors. They are the best buys in your preferred area. You can be advised on values, taxes, financing, schools and other matters. Check the listing — look them up. You find that now is the time to buy a home.

Why your Realtor's® Multiple Listing Service helps you buy a better house, faster.

Will you have three months to house-hunt next time you move? If you do, you'll be lucky. And unusual. When you're through, think about the family that has to find a house in just two weeks flat. Can you imagine what they go through?

They can eliminate a lot of strain if they go to a Realtor who participates in a Multiple Listing Service. They and their Realtor can weed out nine-tenths of the unsuitable houses in the first half hour. Then they concentrate on the houses that best meet their needs. And chances are they can find what they want much faster.

Under Multiple Listing, many Realtors pool their resources to give prospective buyers the widest possible choice to select from. So when you're buying a house, look for this seal, which only a Realtor—a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics as a member of the local and state boards and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards—is licensed to display.

Why your Realtor's® Multiple Listing Service helps you buy a better house, faster.

Will you have three months to house-hunt next time you move? If you do, you'll be lucky. And unusual. When you're through, think about the family that has to find a house in just two weeks flat. Can you imagine what they go through?

They can eliminate a lot of strain if they go to a Realtor who participates in a Multiple Listing Service. They and their Realtor can weed out nine-tenths of the unsuitable houses in the first half hour. Then they concentrate on the houses that best meet their needs. And chances are they can find what they want much faster.

Under Multiple Listing, many Realtors pool their resources to give prospective buyers the widest possible choice to select from. So when you're buying a house, look for this seal, which only a Realtor—a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics as a member of the local and state boards and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards—is licensed to display.

Dear Abby

'Summer Romance' a Cinch

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1968 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee. Last summer I met a man on a plane. He's my age (late forties) is extremely charming and attractive and he's very successful in his work.

We hit it off immediately and had several dates while I was in his city. We keep in touch with each other through letters and telephone. He admits to having a "deep feeling" for me, but says he has had two unsuccessful attempts at marriage and he's made up his mind not to get that involved again. He says he has "conditioned" himself against marriage. Can this be?

He is busy with his work and I am busy with mine, and I also have teen-aged children. I think this guy is worth pursuing, and I realize if this is going to develop into anything more serious and lasting we will have to see more of each other.

I could go to his city again this summer, and I'd like to, but I don't want to be obvious. How should I go about it?

A SUMMER ROMANCE

DEAR ROMANCE: Sorry, but I can't give you a blueprint for going about something I think would be a mistake. If you're looking for marriage, you won't find it with this charming, attractive twice divorced man who, by his own admission, has "conditioned" himself against it. But if you want another "summer romance," he sounds like a cinch.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I are worried about our 7-year-old sister. She keeps wanting to be someone's animal. One day she might want to be someone's horse, and the next day she might want to be someone's dog, or cat. I suppose this doesn't seem much like a problem, but she never wants to be the "master" — she always wants to be the animal. Is something wrong with her?

HER "MASTERS"

DEAR MASTERS: This could be the subject of an interesting psychological study. One who prefers to be "mastered" appears to want desperately to please. This is usually the way the younger child ingratiates himself to his older siblings and playmates. It's normal in childhood, but could warp the personality if carried beyond the adolescent years.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: As a mailman, I would like to reply to the woman who wondered where her brother-in-law, the postman, got all the magazines and "free samples?"

Many of these "occupant" samples have outdated addresses. Since they are sent third class mail, they are unreturnable and undeliverable, so they are supposed to be destroyed. Instead of doing this, we mailmen are allowed to take them home. Nothing unethical about that, is there?

Re the magazines with the addresses cut off: If a magazine is not deliverable, the address is cut off, and sent back to the publisher, and the magazine is either destroyed or the postman is allowed to take it home.

All mailmen are not honest, but I am, so you may sign this, "The cleanest shaven, best-smelling, best-read, most happy-go-lucky mailman in Upper Michigan."

THAT'S ME

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL to Musician's Wife: Don't judge all single women by the kind who proposition your husband. Musicians are constantly "on stage" and therefore are pursued by aggressive women. But the musician who doesn't want to be bothered need only to ignore the overtures, and the dames out front will soon get the pitch.

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOKLET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1968

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Older person could help you fulfill some desires. New approach appears necessary. Accent originality, independence. Strive for clarity of expression. Be diplomatic with friends.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Follow through on hunch. Intuition is honed to razor-sharpness. Applies especially where career, ambitions are concerned. Get in to see the boss. Cut through red tape. Push ahead.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Grass may appear beautiful, green afar. But wise course is to remember resolutions concerning savings, bank account. Don't overextend yourself. Fine for practical vacation planning.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you are watchful where partnership funds enter picture, all is well. Not wise to take anything for granted. Do some personal investigating. Dig deep for information. Go to source.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Wise to lie low. Let others make first offer, suggestion. Evaluate what you hear, see and read. Utilize your innate ability to achieve balance. Avoid extremes. Heed words of mate, partner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Obtain hint from LIBRA message. Your role today may be subordinate but is temporary. Shore up reserves. Cement relations with neighbors, fellow workers. Break routine. Dine out.

SIGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Tonight much of what was confusion becomes clarified. A child's words may prove significant. Avoid self-deception. See persons, situations in realistic light. The truth can set you free.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be responsible for property, possessions. Work out details which could lead to profitable transaction. Duty at home should be completed before any pleasure activity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Hold off on short journeys which tend to deplete your energy. If visit is necessary, let others come to you. Take care with what you put in writing. Later, home atmosphere improves.

PISCES (Feb. 18-March 20): Keep plans flexible. Don't commit yourself where expenditures are concerned. In making any purchase, check price, quality. You can obtain genuine bargain if not in too much of a hurry.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, attractive to opposite sex, possess much intellectual curiosity. Current cycle demands that you carefully examine any partnership proposals.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle is high for TAURUS. Special word to SCORPIO: include family member in pleasant outing designed to relieve tension.

Correct Bids Reach Slam

By Oswald and James Jacoby

In the Jacoby method, the immediate jump to three of a minor suit after an opening no-trump is merely a game invitation in no-trump. North has too good a hand for a mere game invitation and wants to suggest slam possibilities.

He does this by responding two clubs. As far as South knows this is an ordinary Stayman bid and South rebids two diamonds showing that he doesn't have four cards in either major suit.

Now North bids three diamonds, which is the slam signal. It says, "Partner, I am interested in a diamond slam." With a better hand, North might plan to go all the way to the slam. With this hand North does not want to push past game. He only has 12 high card points, not enough to warrant taking the bidding past three no-trump.

When South hears the three-diamond call he becomes interested in getting to a slam. He only has 16 points for his opening no-trump but they look golden for slam purposes. He has three aces and the king of diamonds and his jack of clubs is supported by the 10. South starts slam proceedings by bidding three hearts.

This doesn't excite North at all. He had suggested a slam when he bid two clubs and three diamonds. He does not want to go past three no-trump under his own steam.

South continues with four clubs and once more North signs off. This time with a four diamond call.

South gives one more slam invitation by bidding four spades. This costs nothing because North can still go to five diamonds or four no-trump, but by this time North is ready to act on his own and North jumps to the diamond slam.

There is no trouble in the play. South draws trumps, loses the club finesse and eventually discards North's third spade on his long club.

Not All in Land of Plenty

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS television showed the empty faces and wasted bodies of some of the 10-million Americans who, in this land of plenty, are hungry and some who are dying of malnutrition.

Harrowing Conditions

The program Tuesday night opened by showing the harrowing conditions under which some of San Antonio's 400,000 Mexican-Americans live. One-quarter of them, according to narrator Charles Kuralt, are hungry all the time. Many speak little or no English, have no employable skills and the result is that if they eat at all, it is a diet of beans and tortillas.

The diet is different but the hunger is the same among the poor tenant farmers of Loudoun County, Va., an area of hunt clubs and private estates. There diets are likely to consist mainly of potatoes.

Among the distressed Navajo Indians of Arizona and New Mexico, the staple is fried bread and coffee. There babies are often crippled and sometimes die from malnutrition. And conditions are just about as bad for families of cotton field hands of Alabama, mostly out of work now that machines have taken over jobs once held by men.

At the program's end, Kuralt said federal food programs are often kept out of states and counties where help is needed; that federal surplus commodities where available are not the right, health-giving foods; that the Department of Agriculture has not moved in to help feed hungry people.

Indictment of Spending

The program repeatedly showed infants and young children in shocking physical states from lack of food or from diets composed almost entirely of starches. Many of them were born undernourished and if they survived at all were stunted and suffered brain damage.

The program was, obliquely, an indictment of spending one and one-half billion dollars a year helping to feed the rest of the world while permitting one out of 20 Americans, many of them children, to go to bed hungry every night.

A young man, applying for his first job, asked quite a high salary.

Mr. Smith (the foreman)—You're asking big pay for a man without any experience.

Mr. Jones—Well, the work is much harder when you don't know anything about it.

Fifty years they had been married, and 50 years she made the living; then he died. The thrifty widow gave instructions that his body be cremated and the ashes delivered to her. Carefully placing them in an hourglass she sat it on the mantel, sat down to rock and said:

Mrs. Small—Now, you good for nothing bum, at last you're going to work.

Voice (shouted to the telephone operator)—Get me the police! And hurry!

When the connection was made and the police sergeant at the other end asked what the trouble was, the voice replied:

The sergeant asked for the address, said he would send someone right over, and then asked who was calling.

The bandit had tied and gagged the bank cashier. After they rifled the safe an were about to leave, the cashier made desperate noises through his gag. Moved by curiosity, one of the bandits loosened it.

"Please," whispered the cashier, "take the books too! I'm $6500 short."

A wife is a woman who sticks with a man through all the trouble he would not have had if he hadn't married her in the first place.

Near the end of the feature, the husband nudged his wife and whispered.

Mike—What do you think of it?

Kate—Terrible.

Mike—Check. Pinch the baby.

The Vietnam Talks Still Floundering

By STEWART HENSLEY

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman urged Hanoi today to give the people of South Vietnam the right to decide their future for themselves. He got nowhere and the talks once again floundered in total disagreement.

Demands Release

"Self-determination" has been one of the key points in North Vietnam's proposals for ending the Vietnam War. Harriman accepted the challenge today but asked if North Vietnam really meant the South Vietnamese could settle things "free from coercion and outside interference."

Harriman also demanded that Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, agree to stop releasing to newsmen the text of statements made in closed sessions. Instead Thuy's delegation immediately released his statement and the Americans followed by releasing excerpts from Harriman's statement.

There was no sign of a breakthrough at today's three-hour session, the fourth since the talks began.

Hard Stand Holds

Instead, Thuy launched another sharp attack against the United States and warned that Washington will "bear full responsibility" if the talks fail.

Harriman said the United States wants to talk about the "kinds of restraint" Hanoi might undertake in order to get a halt in bombing and said again the restoration of the Demilitarized Zone, along with observance of the 1962 agreements to respect the neutrality of Laos, might be the best way.

He described the Saigon regime as "a legitimate government chosen by an election in which almost five million voters took part. It has a solid representative and constitutional base."

Harriman and Thuy met for just under three hours today and the only agreement was to try again at 10:30 a.m. (5:30 a.m. EDT) Monday.

"In the event the official conversations do not lead to results the American side will have to carry the full and entire responsibility," Thuy said. He repeated all his previous demands the United States halt its attacks on the North.

As he returned to the U.S. Embassy afterwards Harriman told newsmen:

Plenty of Charges

"My impression is that the world is getting rather disgusted with these allegations that have no basis of truth whatever. Their arguments fall down because of their exaggeration, their allegations have no basis of truth whatsoever."

Thuy charged that in the first two weeks of this month the total number of bombing missions over North Vietnam amounted to almost 2,600, compared with 2,300 for the whole of April.

Thuy said the U.S. government is about to intensify the war in South Vietnam too and is preparing to step up activity in the next few days.

"This, then, is the goodwill and the restraint on the part of the Americans," he said.

He said that between Jan. 30 and May 11 "The People's Army of South Vietnam (the Viet Cong)" destroyed 253,000 enemy troops including 84,500 Americans and their "satellites," the same claim was broadcast Monday by Hanoi radio as a Viet Cong "communique."

"In North Vietnam one thing has become clear," he said. "The more the United States bombs our country the greater their losses."

Thuy recalled Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's latest declaration that the Soviet Union had in the past and will continue to give every aid to North Vietnam.

'Concrete Demands'

Thuy lister these "immediate and concrete demands":

The United States must immediately stop sending bombers and ships to bomb North Vietnam.

The United States must stop immediately all acts of war against North Vietnam, including reconnaissance flights, psychological warfare action, the dispatch of commands by air, sea or through Laos.

The United States must immediately stop shelling the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), discontinue violation of North Vietnamese territoral waters and "all military acts which violate the sovereignty and territory" of North Vietnam.

The United States must stop the bombing of North Vietnam "without posing any conditions."

Thuy said Hanoi rejects entirely "the fallacious argument on the part of the Americans designed to create confusion of public opinion and to evade a reply to our legitimate demands."

RETURNING FROM VIETNAM — Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer Jr. (top), is being brought home from Vietnam to become Army Vice Chief of Staff, it was reported today. Palmer, 55, at one time was said to be under consideration as a possible successor to Gen. William C. Westmoreland. If Palmer's appointment is confirmed, he will succeed Gen. Ralph E. Haines (bottom), 54. Palmer, a native of Austin, Tex., gained prominence in command of paratroopers during the brief U. S. occupation of the Dominican Republic in 1965. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Waves of Bombers

Slam Red Positions

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of American bombers made massive strikes Tuesday and today against enemy positions threatening Saigon, the Central Highlands and allied bases below the eastern end of the Demilitarized Zone.

U.S. fighter-bombers also roared off carriers in the Tonkin Gulf to smash at a sprawling early warning radar complex near the North Vietnamese city of Vinh amid reports that Hanoi was hurriedly beefing up its air defenses in the southern panhandle.

2 Planes, Pilots Lost

The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States two more planes and two more fliers Tuesday. A Marine A6 Intruder was shot down near Dong Hoi, 45 miles above the DMZ, and both crewmen are missing. A Navy A4 Skyhawk was downed north of Vinh, but the pilot was rescued by helicopter. This increased the total number of U.S. warplanes reported lost over North Vietnam to 840.

America's biggest bombers, the Air Force Strategic Command's B52s, mounted eight raids, four of them in the Central Highlands west of Dak To and Kontum. Seven North Vietnamese regiments, some of them reportedly equipped with tanks, were said to be poised there, possibly to attack U.S. bases in the highlands.

The aim of such an attack might be to seize control of a large area and use this as a bargaining point in the Paris talks between the United States and North Vietnam.

May Wait for Rains

The attack "could come now, but they will probably wait for the rains to begin, another week or so," one officer said.

Other B52s pounded enemy infiltration routes, bunkers and supply areas 21 and 34 miles northwest of Saigon.

A third wave of the B52s struck twice inside the Demilitarized Zone, hitting at North Vietnamese artillery positons, troop concentratons, truck parks and supply areas.

The positions inside the DMZ are an immediate threat to such allied bases as Gio Linh and Dong Ha, guarding the eastern end of the zone.

In a coordinated attack over North Vietnam, Navy F4 Phantoms, A6 Intruders and A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Kitty Hawk struck relentlessly Tuesday at the newly discovered radar complex 16 miles northwest of Vinh.

U.S. sources said the North Vietnamese are feverishly building up their air defenses around Vinh to counter the big increase in American attacks on the panhandle that followed President Johnson's restriction of the bombing of North Vietnam to the southern area. Vinh is 145 miles north of the DMZ zone and 25 miles below the 19th parallel the northern boundary set by Johnson for U.S. bombing.

Westy Continues Tour

Pilots reported their bombs caused heavy damage to the radar installation, touching off several fires.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland continued his farewell tour of allied units and on a visit to Bangkok said North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam is running at a record level-15,000 troops in April, or 2½ times the number before the enemy's February offensive.

Pivotal Election Today in Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Whether Bermuda's Negro majority would unite or split was the big question today as the holiday island elected its first autonomous government. Unity could mean the island will break with Britain.

Complete independence after 284 years as a British colony is a major plank of the predominantly Negro Progressive Labor party. But the predominantly white United Bermuda party which wants to remain British, is bidding for the Negro vote with 13 Negro candidates out of its total of 39.

A third party, the Bermuda Democratic party, is largely Negro but middle class in appeal. It could hold the balance of power if neither of the large parties wins a majority.

The vote of the Negro population—63 per cent of Bermuda's 50,000 residents—became more important under new one-man, one-vote rules. The voting age has been lowered from 25 to 21, and certain property owners no longer get two votes.

A month before the election, two days of racial rioting shook Hamilton, and as a precaution against further violence, the British frigate Leopard docked Tuesday with a crew of 14 officers and 215 men.

They and 150 Royal Inniskilling Fusilliers brought here after the riots stayed off the streets, however.

American tourists, who can fly the 670 miles from New York to Bermuda in less than two hours, seemed barely aware an election was taking place so noiseless was the campaigning.

But the Americans were a major issue because the 200,000 who come every year in pursuit of sun, relaxation and cheap liquor bring $30 million annually—the local economy's backbone.

Other Americans have invested heavily here and are acknowledged to back the UBP.

The new 40-member House of Assembly will control all government functions except defense, police, and foreign affairs. These are retained by the governor, Lord Martonmere, a British appointee.

F111A Planes Are Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has grounded 42 of its F111A fighter-bombers, including five on duty in Thailand, until a defective part is repaired.

But they all are expected to be airborne again sometime next month.

The plane, a product of $5.3 billion worth of research and development during the controversial six-year TFX program, has been plagued by troubles.

Three F111As were lost while flying Vietnam war combat missions out of their Thailand base.

Another one crashed May 8 near Nellis Air Force Base, Nev. Following that accident the Air Force restricted all flights of the swing-wing planes.

The Air Force said Tuesday the Nevada crash probably was caused by a defective valve in a system concerned with the horizontal stabilizer.

Twelve early models which did not contain the defective part have not been grounded.

Investigate Theft

Theft of a black leather bag containing knitting equipment from a car parked at Kingston Plaza was reported to Kingston police on Tuesday by E. B. Shumate of Lomontville. Detectives are investigating.

Canny Systems

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI)—A greater percentage of tomatoes can be saved for canning if modifications are made in present central sorting systems, according to a University of California agricultural engineer.

The engineer, Michael O'Brien, said 20 per cent of the tomatoes brought to a central sorting station already are damaged and central sorting can double that percentage.

"We tested three different methods for filling bins," O'Brien said. "When tomatoes were conveyed into bins under water, we damaged three per cent. Six per cent were damaged when we conveyed them into dry bins. We obviously need changes in central sorting systems."
